MAJOR GENERAL DOUGLAS MACARTHUR
President, American Olympic Committee

His Excellency,
The President of the United States,
Honorary President of the American Olympic Committee and to the American Olympic Association
Dear Mr. President:

Article X of the Constitution and By-Uaws of the American Olympic Association directs the submission of a report by the American Olympic Committee on the Olympic Games. In undertaking this difficult task, I recall the passage in Plutarch wherein Themostocles, being asked whether he would rather be Achilles or Homer, replied: "Which would you rather be, a conqueror in the Olympic Games or the crier who proclaims who are conquerors?" And indeed to portray adequately the vividness and brilliance of that great spectacle would be worthy even of the pen of Homer himself. No words of mine can even remotely portray such great moments as the resistless onrush of that matchless California Eighr as it swirled and crashed down the placid waters of the Slore; that indomitable will for victory which marked the deathless rush of Barbuti; that sparkling combination of speed and grace by Elizabeth Robinson which might have rivaled even Artemis herself on the heights of Olympus. I can but record the bare, blunt facts, trusting that imagination will supply the magic touch to that which can never be forgotten by those who were actually present.

The standards of success of previous American Olympic teams are very high. This team proved itself a worthy successor of its brilliant predecessors. The table herewith shows the totals of first, second and third places and point total, rating those places respectively as three, two and one. This gives the United States twenty-four Olympic championships, twenty-one second places and seventeen third places, or a total of one hundred and thirty one points. Any other system of scoring would accentuate America's margin of success.

In achieving these victories, America made seventeen new Olympic records, seven of which are world records. This represents, I believe, the greatest number of Olympic and world records ever achieved at one time in any set of games, either Olympic or otherwise, by any nation, either American or foreign, in the history of athletics. This fact evidences the most noteworthy feature of the games, namely, the great advance made in the last four years throughout the world in competitive athletic excellence. This general improvement is further testified by the more general distribution of triumphs among the various nations. That this tendency will increase even more rapidly in the future is apparent.

Of equal importance with the actual competitive success which was achieved, it is a matter of pride to report that the American team worthily represented the best traditions of American sportsmanship and chivalry. Imperturbable in defeat, modest in victory, its conduct typified fair play, courtesy and courage. In this most intense competition of highly trained teams, the Americans represented rivalry without bitterness, contest without antagonism and the will to win tempered and restrained by a spirit of mutual consideration and generosity. It was worthy in victory; it was supreme in defeat.

The organization of the games at Amsterdam by the Dutch Olympic Committee was excellent in every respect and could well stand as a model for the future. I cannot speak too highly of the splendid spirit of the Games. It would be hard to conceive a more admirable concourse of sport, one of the most noteworthy features being the happy impartiality of the spectators of all nations.

The American team was selected in the most democratic and unprejudiced way as a result of actual competition in nation-wide contests open to all amateur athletes. Any other method would have introduced privilege and favoritism with all the attendant ills that flow therefrom. The overhead of managers, coaches and officials was materially reduced from those of previous years and it is the established policy to continue this reduction in future Olympiads. The team was of necessity transported and housed aboard the United States Lines Steamship, President Roosevelt. This arrangement was a most happy one and the American team was the envy in this respect of many of their less fortunate competitors. The admirable management by the ship's officers and crew contributed in no small way to the splendid morale and esprit which was so noticeable throughout. In spite of the geographical hazard involved in the trip and in the severe climatic conditions, our team was at the height of its form and condition when the day of competition arrived.

Financially the trip was a great success. I am happy to say that after all accounts have been settled there is a surplus of nearly $80,000. The total cost of the enterprise was approximately $290,000, a considerable saving over preceding Olympiads. The main items of expenditure are approximately as follows:

Charter of ship and transportation	$210,000.00
Cost of uniforms and athletic equipment and apparatus	25,000.00
Expenses in Amsterdam	20,000.00
Expenses of Winter Games and Soccer	15,000.00
Expenses of tryouts	10,000.00
Overhead expenses	10,000.00
Total	$290,000.00

In my opinion the time has come to put the financing of the Olympic movement upon a more solid basis than now is the case. Increasing difficulties in raising funds have been encountered every four years for the last two decades. A plan should be worked out by means of which an endowment fund of approximately $2,000,000 should be gradually raised, the interest from which would be sufficient to care for all future Olympiads. This task should be begun at once and should be spread over a series of years in the form of small contributions from all the amateur athletic contests in the country.

Detailed reports from the managers, coaches and operating-heads are appended hereto and give in great detail not only the historical records of the Games but recommendations for future improvement.

To the members of the Executive Committee of the American Olympic Committee and to the operation staff who have been associated with me in this great undertaking I wish to express my profound appreciation. Their task has been a trying one. Contributing without stint of their time and effort, they had to deal with a multitude of details little understood and even less appreciated by the general public. Without the recompense of competition such as the athletes themselves enjoy, but with all the burdens of responsibility on their shoulders, they have served with a loyalty and devotion to the ideals of sport which no words of mine can adequately portray. To the Press who accompanied the American team, I wish to express my gratitude for their thoroughness and fairness in portraying the various phases of the venture as they saw it. To the Team I voice a real affection. It has made me proud to be an American. I reserve for my last and greatest tribute the American Sportsman, that inarticulate public who by their contributions made this enterprise possible, who by their plaudits have inspired the team to its successes, and who, by their sympathy and understanding, have dignified and enobled the entire adventure.

I can not refrain from expressing my appreciation of the confidence that has been reposed in me by those who practically drafted me for the Presidency of the American Olympic Committee. Their insistence upon my accepting the position as a national duty in spite of my reluctance has found its recompense for me in final results. Its duties have been arduous and difficult and at times have tested the limits of patience and forbearance. The complicated chancelleries of American sport—I may even say international sport as well—are even more intricate perhaps than are political chancelleries. To abstain from the conflicting interests of the various sports bodies and yet to demand of all support for the Olympic movement has been a problem which at times appeared insurmountable. It is my most earnest recommendation that within the next few months an athletic congress be called under the auspices of the American Olympic Association, of all amateur sports associations in the United States, attended by the leading athletic figures of America, wherein the various athletic problems that have been agitating the nation during the immediate past shall be thoroughly discussed without crimination or recrimination, and policies and standards fixed so definitely as to thoroughly chart the course of American athletics for the immediate future.

"Athletic America" is a telling phrase. It is talismanic. It suggests health and happiness. It arouses national pride and kindles anew the national spirit. In its fruition it means a more sturdy, a more self-reliant, a more self-helping people. It means, therefore, a firmer foundation for our free institutions and a steadier, more determined hold on the future. Nothing has been more characteristic of the genius of the American people than is their genius for athletics. Nothing is more synonomous of our national success than is our national success in athletics. If I were required to indicate today that element of American life which is most characteristic of our nationality, my finger would unerringly point to our athletic escutcheon. Storms have raged over questions of professionalism as opposed to amateurism; as to whether athletics are detrimental to or promote the best interest of the school and the college; as to whether they are an essential part of our educational systems; as to whether they are a valuable training for citizenship, as to whether they tend to fit one for the problems of life; as to their moral value; as to what extent women shall participate therein; as to whether they do not tend to specialization for the few rather than to recreation for the many. All of these problems have been and are being constantly met in the irresistible advance of the athletic movement throughout the nation. There is an ever gathering constant momentum in favor of facilities for the physical development of all instead of the over training of a few. Athletics as an end or athletics as a means to an end are the particularly salient aspects of present day athletics as a problem. It is the solution of these great questions that I earnestly implore the athletic leaders of America, in a spirit of flexibility, to discuss and settle at the conference I have suggested. We must build athletically not only for health but for character. In learning how to play we learn how to live.

These problems should be solved before the Tenth Olympiad, which will take place in Los Angeles in 1932. The Olympic Games of Greece represent one of the World's oldest traditions. Their history extends for some twelve hundred years. Through centuries, from the age of Tyrants to the great era of the Free States; from the rise of Macedonia to supremacy, through the troubled years of the Achaean and Aetolian Leagues; while Greece lay crushed under the rule of the Roman Senate and while it had its brief revival of prosperity under the Roman Empire; in spite of every vicissitude of fortune, year on year the Olympic Games took place. The athletic code, therefore, has come down to us from even before the age of chivalry and knighthood. It embraces the highest moral laws and will stand the test of any ethics or philosophies ever promulgated for the uplift of man. Its requirements are for the things that are right and its restraints are from the things that are wrong. Its observance will uplift everyone who comes under its influence. It instinctively follows a religion that has no hypocrisy in its brave and simple faith and binds man to man in links as true as steel—the religion of a gallant sportsman's loyalty and honor. And it is under the impulse of that blameless ideal that I express the gratification of American sportsmen that we will be permitted to continue this great festival in 1932 and be host to the World in the great athletic forum of America.

"To set the cause above renown,
To love the game beyond the prize
To honor, as you strike him down,
The foe that comes with fearless eyes.
To count the life of battle good,
And dear the land that gave you birth,
And dearer yet the Brotherhood
That binds the brave of all the earth."

With expressions of respect and regard, I remain my dear
Mr. President,

Very cordially yours,
DOUGLAS MacARTHUR,
President, American Olympic Committee.

REPORT OF THE SECRETARY

FREDERICK W. RUBIEN

The American Olympic Association

The Quadrennial meeting of the American Olympic Association was held at Washington, D. C., on November 17th, 1926. This was the first step taken in preparation for the participation of the United States in the IX Olympiad, which was held at Amsterdam, July 28th to August 12th, 1928, and the II Olympic Winter Sports at St. Moritz, February 11th to 19th, 1928. Forty-seven organizations had delegates present at this meeting, in addition to the representatives of the federal reserve districts appointed by the President of the United States,

The following officers were elected: President Emeritus, Colonel Robert M. Thompson; President, William C. Prout; First Vice President, Dr. Graeme M. Hammond; 2nd Vice President, Dr. R. Tait McKenzie; 3rd Vice President, Major William C. Rose; Secretary, Frederick W. Rubien; Treasurer, Julius H. Barnes; Auditor, A. Jocelyn H. Magrath. An Executive Committee was elected consisting of General Palmer E. Pierce, Colonel Henry Breckinridge, Murray Hulbert, Joseph B. Maccabe, Major John L. Griffith, Julian S. Myrick, Dr. G. Randolph Manning, Dr. J. H. McCurdy, William F. Humphrey, Charles L. Ornstein and Dr. George J. Fisher. Immediately after the election, General Palmer E. Pierce, Colonel Henry Breckinridge and Major John L. Griffith tendered their resignations as members of the Executive Committee and J. Brooks Parker as a regional delegate. The resignations were accepted and the filling of the vacancies was referred to the Executive Committee. Shortly after the Quadrennial meeting, resignations of Dr. R. Tait McKenzie, who was elected 2nd Vice President of the American Olympic Association, Dr. J. H. McCurdy and Dr. George Fisher were received.

In accordance with action taken at their respective meetings, the National Collegiate Athletic Association, the National Amateur Athletic Federation, the Intercollegiate Conference and the Young Men's Christian Association withdrew their membership.

At a meeting of the Executive Committee held on Jan-

JUDGE RUFUS E. FOSTER
Third Vice-President
Fourth Vice-President
American Olympic Committee

MAJOR WILLIAM C. ROSE
Second Vice-President

uary 28th, 1927, Major General Douglas MacArthur was elected a member of the Executive Committee to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of General Palmer E. Pierce; Colonel Theodore Roosevelt was elected in Colonel Breckinridge's place and A. C. Gilbert to the vacancy caused by Major John L. Griffith.

About this time, Julius H. Barnes, who had been elected Treasurer of the American Olympic Association since its organization in 1921, felt that owing to pressure of other duties, he should resign, as he felt that he was unable to give the office the proper amount of time that it rightfully required.

At a meeting of the Executive Committee held on April 6th, John J. Raskob was elected treasurer to succeed Mr. Barnes.

On August 4th, 1927, the athletic world was startled by the untimely death of William C. Prout, who had been elected President of the American Olympic Association and President of the American Olympic Committee.

A meeting of the Executive Committee of the American Olympic Association was held April 6th, 1927, to fill the vacancy caused by President Prout's death. In compliance with the provisions of the Constitution, Dr. Graeme M. Hammond, first Vice President, succeeded to the office of President; Major William C. Rose resigned as 3rd Vice President; Murray Hulbert was elected to the office of first Vice President; Major William C. Rose to the office of 2nd Vice President and Judge Rufus E. Foster 3rd Vice President.

At a meeting of the Executive Committee held on January 10th, 1929, the organizations which previously withdrew; namely, the National Collegiate Athletic Association, the National Amateur Athletic Federation, the Young Men's Christian Association and the Intercollegiate Conference Athletic Association were restored to membership.

At a meeting of the Executive Committee held March 21st, 1928, Dr. Charles W. Kennedy of Princeton University representing the National Collegiate Athletic Association, was added to the Executive Committee.

Major General H. B. Crosby was appointed the representative of the War Department and Honorable T. Douglas Robinson, Assistant Secretary of the Navy, the representative of the Navy Department.

Major Patrick J. Walsh was elected to fill the vacancy caused by the election of Murray Hulbert to first Vice President.

The American Olympic Committee

The American Olympic Committee was constituted at Washington, D. C, on November 17th, 1926, by vote of the American Olympic Association and consists of the delegates who attended the Quadrennial meeting. William C. Prout was elected President; Henry G. Lapham, first Vice President; William F. Humphrey, 2nd Vice President; Robert S. Weaver, 3rd Vice President; Judge Rufus E. Foster, 4th Vice President; Sheldon Clark, 5th Vice President.

A meeting of the Executive Committee was held September 16th, 1927, to consider the election of a successor to the late William C. Prout. Henry Lapham submitted his resignation which was accepted with regret. Mr. Hulbert stated he had authority to tender the resignation of William F. Humphrey, 2nd Vice President, and a letter from Robert S. Weaver authorizing him to present his resignation as 3rd Vice President. These two resignations were also accepted with regret. Major General Douglas MacArthur was then elected 3rd Vice President and on account of the offices of the three Vice Presidents being vacant, moved up to the office of the presidency. Messrs. Lapham, Humphrey and Weaver were in turn elected to the office of 3rd Vice President and moved up to the offices of first, second and third vice presidencies, respectively.

On November 2nd, 1927, Mr. Lapham was obliged to resign as first Vice President owing to pressure of private interests. William F. Humphrey and Robert S. Weaver automatically moved up to the offices of first Vice President and 2nd Vice President, respectively. George W. Wightman was elected to the office of 3rd Vice President to fill the vacancy caused by Mr. Lapham's resignation.

At the Quadrennial meeting of the American Olympic Association, it was resolved that the Executive Committee of the American Olympic Association should serve as the Executive Committee of the American Olympic Committee. At a meeting of the Executive Committee held on May 15th, 1928, Colonel A. G. Mills was elected to the office of Advisory Counsel.

Meetings of the Executive Committee were held as follows: January 28th, 1927, April 6th, 1927, September 16th, 1927, September 27th, 1927, November 6th, 1927, November 25th, 1927, January 10th, 1928, March 21st, 1928, May 15th, 1928, June 27th, 1928.

Owing to the illness of President Prout, active preparation was not started until the late fall of 1927, which handicapped to a certain extent our efforts, principally in the collection of funds, as we were confronted at the very outset with the expense of sending a team of figure skaters, speed skaters and skiers to the Olympic Winter Sports and a Soccer Team to Amsterdam.

At a meeting of the Executive Committee held on January 10th, 1928, the following men were named chairmen of committees covering the various sports on the Olympic program :

Major Patrick J. Walsh.	Track & Field	Committee
Fred L. Steers.	Women's Track & Field	Committee
John T. Taylor.	Swimming	Committee
Jacob W. Stumpf.	Boxing	Committee
Roy E. Moore.	Gymnastics	Committee
C. W. Streit.	Wrestling	Committee
Henry Penn Burke.	Rowing	Committee
Dr. Graeme M. Hammond.	Fencing	Committee
Dr. G. Randolph Manning.	Soccer	Committee
Frank L. Kramer.	Cycling	Committee
Pierre Lorillard, Jr.	Equestrian	Committee
Major William C. Rose.	Modern Pentathlon	Committee
Charles L. Ornstein.	Lacrosse	Committee
General Chas. H. Sherrill.	Art	Committee
Clifford D. Mallory.	Yachting	Committee

In practically every instance, the same men served as managers of the various teams. The purpose of these committees was to make a preliminary report to the American Olympic Committee with full recommendations covering the selection of the participants, coaches and other personnel, to arrange the time and place for the holding of the various tryouts and any other details which appertained to the actual personnel of the team. Each sport association which held membership in the American Olympic Association was requested to name a representative for membership on appropriate committees. These committees were announced on March 7th. The following rules regarding eligibility were adopted by the committee for track and field and practically the same rules prevailed for all other sports:

1. That the Army and Navy hold preliminary tryouts if they see fit; otherwise they may take part in the preliminary sectional tryouts.

That preliminary tryouts also be held by the Intercollegiate Association of Amateur Athletes of America; National Collegiate Athletic Association, and such other college conferences as may request official permission to hold preliminary tryouts. With the exception of the Army and Navy and college tryouts, all official tryouts to be held under the direction of Committees composed of all of the members of the Track and Field Committee in each district.

2. That no portion of the proceeds from the Olympic preliminary tryouts is to be used in defraying expenses of athletes in such tryouts, or for expenses of athletes to the final tryouts, with this exception: that the expenses of athletes from their homes to the final tryouts be refunded to athletes selected as members of the team, out of Olympic funds. The expenses of unsuccessful contestants to be provided for by themselves.

3. That the final Olympic track and field tryouts are to be held at Harvard Stadium, Boston, Mass., on Friday and Saturday, July 6th and 7th, 1928.

4. That no athlete shall be permitted to participate in the final tryouts unless he has participated in a preliminary tryout, as hereinbefore provided for, except that in the 3,000 Meters Steeplechase, the contestants may participate in the final tryout, without participating in a preliminary tryout.

5. That special permission may be granted by the Track and Field Committee to enable an athlete to compete in a sectional tryout at the point of his preference.

6. That the Committee on Selection shall have authority to recommend athletes, who, because of their residence abroad or other circumstances, are unable to participate in the final tryouts, but whose records indicate that they would qualify for membership on the team, if they were in this country.

7. That the final steeplechase tryout be held in connection with the final Track and Field tryout at the Harvard Stadium, Boston, Mass., on Saturday, July 7th, 1928.

8. That a tryout in the Decathlon be held at the University of Pennsylvania Relay Carnival in Philadelphia, on April 27th, 28th, 1928. An additional tryout in this event may be held in the discretion of the Selection Committee, if the situation warrants it.

9. The Marathon tryout will take place in Boston on April 19th, 1928. (Performances in all other marathons will be considered in selecting the team).

10. It is recommended that all sectional tryouts be held not later than June 23rd, 1928.

11. That the holding of the 400 meters race in lanes, the 400 meters hurdles race, and the Decathlon, if it be necessary to hold an additional one, be awarded to Yale University Athletic Association to be held in New Haven, Conn., on July 4th, 1928.

12. The team will consist of 90 athletes, including marathon men, 11 coaches, 1 manager, 2 assistant managers, 1 manager of Marathon men, 6 trainers, a total of 111 persons.

Immediately after the final tryouts, the team selection committees met and recommended to the American Olympic Committee the make-up of their teams. The American Olympic Committee in every instance approved the recommendations and certified the entries of all contestants to the Netherlands Olympic Committee.

The purpose of the local tryouts in various sections of the country was to acquaint the various localities with the available athletes and the quality of their performances. This enabled the athletes to know by comparing performances, whether it was worth their while to make the trip for the final tryout. This plan worked admirably and there is no doubt but it is the only fair and democratic way to select the various teams.

The Marathon team was selected after a careful study of the work of the men in the Detroit, Long Beach, Baltimore and Boston Marathons.

No prizes were awarded the athletes for placing in the tryouts but an engrossed certificate was presented to each competitor placing one, two, three in each event. A total of 1200 certificates was issued and the athletes valued them very highly. It is estimated that 12,000 to 15,000 athletes competed in the various tryouts conducted to select a team.

Transportation and Housing—A Transportation Committee was appointed consisting of Murray Hulbert, chairman; Joseph B. Maccabe, Gustavus T. Kirby and Major William C. Rose. The housing problem at Amsterdam was a serious one and the committee sent as its representative in 1925, Murray Hulbert, to make a survey of the situation at Amsterdam. Lawson Robertson was sent abroad in 1926 on the same problem, at which time Joseph B. Maccabe and Murray Hulbert were also in Amsterdam. In the late fall of 1927, Major Rose went abroad to make definite arrangements for the anchorage of the "President Roosevelt" and to make a contract for the buses and launches. Gustavus T. Kirby also visited Amsterdam after the completion of the Olympic Winter Sports and submitted a report. Mr. Hulbert reported for the committee that there were very inadequate facilities for the housing of the men on shore and recommended chartering the S/S "President Roosevelt" and tying the ship up at Amsterdam to be used as a hotel. The trip lasted forty-two days and we were obliged to pay for the transportation and subsistence of the men at Amsterdam at the rate of $5,000.00 per day or a total of $210,000.00. All of the regular members of the team and very near all of the substitutes were quartered in the first class section. The Committee disposed of the tourist third class space and realized the sum of $33,700 from the sale thereof. It is estimated that it cost the Committee the sum of $525.00 for the round trip transportation and maintenance while at Amsterdam, for every athlete.

It was believed that other countries would make similar arrangements for the quartering of their teams, but apparently suitable hotel accommodations were found for them. The trip of the S/S "President Roosevelt" sailing from Pier 86, Hudson River, New York, on July 11th, and arriving at Amsterdam, July 20th, was very successful.

It was the consensus of opinion that we should sail under the flag of the United States. The S/S "America" which proved so satisfactory in 1924, was out of commission as a result of a severe fire, and it was doubtful whether the ship could be placed in service by the time the team was to sail. The only available ship was the "President Roosevelt" which was altogether too small. Living on board the overcrowded boat became monotonous at times, although everything possible was done to keep up the morale of the team.

Adequate facilities were afforded all teams to train for their respective events while en route to Amsterdam. A boxing ring was set up on the sun deck for the Boxing Team. Strips were also laid on this deck for the fencers. A 160 yard running track of cork linoleum was laid on the promenade deck where the Track and Field Teams, both men and women, and the cyclists trained daily. Rowing machines were placed on "C" deck, where the oarsmen kept in condition. The gymnastic apparatus was rigged up on the "C" deck for the gymnasts. Mats were placed on the rear of the promenade deck for the wrestlers to train. A canvas swimming pool was erected on the forward part of the main deck and the divers were given an opportunity to train in this section of the boat where two spring-boards were erected. Targets were set up on the rear of the main deck where the Modern Pentathlon men trained for the shooting competition. A treadmill was located on deck "D" where the horses were given a daily workout. The entire team including the horses arrived in excellent condition, calm seas making the trip most enjoyable, there being very few cases of seasickness.

A cordial reception was extended to the American Olympic Team upon arrival at Amsterdam. The ship was anchored in the middle of the Amstel Canal, and it was necessary to maintain a ferry schedule between the ship and the dock at Central Station. The "President Roosevelt" was located about twenty minutes off shore. The last week, the ship was transferred to the dock of the Holland-American Line, which was much more satisfactory.

Training Facilities at Amsterdam—Steps were taken in ample time to provide training facilities for our Track and Field and Swimming Teams, but as has been our difficulty with all of our Olympic Teams, these arrangements were very unsatisfactory. The Police Field where arrangements were made for the Track and Field Team to train, was in very poor condition, and we were put to considerable expense in trying to place it in usable condition. Even then, conditions were not satisfactory and it was necessary for the majority of the Track and Field men to travel to Hague where splendid facilities were available. The swimmers objected to swimming in the harbor at Amsterdam and the swimming pool to be used for the Olympic Games was restricted to the use of the divers only. It was necessary to have our swimmers go to Haarlem, a short distance away, where a satisfactory pool was found.

OPENING CEREMONIES, JULY 28th

While guns roared and midst a setting of unsurpassed grandeur, the IX Olympic Games were officially declared open by His Highness, the Prince of the Netherlands. It was an inspiring sight Avhich will long be remembered by the 40,000 spectators who filled the stadium to capacity. It is estimated that over 75,000 people were outside the gates of the Stadium, unable to secure admission.

A group of trumpeters sounded prolonged blasts at which time the Parade of Nations started to enter the Stadium. Over 3,000 athletes representing 46 nations participated in the Parade which was led by Greece. Germany, Holland, Great Britain and United States all had full teams in the Parade. The United States, designated Vereenigde Staten, was sixth from last. The athletes circled the track once and then lined up on the infield and stood at attention.

Prince Hendrik as the representative of the Queen, who was in Norway at the time, arose and proclaimed:

"In the name of Her Majesty, Queen of Holland, I declare the Olympic Games of 1928 celebrating the IX Olympiad of modern times, opened." Immediately thereafter a trumpet was heard, then the thunder of a cannon salute and the Olympic flag was hoisted to the central mast; this being a symbol for the freeing of about 1,000 pigeons, symbolic of carrying the message to all concerned. Harry Denis, Captain of the Dutch Soccer Team, then advanced to the foot of the Tribune of Honor bearing in his hand the Dutch flag and surrounded in a semi-circle by the bearers of the flags of all the other countries and pronounced the Olympic oath, all the other athletes joining in:

THE OLYMPIC OATH

"We swear that we will take part in the Olympic Games in loyal competition, respecting the regulations which govern them and desirous of participating in them in the true spirit of sportsmanship for the honor of our country and for the glory of sport." A choir of 1200 people then chanted the Dutch national anthem.

The United States made an excellent showing in the parade, the men in white flannels, blue coats with the Olympic emblem on the left breast and straw hats with the shield on the band and the girls in white ensembles with white felt hats and white shoes.

The following day the athletic events started in the stadium. I will not attempt to describe the events as the complete results are recorded elsewhere in this report. It is possible that there may be a few slight errors in some of the results as it was necessary to compile the records from programs, newspapers, etc. A request was made to the Netherlands

Section of Olympic Parade showing Executive Committee, Women's Swimming Team and Women's Track and Field Teams.

Olympic Committee for the complete results, but they denied our request as they did not wish to issue this information until their own report was published.

During the marathon race fires were lighted in the marathon tower signifying as was done by the beacon fires in the ancient games to announce to all people of the world that peace, harmony and understanding must now reign, and thoughts of discord, discontent and misunderstanding must be put aside and that every one must concentrate on this as the attitude to be assumed.

A fitting ceremony took place in the Stadium after the completion of the final event on August 12th. Queen Wilhelmina, Crown Princess Juliana, Prince Consort Hendrik and the Queen Mother Emma were in attendance as were members of Swedish and Norwegian Royalty, who were guests of honor.

The prize winners of all nations lined up on the infield and ranged themselves facing the Royal Box. The announcer called each nation alphabetically stating how many firsts, seconds and thirds each Nation won. The athletes then marched to the Royal Box where Queen Wilhelmina presented the gold medals; Prince Hendrik the silver medals and Count Baillet Latour, President of the International Olympic Committee, the bronze medals. The following is a list of the medals which were awarded, and as there was no official point scoring system adopted, this tends to show better than any other method the relative standing of the nations:

One unofficial scoring system placed one nation ahead of the United States with 45½ points to 39, but women's track and field and the winter sports were omitted from this tabulation. Both of these events were regular Olympic events, and there is no reason why they should not be included. The United States finished second in both sports and this would give us first place.

The closing of the games was pronounced by Count Baillet Latour after the prizes had been distributed. A trumpet was sounded and the Olympic flag was drawn down accompanied by a salute from five guns and the choir sang the final cantata.

A number of receptions, dinners and gatherings was held to enable the athletes to become acquainted with the representatives of the other nations, including two receptions on the S.S. "President Roosevelt"—one to the people of Amsterdam and another to the athletes of the competing countries.

A reception to the representatives of all nations was given by Her Majesty, Queen Wilhelmina at the Royal Palace. Second in importance, was a banquet tendered to the Netherlands Olympic Committee by the American Olympic Committee at the Royal Yacht Club on August 7th.

The American Olympic Team left Amsterdam on August 13th and stopped at Southampton, England, and Cherbourg, France, on August 14th, where many of the different units who went on tours after their events were concluded boarded the ship. The return trip was uneventful except for the rough weather which was encountered for two days when many of the team including the horses suffered from seasickness.

The Team arrived in New York on August 22nd and was given a tremendous welcome home celebration. Mayor James J. Walker of the City of New York, Grover Whalen, Chairman of the Mayor's Committee on Reception to Distinguished Guests and Mayor Frank Hague of Jersey City were at the pier where Mayor Walker presented each member of the Team with the City of New York medals. A farewell luncheon was held at the Hotel McAlpin after which the members departed for their respective homes.

Every manager, coach and trainer was given an opportunity to submit a report and all statements made have been published without censoring. It is regretted that a few of the coaches have not availed themselves of the opportunity to submit reports.

The American Olympic Committee paid the expenses of the athletes from their home to the tryout, to New York and return to their homes. All other incidental expenses were paid by the Committee. All bills have been paid with the exception of a few which have not yet been approved.

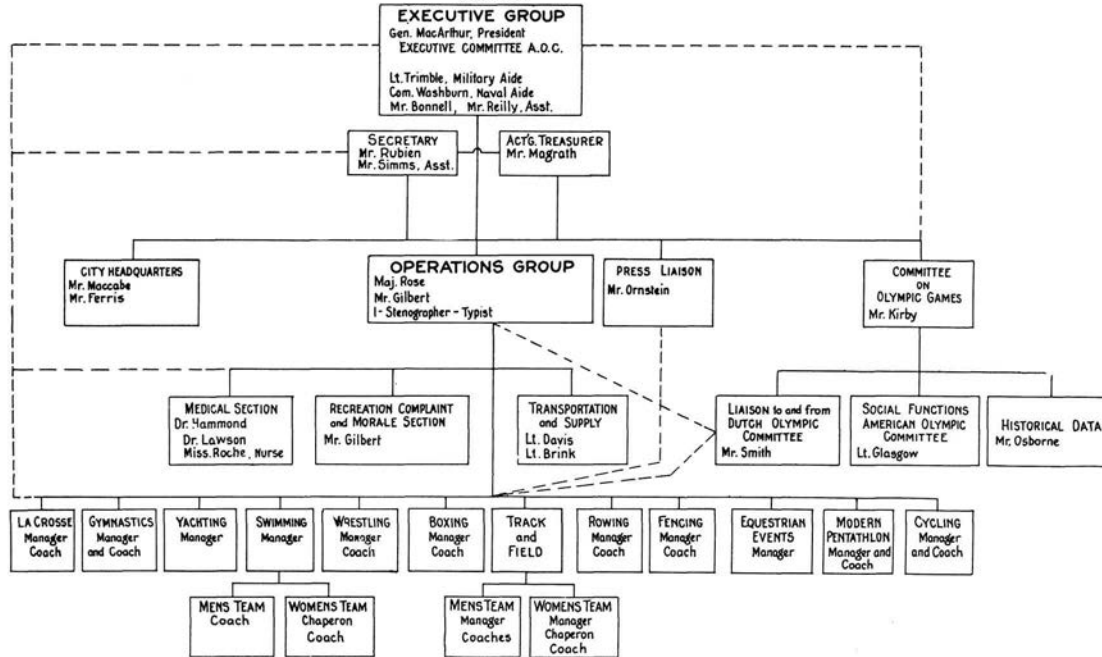

Every effort has been made to have deposited with the Treasurer all balances in the hands of various district Olympic Committees throughout the country. Many of the Committees had balances which they desired to keep as a nucleus for the 1932 fund, but the American Olympic Committee insisted on these balances being placed in the hands of the Treasurer. All accounts have been closed with the exception of one or two. The great mass of detailed work in collecting funds and preparing the financial report has been carried on by the Secretary's office, and if there are any funds not properly credited to the various committees, the Secretary will appreciate receiving this information so that the correction can be made.

In conclusion I wish to state that the success of the 1928 American Olympic Committee and particularly the trip to Amsterdam was due in a large measure to the untiring efforts of Major General Douglas MacArthur. At times the Committee was confronted with some extremely difficult problems which General MacArthur handled masterfully. I also want to thank the American Olympic Executive Committee, the Managers, Coaches, Trainers, personnel, the athletes comprising the American Olympic Teams for their splendid co-operation; the sport followers of America for their generosity, and the Chairmen of the district finance committee for their efforts in collecting funds. Without this co-operation the United States could not have scored the successes it did.

The following is a list of nations showing the various sports in which they competed.

ORGANIZATION CHART AMERICAN OLYMPIC COMMITTEE AMSTERDAM. HOLLAND 1928

REPORT OF OPERATIONS OFFICER,
MAJOR WILLIAM C. ROSE

1. The work of the Operations Officer being primarily that of coordinating the administration of the various team units and other working groups is best shown by the accompanying administrative chart, and in submitting my report as Operations Officer I have left to these all detailed statistics and confine myself to the statement that the administrative organization of the 1928 Olympic Team functioned most satisfactorily and with such minor adjustments as the nature of a particular Olympiad may require, might well be used as a basis for administration of future Teams. One consideration however, which affected the 1928 Team might not be present at other Olympiads, since the problem of transportation in this instance included both housing and subsistence.

2. No administrative set-up no matter how correctly planned could function unless the coordinate and subordinate groups of the organization carried out their respective functions. I am happy to report that the work of the Operations group was materially facilitated by the splendid cooperation received. Particularly do I wish to mention the following:

Mr. A. C. Gilbert, whose work in improving the training facilities for the track and field team and in coordinating their transportation problems prior to the opening of the Games contributed to the splendid results obtained.

Lt. T. J. Davis, Transportation Officer, and Lt. J. F. Brink, Assistant Transportation Officer, both of whom spared neither time nor effort in solving this, to my mind, the most difficult administrative problem at Amsterdam.

The managers and coaches whose attitude was always one of sympathetic cooperation.

Captain Theodore Van Beek and the officers and men of the S. S. President Roosevelt who labored without regard to personal convenience or hours to assist in every way the work of the team.

3. There has been much discussion as to the advisability of continuing to send the American Olympic Teams abroad as a unit. To send teams individually would in many respects make American participation much simpler. I believe, however, the disadvantages of such a procedure would far outweigh the advantages and that the method followed In 1924 and In 1928 with such adaptations as circumstances may require is the best solution.

4. My belief is based on the following: In the raising of funds each sports governing body in America would find itself competing with every other governing body, thus antagonizing the mass of the American public who are but mildly interested in a particular activity though keenly interested in American success as a group. The same competition would extend to the arranging for accommodations on steamships to and from the scene of the Olympiad and to the securing of housing accommodations while there. Every team would expect, and should have, steamship and housing accommodations equal to that of any other and in cities where hotel accommodations are limited such competition would prove so expensive as to, in my opinion preclude, the same wide participation in the Olympic program as America has heretofore had. Particularly have I in mind such sports as Rowing, Fencing, Gymnastics and Cycling whose opportunities for raising revenue other than by appeal to the American public are extremely limited. Furthermore, it would disrupt what to my mind is the greatest value of American participation in the Olympic Games: the team spirit of the entire group. This team spirit has been exemplified in 1928 more than at any other time due to the fact that all units of the team have been transported and housed together and have through constant association and contact become keenly conscious of the problems confronting each. I cannot, therefore, subscribe to any other idea than that of taking the team over as a group in as good steamship accommodations as available finances will permit and to house them in adequate and proper accommodations whether ashore or in a steamer as was done in Amsterdam.

5. Irrespective of the procedure decided upon for transporting and housing future teams when the Olympiad is not held within the continental limit of the United States I recommend that an "advance party" be sent to the scene of the Olympics at least one month in advance, made up as given below and for the purposes noted:

(a) A representative of the Executive Group who shall have the necessary authority and qualifications to make decisions in the name of the Committee and who shall be charged with effecting all final arrangements for the arrival and subsequent administration of the team.

(b) Technical advisors to assist the Executive representative from (1) Track and Field, (2) Swimming, (3) Equestrian, (4) Rowing and (5) a specialist on transportation and housing (this latter only in case teams are housed ashore).

Such an "advance party" in Amsterdam would have been of material advantage and would have more than justified the expense of sending them over a month in advance.

6. In conclusion I wish to pay my heart-felt tribute to the sportsmanship and forbearance of the athletes who made up the American Olympic Team of 1928. In many instances, particularly during the first few days in Amsterdam, they encountered inconveniences in transportation and in training facilities and in spite of the great mental and physical strain under which they were laboring, cheerfully accepted and made the best of the situation as they found it.

REPORT OF MEDICAL OFFICER

J. HERBERT LAWSON, M. D.

From July 13th to August 11th, 1928, six hundred cases were treated by the Medical Department. Four hundred were medical cases and two hundred surgical cases; all of the latter required dressing for several days. All cases were treated or cured in time to enable them to participate in their events.

The general type of medical cases was acute Coryza, Tonsillitis, Bronchitis, Otitis-Media, acute Conjunctivitis, and intestinal indigestion. The majority of the respiratory cases were due to weather changes, infections, following use of swimming pool, close confinement on the steamer, and increased nervous tension due to the prolonged training and over-anxiety of competition.

The surgical cases were injuries due to the necessary training methods of the various sports. These injuries were cuts, bruises, strained muscle and sprains. These were treated in approved ways and a large number of muscle injuries, sprains, etc., were improved and cured by the application of high power infra-red light.

The Medical Department was always on duty during the games, mornings on the boat and at the Stadium and other pavillions during the competitions. We were thus enabled to look over all competitors before and after their events and give any necessary first aid. The equipment of the Medical Department was furnished through the generosity of various manufacturers through our personal solicitation, and we owe them a debt of gratitude. While this proved to be sufficient, we feel that some method of proper supply of these articles should be made by the Committee for future games.

We found an exaggerated condition of nervous tension with increase of minor ailments in a number of cases due to insufficient rest, worry, close confinement on the boat, and the uncontrollable heat and noise especially at night which was occasioned in part by the number of non-competitors on board and the breaking of training by those who finished in the early competitions.

We wish to express our appreciation of the services rendered by Miss K. T. Roche, our nurse, and to Dr. Fred C. Devendorf, Surgeon of the S.S. President Roosevelt, and Mrs. Hawkins, the trained nurse of the steamship, for their courtesy and assistance to us.

REPORT OF MORALE AND RECREATION OFFICER

A. C. GILBERT

The purpose of recreation activities was to provide entertainment and amusement to the end that the members of the American Olympic team would be one big family.

We feel that the results of this work justified the amount of time and care which was taken to provide these activities. The recreation activities played a prominent part in the strengthening of morale.

One of the purposes of the recreation activities was to make the team feel that everything possible was done to make this the most successful trip the team has ever taken.

A great deal of stress was laid upon the fact that the trip was going to be just as successful as the individual made it. The fine spirit shown by members of the team in entering into all these activities justified everything that was done for them.

The personnel of the 1928 American Olympic Team was such that it was not difficult to accomplish fine results. The morale was fine at all times and the spirit perfectly magnificent.

The program we provided was entertainment and athletics of various kinds. To increase and hold the interest, various competitions were held which carried with them the Championship of the 1928 Trip. Cups, medals and prizes were provided for the winners of the various events.

The program aboard the S. S. President Roosevelt was as follows:

Thursday July 12: Movies Shown on Promenade deck aft after dusk. Dancing in Social Hall at 9:15 P. M.

Friday July 13: Bridge Tournament for the 1928 Championships of the American Olympic Teams. Cups were awarded the winners and prizes were given to the runners up. There were about 100 players in the tournament.

On the day previous a blank entry sheet was posted on the bulletin board for couples to enter the tournament.

Dancing in Social Hall at 9:15 P. M.

Saturday July 14: Medal Play Golf Tournament began. Individual matches for men and women. The Angel Deck Golf game Standard on the United States Lines was used, Monte Carlo night was held in the Social Hall at 9:15 P. M. The Committee had special phoney money printed for the occasion as well as Complete Roulette wheels, Kino, Red Dog, and other devices for gambling.

Before entering the gambling hall those who wished to play at the various games were furnished with $25,000 for which they signed. At the end of the evening the money was checked back again and the person holding the largest amount received a prize as the Champion gambler.

Monte Carlo night was voted a most wonderful success and it really furnished worthwhile entertainment.

Sunday July 15: Divine Service was held in the Social Hall 10:30.

Calnan, Fencing; Carroll Liebensperger, Lacrosse; Kenneth Myers, Rowing; Lieut. Peter C. Hains, Modern Pentathlon; Helen Meany, Diving and Elta Cartwright, Women's Track and Field.

The Golf Tournament continued in the afternoon at 2 :30 P. M. A song fest was held in the evening in the Social Hall.

This event was arranged so as to make the whole team believe that the program was being broadcast to the folks at home, A microphone was prominently displayed near the piano and the announcer was on the job in fine style. Phoney messages from the folks at home to some of the soloists made it realistic.

Monday July 16: Semi-finals were reached in the golf match in the morning and in the afternoon the finals were played off. The 16 lowest scores of this tournament were bracketed for the matched play Tournament.

A vaudeville show was presented in the evening and the sketches, monologues and soloists made the evening quite an enjoyable one.

Tuesday July 17: Matched Play Golf Tournament was played off. Deck Sports were held on Hatch No. 6 at 2:30 P. M. the following events were run off:

Walking the Dog. Blindfolded men step over hurdles which are taken out of their path.

Silk Stocking Race. Girls transfer beans across hatch by holding then on end of straw by inhaling.

Cracker Eating Contest. Crackers tied on line. Contestants must eat them with hands behind back then report to judges and whistle.

Are You There Casey? Cracker is tied on each contestant's head and they lie on stomachs. Each is given a newspaper club and is blindfolded. One asks "Are you there?" and the other replies. The caller then takes a swing at the place where the opponent's head is supposed to be. The order is then reversed and the first one to break the cracker on opponent's head wins.

In the evening a Masquerade Ball was held in the Social Hall. Prizes were awarded to the most original and comical.

The same program, with some modifications was carried out homeward bound,

The Recreation Committee comprised the following: A. C. Gilbert, Chairman; E. D. Carlson, Recreation Director S. S. Roosevelt; Mrs. Ada Taylor Sackett; Mrs. Alice Landon; Commander Washburn; Charles Diehm; Richard Landon.

REPORT OF CITY OFFICE ADMINISTRATION, AMSTERDAM

J. B. MACCABE

Pursuant to schedule, the American Olympic Committee's City Office—13 Rokin—was closed August 8th, having been opened on Monday, July 16th. The occupied premises were sub-leased from the Swedish Bank by Mr. Ray W. Smith, Attache, who partially furnished same with leased office equipment, together with installation of telephone and electric light equipment. Subsequently, the office furnishings were added to in the form of a steel counter and cabinet, steel desk for acting treasurer, tables and extra chairs for main office, all of which were leased. In addition, a conference table was purchased and, subsequently, disposed of at the original purchase price. In like manner, all other office equipment owned by the American Olympic Committee was sold at private sale, and proceeds therefrom turned over to acting treasurer Magrath, and duly recorded by him. In this connection, the attached inventories may prove interesting. All bills contracted were carefully scrutinized and, where possible advantage taken of cash discounts.

Commendation for careful service, rendered at the city office should be given Messrs. Richard Kennedy, Lee Combs, G. W. Scott, Dick van der Mark, who functioned as office staff and head quarters' chauffeur respectively.

Thanks are also due to the generosity of Mr. van der Mark, manager of the Marmon Car Co. in Holland, who donated to the City Office the use of a Marmon car, which served a most useful purpose, aiding materially in the expeditious dispatch of business at this office. The kind donation of Mr. van der Mark was duly acknowledged In the name of the American Olympic Committee.

With the exception of a few minor bills, such as janitor's and charwoman's fees, electric light bill and telephone account, all accounts have been adjusted and record of same made by acting treasurer Magrath.

The thanks of this office are due to Mr. G. T. Kirby for his loyal co-operation and Invaluable assistance: Major Rose, for his co-operation and never failing courtesy, and General

Douglas Mac Arthur for support and sympathetic counsel so generously given throughout the administration of affairs at the city office.

REPORT OF ATTACHE

RAY W. SMITH

My work as attache for the United States was extremely pleasant, I understand that attaches were first appointed for the Paris Games in 1924, The opinion of those who were in a position to observe their work seems to be that the Intentions of the International Committee as to the scope of the work of the attaches were not entirely realized at Paris, During the recent Games at Amsterdam, the Organizing Committee made a very definite and practical use of the attaches and has stated that It considers the manner in which the attaches have done their work as having contributed to the success of the organization.

Although the attaches served for liasion, between the Organizing Committee and the various National Committees, it was thought that their work could be better accomplished if there were some organized contact among the attaches and for this reason the attaches formed a College of Olympic Attaches, which regularly held meetings from early spring until after the close of the Games. During the Games themselves the General Secretary of the Dutch Committee, Captain van Rossem, met with the College of Attaches practically every day, during which meetings an exchange of ideas was made possible. The Dutch Committee in this way was able to reach all national committees with a minimum of delay.

In one sense I had perhaps rather more to do than the majority of the attachés, for the reason that our representation was so large and covered so many branches of sport. On the other hand, my work was very much simplified by the visits, before the Games, of Major Rose and Mr. Kirby, as well as by the assignment of Lieutenant Glasgow to work in connection with the Equestrian team. Furthermore, the establishment of our City Office at Rokin 13 undoubtedly made my work much easier. The fact that our team stayed aboard the "Roosevelt" reduced the amount of work necessary in looking for suitable accommodations,

Among other things which presented themselves for your attache to do were details in connection with securing accommodations for persons who, for various reasons, could not be accommodated on the "Roosevelt." Preliminary arrangements for training facilities were made at the Police Field, seats for the Games were obtained in large numbers, the City office at Rokin 13 was rented and equipped, arrangements for formalities upon the arrival of the "Roosevelt" in Amsterdam were made, complimentary seats for officials were obtained, and much other work of a similar nature was performed.

It would have been impossible for the undersigned to have taken sufficient time from his business to have done everything alone. Mr. Wilfred Hoover assisted the undersigned before the arrival of the "Roosevelt" and thereafter was detailed by Major Rose to various duties.

It would be my suggestion, for future guidance, that the work which your attache has to perform be not under-estimated and it would be advisable either to appoint an attache who is in a position to devote a very large part of his time to this work and during the Games absolutely all of his time, or to make provisions that your attache has the assistance of a competent man, whose entire services are available for the work.

I wish to state in conclusion that my work was facilitated by the cooperation of everyone connected with our team and that I prize the many pleasant contacts which my duties afforded me.

 President, International Olympic Committee

Advisory Counsel American Olympic Committee

By COL. A. G. MILLS who was largely instrumental in planning it and formulating its first constitution.

The American Olympic Association was organized November 25, 1921.

In its Constitution as then adopted its "OBJECTS" were thus stated:

"Objects—Its objects shall be to create and maintain a permanent organization representative of amateur sports and of organizations devoted thereto in the United States for the purpose of assuring continued interest in the Olympic Games and more particularly to constitute seasonably in advance of each Olympiad an American Olympic Committee which shall have jurisdiction of all matters pertaining to the participation of the United States therein."

Theretofore from the revival of the Olympic Games in Athens in 1896 the representation of the United States therein was conducted mainly by leaders in amateur sports practically self appointed, meeting seasonably before each Olympiad and constituting by additions to their own numbers an American Olympic Committee which organized and managed the representation of the United States in each ensuing Olympiad. While the personnel of this group of leaders in the amateur field necessarily changed with the passing years, continuity of interest was maintained to the extent that each succeeding Olympiad found the United States prepared, through this medium, to play its part and judged by the results to do so effectively, as the record shows that without exception the United States emerged from the contests with the greatest number of honors. It should be said of this group that while practically its members were self appointed, they were well qualified for the task alike as representatives of competitive American sports, inspired by patriotic zeal for the maintenance of American supremacy, and qualified by experience for the management of an undertaking of such importance.

Each succeeding Olympiad, however, presented new difficulties.

Unlike some other countries, our Government has never borne the expense of transportation to the Games or the maintenance of our competing athletes thereat, nor has it ever made direct appropriations of money to meet, or to aid in meeting, the necessary expenses. It is true that in the Seventh Olympiad (held at Antwerp in 1920) the last in which the representation of the United States was conducted by this group, our Government undertook to furnish a vessel to carry the athletes, officials, etc. to the Games, but at the last moment a smaller and less suitable vessel had to be substituted, and even this was only partially available for the purpose, as visiting statesmen and others were assigned to the more desirable staterooms, thus giving reasonable ground for dissatisfaction to our athletes and rendering it impossible for our Committee to properly care for them. While this was not the fault either of our Government or of our Committee, it greatly increased the difficulties confronting our Committee. This experience, among other conditions, led our Committee to seriously consider the creation of a permanent Association, consisting of all amateur sports bodies, and in addition thereto as many as possible of the various organizations in the United States devoted wholly or in part to conducting or fostering amateur sports, so that thereafter the participation of the United States in these events might be conducted independently of Government financial aid.

Thereupon in winding up its affairs in connection with the Seventh Olympiad, our American Committee appointed a "Reorganization Committee," charged with the duty of formulating such a plan and drafting a tentative Constitution of a proposed permanent organization. This Committee held several meetings, and finally, in the summer of the following year, presented its report to a reconvened meeting of the American Olympic Committee, which, upon the adoption of this report, sent copies of the plan of organization not only to all amateur governing bodies in the United States, but also to many others interested in whole or in part in promoting amateur sports in the United States. Finally at a convention, held in November 1921, of representatives of the invited organizations, a form of Constitution was adopted and the new Association organized, as stated at the beginning of this article.

In this Constitution, in addition to the declaration of "Objects" already quoted, provision was made for representation of all participating organizations on a basis of representation which allotted a lesser number of votes to several associations whose activities were not wholly devoted to athletic sports.

It was also provided that there should be a meeting once in four years called the "Quadrennial Meeting," of this permanent Association, whereat amendments of its Constitution would be in order, and the time for holding such Quadrennial Meeting was fixed for the month of November in the second year preceding the next Olympiad.

Two such Quadrennial Meetings have been held, the first in 1922, and the last in 1926. At the latter the statement of "Objects" of the Association was amplified so as to include a declaration of its principles by adding to the statement of "Objects" already quoted, the following:

"Furthermore, this Association is not organized for pecuniary profit; its aims are wholly altruistic. It seeks to foster and promote at home the participation of all the people in amateur sports and the physical and moral betterment of the youth of our country, by physical education; by inculcating habits of temperance, of self-reliance coupled with self-restraint; and by discipline, team-work, courage and generous rivalry; and internationally, better understanding and more friendly relations among the nations, by stimulating chivalric competitions in amateur sports."

At each of these Quadrennial Meetings, amendments as to details were adopted, but no fundamental changes have been made, although the general trend of amendment has been in the direction of unifying the functions of the Association and of the American Olympic Committee created by it.

Since the formation of the American Olympic Association in 1921, the Eighth and Ninth Olympiads have passed into history, for both of which ample funds for meeting all expenses of America's representation have been provided through its instrumentality, although at each of these Olympiads the cost of America's representation was greater than ever before; the one in Paris in 1924 involving, in addition to the transportation of athletes, and officials, the renting of a fine private park and the building of a village for housing our athletes during the Games, and for the second, that at Amsterdam in the present year, the chartering of a commodious steamer used for transportation to and from the Games and also for housing the athletes during the Games. Also at each of these Olympiads the primacy of the United States was well maintained in the contests. Indeed in the Olympiad just ended, while there were disappointments in the failure of some of our star athletes to gain first place, we did secure a greater number than any other competing nation, and in the judgment of many interested in amateur sports in general and the Olympic Games in particular, this last Olympiad was by far the most successful of all, in that its honors were more widely distributed among athletes of the participating nations.

Of the American Olympic Association thus created it may be fairly said that it has realized the aims and the expectations of its founders, and despite changes in details, it is likely to endure as the best instrumentality thus far devised for properly conducting the participation of the United States in the Olympic Games.

TENTH OLYMPIAD AT LOS ANGELES

By WILLIAM MAY GARLAND

United States member, International Olympic Committee;
President, California Tenth Olympiad Association

To persons who know California there is an amazing portent in her attitude toward the holding of the Olympic Games at Los Angeles in 1932.

It is irrevocably expressed in her voting of $1,000,000 State aid for the Games. The amount is insignificant as compared to the whole-heartedness of the giving. The majority of favorable votes for the measure almost equaled the number of dollars of the appropriation.

Governments have subsidized the Olympic Games in the past. This is probably the first time that the people of a country or state—as sovereign voters—have ordered and provided the funds for the subsidization.

California takes her play seriously and her work light-heartedly. The line of demarkation between the two has an elasticity of expedience that makes for common cause in most undertakings. The resultant verve in the doing of things has piled up an awesome record of accomplishments.

So that Californians themselves now are enlarging their expectations with regard to the splendid proportions that the Olympic presentation may be expected to reach. A united California is a dynamic force. It has in this instance been directed toward a world purpose—the purpose of forty-six nations—that of making the 1932 staging of the Olympic Games an achievement of world magnitude and excellence, against which to measure the future in Olympic enterprise.

Before discounting this prophetic optimism, one should consider that through the election returns of November 6, 1928, and through countless other expressions of sentiment it has been made apparent that practically every Californian, from street urchin to banker, from school boy to educator, from laborer to captain of industry, from farmer to consumer and salesman to promoter, is a proponent for the Games.

Definite accomplishments of that determined spirit make it impossible to ignore its existence as a forward force to achievement. It built the immense aquaduct that brought water 250 miles to Los Angeles. It converted Los Angeles harbor from a mud flat into one of the greatest seaports in the world. It laid a web-work of good roads that give swift access to every place of interest or utility in the far reaches of the State. Finally it conceived the Boulder Dam and induced Uncle Sam to take the job of building it.

Los Angeles Coliseum, located in Exposition Park, ten minute's from the business center, where the games of the Tenth Olympiad will be held. Plans are under way for enlarging the Coliseum from its present reserved seat capacity of 80,000 to 110,000 seats.

In the light of these things, the Californian is too lost in contemplating what California will probably do with the Olympic undertaking, to which she has set her united enthusiasm, to permit any indulgence of boastful prediction as to what he is certain she will do. He knows that the ship is under way and that being aboard or getting aboard is of prime importance.

Back of it all—of course—bulk natural resources. Of these, the climate, the roominess of smiling lands, the inviting waters and the inspiring heights of the mountains all are Nature's incomparable contribution toward the success of the Olympic Games at Los Angeles. Then there is the preparation that Los Angeles has been making for the holding of the Games for some years past. Their advent here was in the minds of the designers and builders of the great Coliseum that because of its magnificent proportions has helped sports in Southern California to take on Olympic proportions already.

This general disposition to build in anticipation of growth in Los Angeles will make available for the purpose of the Olympic exhibitions many of the other permanent structures of the city—auditoriums, gymnasiums, athletic fields, swimming pools, tennis courts, polo grounds, golf courses and appurtenances of sports almost without number. They represent many millions of dollars of permanently invested money—made available in the staging of the Olympic Games through foresight and optimism.

Greek civilization had its life pulse in its striving for perfection of manhood. The magnificence of the era of Pericles was a product of the ideals that kept the Olympic Games a going institution for nearly twelve centuries. The favorable climatic conditions of the Olympic season, during July and August, fostered the Games and what went with them.

In California such ideal weather is prevalent through almost the entire 365 days of each year. The Latitude of Los Angeles is slightly south of that of Greece and the climate is decidedly more equable. The natural conditions are sufficiently alike to account perhaps for a kinship of ideals.

And this thing must be reckoned with. Ideals have converted the natural conditions of California into resources. Ideals in action are responsible for pyramiding achievements. Who is to say that the climate akin to that in which the civilization of Greece flourished may not have wakened in California's millions of people the love for the beautiful, the excellent and the joys that had been starved in their ancestors who fought the rigors of life in colder lands?

Who can deny that the vote of approval for the Olympic undertaking is evidence that the spirit of California is akin to the spirit of which the ancient Olympic Games were emblematic? The State is fast becoming home to many of the greatest artists of modern times. Writers, painters, sculptors, architects of international fame, builders of the world's great engineering triumphs, composers of the world's present day expressions in music and song in an astonishing number have founded homes in California. Many have always lived here. Others have resorted to its climate and succumbed to its charm.

Birdseye view graphically pictures one of the many water courses in or near Los Angeles, where splendid arrangements for the rowing events can be provided.

Olympic Auditorium in the center of the city, and only a few minutes from the Coliseum, wherein the boxing, wrestling, fencing, weight-lifting and similar events will be held. The Auditorium seats approximately 12,000 people.

So that the setting afforded by Los Angeles for the Olympic Games is regarded as quite as satisfactory from the idealistic standpoint as from the practical. Indeed, it is the idealism that has made the impressive undertaking practical and that will insure its success. Because of it the sacred tenets and principles that the Games are designed in modern times to safeguard and perpetuate will be safe and be given impetus. And because of the splendid dimensions to which the presentation bids fair to be magnified and the permissible ramifications that will be evolved when the rest of the world and California play together in Southern California in 1932, it is probable that the Olympic Games will have taken on a new significance when it has all become history.

But aside from the cultural impetus that may be expected to come jointly to California and the institution of the Olympic Games from their staging in Los Angeles, there remains the certainty of ideal conditions for surpassing achievement in all of the athletic contests that are the basis of the Games. California's athletes have always had as contributory to their triumphs the ideal conditions of training that will be afforded all participants in the contest of 1932.

Contestants can be confident that every natural advantage, every achievable accommodation, of land, weather, buildings and equipment, as well as spirit of the people, will be theirs to command. They are already here in abundance to meet the demands

Under such conditions, it is anticipated that the gathering of athletes and contestants in all events and features of the Olympic festival will surpass in numbers that of anything in history. Then with everything contributing to the achievement of the best possible by every participant, the prediction is common that world records in many events will be relegated in shattered bits to the past and new records made that will be the inspiration to generations to come.

And finally, California has already set its heart upon revival of all that may be of the display of the beautiful in the arts, in sculpture, painting, poetry, drama, music, that was characteristic of the historic Greek festival. Indeed many of the most active proponents of the bringing of the Games to Los Angeles were the leaders and patrons of the arts. A surpassing exhibition of the world's finest artistic triumphs is planned as a feature of the year's attractions.

In confidence the populace has delegated the work of bringing about the realization of its wishes and is serene in its expectations of splendid success. And the machinery for its achievement is already in motion under the guidance of men whose business is success in what they undertake.

With the wondrous stage thus set by nature in California, plus the necessary additions thereto of structures, facilities and equipment required, most of which are already completed or under way, it now remains only for the other nations constituting the world organization of modern Olympism to insure the sending of adequately representative teams and exhibits to make the Tenth Olympic Games a pronounced success.

Proposed swimming and two diving pools, which it is planned to construct adjoining the Coliseum. The grandstand, seating 10,000 persons, is already completed and an additional stand will be constructed if required. Commodious dressing rooms, lounge and heating plant are also provided.

REPORT OF ASSISTANT TO PRESIDENT
JOSEPH A. REILLY

America's participation in the 1928 Olympics, successful in the face of surprisingly stiff opposition from vastly improved athletes of many nations and in spite of innumerable handicaps that could not have been foreseen by the most experienced of athletic officials, taught lessons that may prove of value in future international meets. This report, therefore, will be confined largely to recommendations based on the writer's 1928, as well as 1924, experiences.

1—Raising Olympic Funds

The raising of Olympic funds, as described in detail in other reports, should convince even the most skeptical that it is to the major sport governing bodies that America must look for the bulk of the money necessary to defray Olympic expenses.

In the past, except in New York and a very few other places, the mistake has been made of starting too late. We should not wait for a drive for funds in the last four or five months before the Olympics, but rather should make our plans immediately and devote the greater part of four years to working out this most important detail.

Every sport should meet its full Olympic expenses. This can be done by charging a nominal Olympic tax for every sanction granted and by conducting a series of Olympic benefits. The Metropolitan A. A. U., which set the pace for the nation in the 1928 Olympics, raised approximately $65,000 by the aforementioned means and did not start until 18 months before the Games.

The first duty of the American Olympic Association should be to induce all sport bodies to adopt before the end of 1928 the general plan of the Metropolitan A. A. U., making such changes as may be required by local conditions.

An appeal should be made to every athletic club in the country to stage at least one event for the benefit of the Olympic Fund. Most of the large clubs now do this. Others would follow if approached.

All chairmen of local Olympic committees should be named soon after the Quadrennial Meeting of the Olympic Association and any who fail to produce results within a reasonable time should be supplanted.

METROPOLITAN DELEGATION

1st row—Herman Witzig, Frank Haubold, Ben Levine, Robert McAllister, Mel Dalton, John Gibson, Al Kaletchitz and Jackson V. Scholz. 2nd row—Ed Herbst, Thomas Lown, Harvey Frick, Kenneth Caskey, Joseph Farley and Raymond Ruddy. 3rd row—Edna E. Sayer, Loretta McNeil, Mary T. Washburn, Jessie Cross, Ethel McGary, Agnes Geraghty, Martha Norelius, Adelaide Lambert, Lisa Lindstrom and Elinor Holm. 4th row—Melvin W. Sheppard, Roy E. Moore, Robert W. Kennedy, Charles L. Diehm, Helen Meaney, Frederick W. Rubien, Secretary A. O. C. Major General Douglas MacArthur, President A. O. C. Joseph A. Reilly, Dr. Graeme M. Hammond, President A. O. A., Doris O'Mara, Carl Ring, Mrs. Alice Lord Landon, T. J. Sullivan, Daniel J. Ferris, Ray Barbuti, A. Jocelyn H. Magrath, Sid Robinson, James F. Quinn, and David Young. 5th row—Frank Kriz, Walter Gegan, James F. Simms, Jacob W. Stumpf, John Cattus, George Kojac, Joseph Tierney, Ben Hedges, Major Patrick J. Walsh, Jake Weber and Joe Ruddy.

In order to arouse public interest in the Olympic Games, an Olympic week should be designated in February or March preceding the meet and efforts made to have the President of the United States, all Governors and Mayors issue proclamations. During the week carefully prepared stories featuring local Olympic candidates should be released to all newspapers. It is during this week that the drive for funds among the general public should be conducted.

II—Separate Management

Every sport should be under separate management and the Manager or his representative, a person well qualified in the particular branch, should be delegated to make complete arrangements for travel, housing and training. It is not practicable to have all the teams travel as a unit since each sport has individual and special needs that can be appreciated and taken care of only by an expert. Travel ought to be by the fastest steamers and trains with first class passage always provided. The teams should be housed in the best available hotels, reserved at least a year in advance, with competent American chefs in charge of food. Practice should be held close to living quarters, thereby obviating the long bus rides that certainly have not helped the 1924 and 1928 teams. I do not approve of living on a ship but agree that it was the only course possible in 1928.

The Manager, with his or her assistants, all coaches or chaperones should be appointed at least one year in advance of the Games. Give the Manager additional powers and responsibility so that he or she will be boss of the entire unit.

III—Method of Selecting Teams

All 1928 teams were selected after final tryouts held shortly (except in boxing) before the date of sailing. Although this method has often been attacked it is the only possible one for America. With such a large country, so many athletes to choose from, and the absurdity of expecting to eliminate entirely sectional feeling, we can choose our Olympic representatives only after fair contests presided over by impartial outstanding sportsmen. Occasionally, the fortunes of fate may eliminate a great and worthy athlete but it will be much better for the morale of the Team and cause far less criticism to name the place winners in tryouts than to supplant arbitrarily one of those having scored, unless of course, in outstanding cases where there can be no question of the substitute's ability.

Alternates should never be carried to the Olympics, They generally prove trouble makers and tend to break down the spirit of those who had already earned the right to compete. Unfortunately, most people lose sight of the fact that final Olympic entries must be made at least 10 days before events, and no alterations are permitted.

No athlete should be sent to the Olympics unless he or she has a reasonable chance of making a good showing. It does not help the standard of American athletics to see on the field performers who are hopelessly outclassed.

I advocate sectional tryouts in all sports. The country should be divided into not more than eight divisions and only those who clearly earn the right should be permitted in the final tryouts where the fields must be reduced.

IV—Women's Teams

All women's teams should be under the management of women who should decide on transportation, living quarters, uniforms, entertainment, side trips for relaxation, practice sites and all other routine duties. These managers should have had actual Olympic experience. This would mean that our women managers for the next few Olympiads must necessarily be rather young but the successful experiment in the case of women's swimming at Amsterdam proved in many ways the value of this suggestion. Women of practical experience best understand the needs of their charges.

Representatives to Federations

Sport bodies should be urged to exercise unusual care in selecting representatives to international federations controlling Olympic contests. At least one delegate to each federation should be relieved of all routine duties but should be part of the Olympic personnel. Federations take up all of one's attention and no manager, coach, trainer, or Olympic executive can spare the time from general duties. In the International Amateur Athletic Federation, the governing body in Track and Field, a country's representative on the council can have no part in the management of his team. As a result,

SOUTHERN DELEGATION

1st Row—David Young, Claude O. Bracey, W. A. Alexander, Thos. L. Herbert H. Henderson. 2nd Row—Edward B. Hamm, Mrs. Wm. C. Rose, Major General Douglas MacArthur and Pete Dec Jardins. Standing—W. M. Coker, Lt. T. J. Davis, Commander E. D. Washburn, W. O. Spencer, Lloyd Bourgeois, J. L. Tujague, Sidney Bowman, Walbur Hutsell, Euil Snider, Lt. A. S. Newmann, Henry Cummings, Thomas Churchill, Sid Robinson, Al A. Doonan, Creth B. Hines, Dale Ranson and Major Wm. C. Rose.

Murray Hulbert, the United States member at Amsterdam, was obliged to remain separated from the actual management of the American delegation. Other sports might well make the same ruling.

All federation representatives should be directed to introduce legislation compelling the country holding the Olympics to permit practice at the actual site of the contests at least 10 days before any sport opens.

Federation representatives should advocate the selection of honest, impartial, competent and experienced officials in sports such as boxing and wrestling, in which human judgment determines the winner. The desire among smaller nations to defeat the United States is so keen and feeling against us in boxing and wrestling is running so high in certain quarters that it would be unwise to continue Olympic activity in the sports mentioned unless a radical improvement in officiating can be expected. Placing the referee in the ring in boxing is a step in the right direction.

VI—Press Bureau

An Olympic Press Bureau should be established in the United States under the leadership of an experienced newspaperman about six months before the Games. This bureau should issue regularly timely, intelligent newspaper articles on every detail of the country's Olympic program. If the Press and Public appreciated the absolute fairness of the Olympic movement and the desire of all to do what is best for the country, there would be considerably less unjustified criticism.

An important function of the Press Bureau would be to arrange for daily meetings of all managers with the Press during the training period to furnish authentic information and keep the good will of correspondents which was obtained by a similar procedure at Amsterdam.

VII—Director of Equipment

At least six months before the Olympics a veteran official should be designated as Director of Equipment and he should be in charge of and responsible for obtaining every article required. He should have no other duties.

GENERAL RULES APPLICABLE TO THE CELEBRATION OF THE OLYMPIC GAMES

1. Definition of an Amateur

The definition of an amateur as drawn up by the respective International Federations of Sport is recognised for athletes taking part in the Olympic Games.

In a case where there is no International Federation governing a sport the definition shall be drawn up by the Organizing Committee. The National Association, which in each country governs each particular sport, must certify on the form that each competitor is an amateur in accordance with the rules of the International Federation governing that sport.

This declaration must also be countersigned by the National Olympic Committee of that country. This committee must also declare that it considers the competitor an amateur according to the definition of the International Federation in question,

2. Necessary Conditions for Representing a Country.

Only those who are nationals or naturalized subjects of a country, or of a state which is part of that country, are able to represent that country in the Olympic Games.

Those who have already competed in the Olympic Games cannot compete in future Olympic Games for another nation even if they have become naturalized subjects of that nation except in the case of conquest or the creation of a new state ratified by treaty. In the case of naturalization, the naturalized subject must give proof that he was an amateur in his native country at the time of changing his nationality.

An athlete taking part in the Olympic Games must satisfy the following obligations.

1. Must not be or knowingly have become a professional in the sport for which he is entered or in any other sport.

2. Must not have received re-imbusement or compensation for loss of salary.

Finally each athlete must sign the following declaration on his honor:

"I, the undersigned, declare on my honor that I am an amateur according to the Olympic Rules of Amateurism."

3. Age Limit

There is no age limit for competitors in the Olympic Games.

4. Participation of Women

Women are allowed to compete in certain events at the Olympic Games. The programme sets forth the events in which they may take part.

5. Programme

The official programme of the Olympic Games is drawn up in accordance with the classification adopted by the International Olympic Committee. The International Olympic Committee demands, however, that the Olympic programme, must include the following sports:

Athletics

Gymnastics

Defensive Sports (Boxing, Fencing and Wrestling).

Nautical Sports (Rowing, Swimming).

Equestrian Sports (2 events: High School and Cross Country).

Combined Sports (Modern Pentathlon).

Association Football.

Art competition (Architecture, Literature, Music, Painting and Sculpture).

The Organizing Committee when submitting its programme to the International Olympic Committee may ask for permission to add:

Athletic Games

Cycling

Yachting (Monotype)

Weightlifting

which are equally important Olympic sports.

Each International Federation decides the number of events which are to take place in its own particular sport after agreement with the Executive Committee and the International Olympic Committee.

6. Demonstrations

The Organizing Committee of the Games may organize demonstrations of two sports not included in the programme:

1. A national sport.
2. A sport foreign to the organizing country.

7. Winter Games

The programme for the Winter Games includes the following events: Ski-ing, Skating, Ice Hockey, Bobsleigh and Tobogganing.

Winter sports not governed by an International Federation can only be included in the Winter Games under the title of "Demonstrations".

In each sport the events are governed by the technical rules of the International Federations concerned.

However, a special military ski competition may be organized. The number of entries in each sport and each event shall be fixed by the International Olympic Committee after consultation with the International Federations.

The prizes, medals and diplomas must be different from those used for the current Olympic Games.

The Winter Games are governed by all the general rules applicable to the Olympic Games as well as the rules of the Olympic protocol.

8. Organization

The Organizing Committee of the country chosen for the celebration of the Olympic Games is responsible for the Games and must make all necessary arrangements to this effect. It must carry on all correspondence relating to its work and it must send out the official invitations to the different nations.

9. Entries

Entries for all events are received by the National Olympic Committees of each country who can alone forward them to the Organizing Committee of the Games.

The Organizing Committee must acknowledge them.

If there is no National Olympic Committee in a country the entries must be sent through the International Olympic Committee.

If a National Olympic Committee considers that any entry does not conform with the Olympic requirements or the definitions of the International Federations this entry will be sent on without being countersigned.

(a) Six weeks before the date of the start of the first event each nation must send to the Organizing Committee a list of the sports and events in which it will participate. This list can be telegraphed.

(b) The names of the competitors must be received by the Organizing Committee at least three weeks before the date of the first event in each sport. Countries are allowed to replace these names by others not later than ten days before the start of the first event. These alterations may be sent by telegram. The Organizing Committee must receive the entries written on the special forms and in duplicate. The names of the athletes must be printed or type-written.

So as to guarantee that telegraphic communications are genuine, all National Olympic Committees who use this means of correspondence must communicate to the Organizing Committee some code word or device to be used in all telegrams sent by them.

The date on which the telegrams are sent on will prevail when observing the terms prescribed.

Entries are not valid unless the above rules are observed.

To permit and to promote during the Olympic Games such displays as are calculated to exhibit the value of different systems of gymnastic instruction, the I.O.C. will receive direct entries from groups qualified to offer such displays and transmit them for its use to the Committee organizing the Games.

No entrance fee can be demanded from the entrants.

10. Number of Entries

The maximum number of entries from each nation in each event is fixed by the International Federation.

However, the following numbers cannot be exceeded:

(a) For individual events, four competitors per nation (without reserves).

(b) For team events, one team per nation, the number of reserves to be fixed by the International Federations concerned.

The last rule does not apply to lawn tennis doubles or the tandem cycle race.

In cases where there is no International Federation for a sport the Organizing Committee of the Olympic Games fixes the number of entries for this sport in accordance with the above rules.

11. Non-Acceptance of Entries

The Organizing Committee has the right to refuse any entry without being obliged to make known the reason for this decision.

Nevertheless, the reason will be communicated confidentially to the National Olympic Committee concerned,

12. Organization of the Different Sports

The sole responsibility and control of the Games shall rest with that National Committee to whom the organization of the Games has been entrusted, such organization to be carried out in accordance with the regulations and protocol of the Olympic Games.

The technical celebration of the Games is according to the rules established by the Congresses of Paris (1914), Lausanne (1921), and Prague (1923) which determined the functions of the National Olympic Committees and the International Federations under the direction of the International Olympic Committee.

The Organizing Committee makes all necessary arrangements for the celebration of the Olympic Games in accordance with the general regulations adopted by the various Congresses and the Protocol of the International Olympic Committee.

It must enforce the strictest observance of the technical rules of the International Federations, these Federations having the right, in each sport, to choose the juries and have the technical control of the events.

However, the International Federations will choose from amongst their members called upon to form the Ground Jury and the Jury of Appeal, a maximum of three technical delegates who must be on the spot 15 clear days before the start of their sport in order to get into touch with the Organizing Committee and prepare the work of the Juries.

The expenses of these three delegates during the fifteen days before the start of their sport shall be charged to the Organizing Committee of the Games at the rate of 5 dollars a day.

13. Judging the Events

A Jury of Appeal and a Ground Jury (Judges) shall be appointed for each sport. Their choice is left to the International Federations. The members of the Jury or Juries must be on the spot at least five days before the first event of their sport in order to make full preparations.

The members of these juries and the officials must all be amateurs.

In the case of a jury not being formed when it should have started to function, the Organizing Committee shall meet and appoint the members.

The Juries of Appeal for the sports not governed by an International Federation shall be formed by the Organizing Committee of the Olympic Games and must be composed of five members of different nationalities who shall elect their own president.

14. Jury of Honor

During the Games the Executive Committee of the International Olympic Committee is constituted a Jury of Honor.

The duty of this Jury is to intervene in all questions of a non-technical nature outside the jurisdiction of the Juries of the International Federations. They must do this when asked by the Organizing Committee or at the request of an authorized representative of one of the parties or voluntarily in case of absolute necessity.

15. Claims

Claims made to the judges, concerned with facts, are decided by them without appeal.

Appeals against other decisions of the judges or with regard to any other matters must be addressed to the proper Juries of Appeal by a member selected by the Olympic Committee of the country making the appeal or by a person chosen to take his place.

Unless the International Federation concerned decides upon an extension of time these claims must be made within one hour after the decision giving rise to the claim. The Jury shall then give decision after an enquiry and this decision shall be irrevocable.

No claim can be considered unless it is accompanied by a deposit of 100 gold francs (50 guilders).

This sum will not be returned if the claim is made upon frivolous grounds.

16. Claims Against the Qualifications of a Competitor

In the case of a claim concerning the amateur status of a competitor the International Federation concerned will decide upon the claim.

If the claim is made before the beginning of the competitions and games it is submitted to the Jury of Appeal qualified to give judgment upon the sport in question. This jury shall make an immediate decision, without appeal, as to the qualifications laid down in Article 17 and in accordance with the terms of Article 15 of the present regulations.

Apart from the claims enumerated in the above paragraphs (qualification of an amateur) any claim made after the beginning of the Games must be submitted to the Jury of Appeal, on the spot and in writing within a quarter of an hour after the conclusion of an event.

As for claims made after the end of the Games against the qualifications of one of the competitors, these must be received by the International Federations concerned within 30 days of the distribution of prizes.

The Federation shall give its decision after an enquiry and its decision shall be irrevocable.

17. Penalties in Case of Fraud

These shall be laid down as follows:

(a) An athlete convicted of having fraudulently taken the status of an amateur shall be disqualified and all the points which he has obtained shall be forfeited.

(b) If this athlete's Federation is convicted of being party to this fraud the country to which he belongs shall be disqualified in the sport or sports in which this athlete is taking part and all the points obtained by the representatives of this country for these sports shall be forfeited.

18. Prizes

The prizes at the Olympic Games consist of Olympic medals and diplomas. Each medal is accompanied by a diploma. A diploma is also given to the winning team in team competitions.

The organizing committee may, upon the suggestion of the International Federation, give a diploma of merit to a competitor whose performance has been brilliant but who has not won a prize.

All those participating in the Games shall receive a commemorative medal.

To sum up, three medals will be given for each event:

(a) Individual events: 1. First prize, a silver gilt medal and a diploma; 2. Second prize, a silver medal and a diploma; 3. Third prize, a bronze medal and a diploma.

(b) Team events: 1. To the winning team, a diploma and to each member of the team a silver gilt medal and a diploma; 2. To the second, a diploma to the team and to each member of the team a silver medal and a diploma; 3. To the third, a diploma to the team and to each member of the team a bronze medal and a diploma.

In the team events all those who have actually taken part in an event shall have a right to the medal and diploma corresponding to the prize gained by the team.

The names of the winners shall be inscribed upon the walls of the Stadium where the Games have been opened and closed.

OLYMPIC MEDAL (both sides)
 Each victor received a silver gilt medal similar to above; second place a silver medal and third place a bronze medal. Each medal is accompanied by a diploma.

COMMEMORATIVE MEDAL (both sides)
 Awarded to all participants in the Games.

OLYMPIC CHARM

Major-General Douglas MacArthur, presented each member of the team with this charm.

19. Classification

In the Olympic Games there is no classification according to points.
A Roll of Honor, in alphabetical order, shall be set up bearing the names of the first six competitors in each event, if this classification can be made.
This document shall be drawn up and kept under the control of the International Olympic Committee.

20. Booklets and Programmes

A special booklet containing the programme and general rules shall be issued for each particular sport.
The booklets and programmes of the Olympic Games shall not have any advertising matter in them.

21. Official Text

In case of divergence in the interpretation of the general rules, the French text only is official.

22. International Federations

At the Olympic Games the competition rules enforced are those of the International Federations:

International Amateur Athletic Federation.
International Rowing Federation.
International Bobsleigh and Tobogganing Federation.
International Amateur Boxing Federation.
International Cyclists Union.
International Horse Riding Federation.
International Fencing Federation.
International Association Football Federation.
International Gymnastic Federation.
International Ice Hockey League.
International Lawn Tennis Federation.
International Amateur Wrestling Federation.
International Amateur Swimming Federation.
International Skating Union.
International Weight Lifting Federation.
International Ski Federation.
International Shooting Union.
International Yacht Racing Union,

23. Sports not Governed by an International Federation

If a sport included in the Olympic Games is not governed by an International Federation or is governed by an International Federation which has been dissolved, the necessary arrangements must be made by the Organizing Committee.

24. Travelling Expenses

The Organizing Committee has nothing to do with the travelling expenses of competitors and officials, except as in Article 12 of these regulations. It is however, its duty to take all necessary steps to reduce them to a minimum and it must put itself at the disposal of those concerned to furnish them with all information which may be of use to them.

25. Housing

The Organizing Committee of the Olympic Games must provide the athletes with furnished quarters and food at an inclusive price per head and per day which must be previously fixed. All expenses must be borne by the countries taking part who are also responsible for any damage done by their teams.

26. Attaches

In order to facilitate arrangements between the Organizing Committee and the representatives of each nation the Organizing Committee shall appoint an "Attache" to each country. This attache must know the language of the country to which he is attached.

This attaché should be appointed by agreement between the Organizing Committee and the country concerned.

The attaché thus chosen must get into touch with the Organizing Committee at least six months before the opening of the Games.

The duties of each attache under the control of the Organizing Committee are as follows:

- (a) To see to the proper organization of travelling arrangements for the teams.
- (b) To help to arrange the voyage for the teams.
- (c) To meet the teams at the frontier.
- (d) To help in the Housing arrangements.
- (e) To act as intermediary between the Organizing Committee and the country to which he is attached in any claim or request, whether individual or collective, of an administrative nature.
- (f) To examine these requests and claims and if they are recognized as being well-founded to transmit them to the Organizing Committee.
- (g) To distribute cards and invitations given out by the Organizing Committee and to transmit to this Committee all invitations and correspondence from the country to which he is attached.
- (h) To act as intermediary for the Organizing Committee in all questions concerning the housing and feeding of the officials and competitors.

27. Reserved Seats

Apart from the big stand reserved for the Press invitation cards must be sent out by the Organizing Committee and places reserved in the Stadium as follows:

Stand A.—Members of the International Olympic Committee and their families.

Stand B.—The Presidents of the National Olympic Committees and the Presidents of the International Federations and their families.

Stand C.—Foreign Committees—one ticket to be allotted for every ten athletes competing with a maximum of twenty and a minimum of four. Secretaries of International Federations. Members of Committees of the Organizing Country.

Stand D.—Members of the various juries.

Also 1,500 places for athletes near the finish posts.

In the other stadia—Places for the press and occupants of stands A. and B. One stand to which shall be admitted, as far as the places go, the occupants of stands C. and D. Places for the competitors in the sport which is then taking place, but not for other competitors.

N. B.—Requests must be made through the attache of each country. Requests for special invitations must be made in the same way.

28. Special Cases

Any case not provided for by the existing rules must be dealt with by the Organizing Committee.

The definition of an Amateur as drawn up by the international Federations of sport is recognized for athletes taking part in the Olympic Games.

However, athletes taking part in the Olympic Games must satisfy the obligations hereafter:

1. Must not be or knowingly have become a professional in the sport for which he is entered or in any other sport.

2. Must not have received re-imburement or compensation for loss of salary.

Amateur Definition of the "International Amateur Athletic Federation"

Accepted by the Federation at its Congress, at Berlin, 1913, with modifications made at Lyons, 1914, Geneva, 1921, Paris, 1923, and the Hague, 1926.

1. An amateur is one who competes only for the love of sport.

2. Competing for money or any other pecuniary reward in any sport makes the competitor a professional in all sports.

3. In track and field athletic sports one who knowingly competes with, or against, a professional, thereby becomes a professional.

4. In the event of an amateur competing with, or against, a professional in sports other than track and field athletics, not for money and other pecuniary reward, then the Member of the Federation to which the athlete belongs shall be the judge of such competitor's status according to its own rules, and its certificate as to the competitor's status shall be accepted by all other Members of the Federation.

5. One who teaches, trains, or coaches in any sport for money or other pecuniary considerations is a professional, except, however, that so far as competition in his own country, and there only, is concerned, an employee or representative of the state or school or other educational institution, who teaches, trains or coaches as an incident to his main vocation or employment, may, or may not, be a professional, as the Association of the country of such a person shall decide.

6. Anyone who shall have knowingly become a professional shall not be reinstated as an amateur.

As an interpretation of the above fundamental rules and to be considered as part thereof, the following regulations are set down, and any athlete who violates any thereof shall, thereby, become a professional:

(a) An amateur cannot wager, or be interested in a wager, money bet, or stake made in connection with the athletic competition in which he is to participate.

(b) An amateur must not compete for any prize or token which cannot be suitably inscribed with some words or letters commemorative of the competition. Prizes must not be of a character which cannot be possessed or retained for a period of the life of the recipient.

(c) An amateur cannot compete for a prize or token of a value of more than ten pounds, except by consent of the Association of his country.

(d) An amateur shall not sell, pawn or give away his prizes, and shall hold the same subject at all times to the inspection of the Association of his country.

(e) An amateur cannot enter or compete in any contest under a name other than his own or one assumed permanently by him for purposes of competition and registered by him with the Association of his country.

(f) An amateur cannot issue a challenge or in any manner evidence his intention of competing with, or against a professional, or for money or its equivalent.

(g) An amateur cannot accept or in any manner receive any money or other pecuniary gain in going to, attending, or returning from an athletic meeting, other than his actual outlay for railroad, steamship, sleeping-car fare, and for meals and lodging. Under no circumstances shall the amount paid for expense money exceed the cost of one first class railway or steamship accommodation, one first class sleeping accommodation, and one pound or the equivalent per day for meals and lodging.

Dress Parade Suits,
Sweat Suits and Competition Suits similar to above were furnished all contestants.

(h) An amateur cannot receive payment for his travelling and other expenses to enable him to take part in competitions abroad, for a longer sojourn than 21 days in all per calendar year spent in foreign countries. Accumulation of these 21 days in two consecutive years cannot be allowed. An extension can be given the athlete by the Association of his country, if he is selected by said Association to take part in Olympic Games or represent his country in matches against another country. The Council of the I.A.A.F. is entitled to make extensions also in other cases if it deems proper. The national associations are responsible for the faithful observance of the above rule and shall keep a complete record of time spent abroad and expenses incurred by their athletes, the record to be laid before the I.A.A.F. if called for.

(i) Any expense money must be paid, not to the athlete, but to the Association of the athlete's country.

(j) An amateur cannot accept travelling expenses or payment of any kind for a trainer, rubber, masseur, friend or relative. (Note.—This rule does not mean that travelling expenses of trainer and the like cannot be paid, but that such expenses cannot be demanded by, or paid to, the athlete).

(k) An amateur cannot, directly or indirectly, accept payment for any loss of time or wages in attending, or training for, any athletic competition.

(l) An amateur cannot, directly or indirectly, receive any reward for becoming, or continuing as, a member of any club or any other athletic organization.

(m) An amateur cannot compete for or from an athletic organization in whose employ he is, or who for compensation renders personal services of any kind to such organizations.

(n) An amateur cannot sign a contract agreeing to take a professional position in athletics, or to take part in any athletic sports for money.

(o) An amateur cannot receive any compensation for using the goods or apparatus of any firm, manufacturer or agent, nor shall he allow his name to be used as a means of advertising or recommending the goods of any firm or manufacturer.

In all questions as to the athlete's amateur status other than those in which the Member of the Federation of the country of the athlete has been made the sole arbitrator, the statement of any Member as to an athlete's status is subject to the review and decision of the Federation.

REPORT OF MANAGER OF TRACK AND FIELD TEAM

MAJOR PATRICK J. WALSH

In the Ninth Olympiad, held at Amsterdam, Holland, the Track and Field Team (Men) of the United States, upheld the record made in all Olympiads, since their revival in 1896, by winning the greatest number of events, namely eight firsts, six seconds and seven thirds.

This is a remarkable achievement when one considers that the athletes of 40 nations were competing against the United States in the 22 events on the Olympic program.

It compares favorably with our record in the VIII Olympiad of 1924 when there were 27 events on the program and the United States won 11 firsts, the decathlon not counting in the official score.

In the first event on the program, the 16 lb. shot, the United States won first and second place and we had the pleasure of seeing two United States' flags hoisted to the top of the flag staffs at the playing of our National Anthem,

John Kuck was first with a put of 52 feet 1 inch, a new world's and Olympic record. Herman Brix was second with 51 feet 8¼ inches. In the second event, the high jump, we had a repetition of the flag raising incident when Robert King won with 6 feet 4¼ inches. The Broad Jump was won by Edward B. Hamm, with 25 feet 4¾ inches, which is a new Olympic record.

The Discus was won by Dr. Clarence L. Houser who successfully defended his VIII Olympiad title with a throw of 155 feet 3 in., a new Olympic record.

In the Pole Vault we won all three places and had the pleasure of seeing 3 United States' flags hoisted to the top of the flag staffs. Sabin Carr won with 13 feet 9½ inches, a new Olympic record; Wm. Droegemueller was second and Charles McGinnis was third.

The splendid victory of Ray Barbuti in the 400 meters run, in 47-4/5s. was one of the outstanding events of the whole meeting.

The sprint relay team won the 400 meter relay and equalled the world's and Olympic record of 41 seconds.

The 1600 meter relay was won by the U. S. in 3 minutes 14-2/5s., a new world's and Olympic record.

The Track and Field Team in the IX Olympiad experienced stiffer competition than in any previous Olympiad. The teams of the other nations are just finding themselves after the world war and it must be realized that athletic ability, modern training methods and fighting hearts are to be found among the nations of the five continents. We were beaten in several track events but by better men than represented the United States. We have no excuses to offer for our defeats.

The team was properly trained, fed and housed and conformed strictly to the rules promulgated by the Managers and Coaches.

This year conditions in Amsterdam made it desirable to live on board the S. S. President Roosevelt but in future Olympiads, in European Countries, I would like to see the track and field team sent across separate and apart from the other teams, on a fast steamer, and housed on shore near the training quarters.

The handling of the Marathon team by Timothy J. Sullivan received the commendation of the team and the method followed by him this year should be adopted in the future. The rules for the conduct of the Marathon should be standardized and not made up two days before the race as was done this year.

The managers, coaches, trainers and team worked in complete harmony and there was not one discordant note during the entire trip.

My thanks and appreciation are extended to my assistants, George V. Brown, Robert W. Kennedy and Timothy J. Sullivan, to the Head Coach, Lawson Robertson and his assistants and to the trainers for their attention to duties and assistance at all times.

The team was extended every courtesy by the American Olympic Committee and all the officials on the S. S. President Roosevelt and I wish to record my approval of the handling of the entire Olympic Expedition.

We concur in the foregoing observations and recommendations.

REPORT OF MANAGER OF MARATHON TEAM
TIMOTHY J. SULLIVAN

After a series of Marathon Races held as Tryouts throughout the United States, the selection committee considered the competitors of each of these marathon races and the performances of the winners and the place men and selected the following team:

Clarence De Mar, winner of the Boston Marathon, James Henigan, second.

Joie Ray, winner of the Long Beach, L. I. Marathon; Albert Michelson, second.

William Agee, winner of the Baltimore, Md. Marathon; Harvey Frick, second.

The times of these three Marathons were the fastest of all the tryouts held, which included Pawtucket, R. I., San Francisco, Cal.; Phoenix, Ariz.; Pittsburgh, Pa.; Detroit, Mich.; Boston, Mass.; Long Beach, L. I.; Baltimore, Md.

Some of the men selected competed in as many as four of these tryouts, which were held from April up until June. This meant that some of our competitors did too much Marathon running, but as the selection committee had not held a meeting to pass upon the qualifications of the men to represent this country in the Olympic Marathon, our distance runners had no other alternative than to enter as many marathon races to try to show their calibre. This in my opinion was too much of a strain on any class of competitors to keep men in condition over a period of four or five months up to the time of the final selection. When conditions that had to be met in the conducting of the various tryouts are considered and what the conditions were in Amsterdam, the final selections should have been made at least a month before the team was finally decided upon.

The conditions and conducting of marathons in the United States, perhaps with one exception were not up to the rules governing Olympic Marathons. There has in the past, in marathons in the United States relief been given to the runners, in some instances at each half mile. If in the future in regard to all races of this character, stations for the relief of the competitors be placed at intervals of five miles, then we will be training our athletes in marathons, to the conditions as laid down in the I. A. A. F. rules governing marathon racing.

A copy of the rules that were used to conduct the Amsterdam Olympic Marathon are herewith inserted. Then again in transporting marathon runners to the Olympic Games they should be sent over at least one month before their event is held, as was proven in this last Olympic marathon the team showed that in two weeks they were able to get into condition to finish the race, but as to perfecting speed work the time was too short. All of our boys finished in good physical condition, after a shower and a massage, all after being examined by the doctors were found in fit condition to leave the stadium without any medical attention whatsoever.

As to the course in the last Olympic Games, it was in most cases a flat level road in most instances, macadam, with the start from the Stadium over newly laid brick pavement; on to a dike along the Amstel River about 9 miles with shade trees on the one side; then on to a road leading into the country. This part of the course which covered about three miles was in open country, thence onto a road between two rows of trees about two and one quarter miles long, thence back to the dike along the Amstel River to a point three miles from the Stadium to a road which lead to a street with rough paving blocks back to the Stadium. In all of the marathon courses laid out for try-outs in the United States the nearest in running conditions was the Long Beach Marathon, with the exception that all the relief to the runners was confined to four relief stations, and all vehicular traffic was barred with the exception of an automobile for the Referee which was in front of the first runner, one for the Official Timers and two automobiles to patrol the course.

My recommendations in governing future tryouts would be to:

1. Consider the experience of the runners entered for tryouts and their past records.
2. To have the course as near as possible conform to the course of the Olympic Marathon.
3. That rules be laid to follow as near as possible those to govern the Olympic Marathon.
4. That our representatives on the I. A. A. F. know what these rules are to be, have a copy of same at least before the team sails from the United States.
5. That the marathon tryouts be held in March, April or May and designate what ones are to be considered as final tryouts.
6. To send the team of Marathon runners at least one month before the Olympic Marathon is held and to house them as near the course as possible.
7. To designate a trainer to look after them who will have no other duty to perform.

Rules of Marathon Run—Sunday the 5th of August, 1928

1. The Start will take place at 3 p. m, exactly. The Marathon road will be closed for motor-cars, motor-cycles, cyclists and vehicles of any kind from 2 p. m.
2. The clothing of the competitor must be clean. Shorts or trunks of any design may be worn. The vest must not be taken off. The change of shoes and clothes will be allowed only if the competitor takes these things with him himself. At the Refreshment Stations the competitor may have a sweater or a blanket to take on, but must leave these when he continues his running.
3. Besides his clothing the competitor may bring with him only a pocket handkerchief, sponge and corks for the hands.
4. Both the numbers must be worn on the vest, one in front and one on the back.
5. The competitor may carry a watch.
6. All the roads may be used, also the roads for the cyclists and the pedestrians. In the town shall, if possible, only the road for the pedestrians be used.

7. The competitor is not allowed to run in the Amstel for a bath.

8. If a competitor falls, it is not allowed to help him up again. Any help by outsiders will cause disqualification of the athlete.

9. On the Marathon road no refreshments must be taken by or given to the competitors except at the Refreshment Stations. There will be Refreshment Stations at the points C, E and G.

10. The following refreshments may be had: Milk (warm and cold), Coffee and Tea (warm and cold), Water (warm and cold), Sugar, Lemons, Bananas, Oranges and hard-boiled Eggs. If a competitor wishes to provide own nourishments, these must be sent before 12 o'clock on the day of the race, to room No. 75 at the Stadium (Office of the I. A. A. F.) and handed to the Officials who will take care that they are brought to the Refreshment Stations.

11. At the Refreshment Stations also non-competitors may be present, who will be there, however, only for the purpose to help translate the different languages.

12. Every 5 Kilometre of the race will be indicated by large figure—boards with orange colored flags.

13. The turnings will be indicated by men waving blue flags.

14. It is allowed to announce the time to the competitors from the roadside.

15. At the Control Stations B, C, D, E, F, G, H, I, F, E, D, C, J, the competitors need not sign their names themselves; their presence will be controlled by the Officials. At the Control Station G. there will be distinctly shown the distance and the time which the first runner has used to reach this station,

16. The race will be followed by two motorcars with officials and one motor-car for the press. These will keep 300 m. ahead of the first runner. The representatives of the Press are requested to be at Marathon-tower at 2:30 p. m. exactly, to get the seats in the special car reserved for them. The I. A. A. F. will be represented in the Press-car by Messrs. Hulbert (U.S.A.) and Stankovits (Hungary).

17. Only such statements are valid which are made by a member of the Jury or by another Official. All notifications have to be done to the leader in his special car.

18. Doctor's Certificates for all Competitors must be handed in to the Office of the I. A. A. F. room 75 at the Stadium, before 12 o'clock on the Marathon day. Only Competitors producing such certificates may compete.

19. Medical service will be organized. A competitor must at once retire from the race if ordered to do so by a member of the medical staff officially appointed.

REPORT OF HEAD COACH TRACK AND FIELD TEAM

LAWSON ROBERTSON

Two questions I have been asked most often since the return of the Olympic team from Amsterdam are these:

"Have the Games failed as an agency to produce a better understanding and more cordial relations among the participating nations?"

"Does the defeat of our athletes in so many of the track events mean that America is deteriorating athletically?"

My answer to both queries is an emphatic "No." I am aware that some writers, both American and English, charge the Olympic Games with producing international discord, and to prove their point have raked up all the irritating incidents that have occurred since the revival of the games in 1896. It is true that previous Olympic meetings have witnessed exhibitions of ill-feeling and poor sportsmanship, with the blame quite evenly distributed among the competing nations. But these incidents, unfortunate as they were, for the most part were due to lack of restraint by the rooters, after which newspaper publicity and discussion added fuel to the fire. This was particularly true of the 400-meter run at the London Games in 1908 when Carpenter, of the American team, was disqualified for an alleged foul against Halswelle, of England. The marathon run of the same year produced equally bitter feeling. However, an analysis of these two events, as well as of most of the minor incidents that have occurred since then will show that the Games themselves should not be held responsible.

As a matter of fact, the Olympic Games should be credited with the gradual elimination of just the sort of international misunderstanding and animosities as existed a quarter of a century ago not only in athletics but in nearly all contacts between the old world and the new. In the early days of the Olympic Games, England and the United States were virtually the only serious contestants. England, in fact, had been America's instructor, and England, unfortunately, had not realized that the pupil had surpassed his teacher. That was demonstrated for the first time at Paris in 1900, and it became universally recognized after the 1908 Games. Probably England was not as charitably inclined toward the American champions as she might have been, and it is equally true that the victorious Americans were not as modest as they should have been.

A great change has been wrought in international athletic relations since 1908. No one who saw the thousands of Germans at Amsterdam stand up and cheer Lord Burghley and Douglas Lowe when they won their spectacular victories for England will ever forget that scene and what it meant to think back just ten years when the Germans and the British were at each other's throats. And although the English were winning events which we had confidently expected our own men to win, the Americans, spectators as well as athletes, joined in the applause and congratulations. There were other incidents in which the same splendid spirit was displayed.

Those scenes would not have been possible twenty years ago, and they demonstrate, as nothing else could, just how much these Games have done to improve international friendship. It has been said that American victories were not so cordially acclaimed at Amsterdam. That is true, but American victories in the Olympic Games had previously been so constant that the other nations had come to consider even second places as moral victories. Under the circumstances their gloating, even at America's expense, was pardonable.

Although we no longer surpass European countries to the extent we once did, our participation in these Games has had an educational advantage abroad. It was following the overwhelming American victory at London in 1908, that the seed was sown in European countries, other than England, for the magnificent teams that have contested with the United States and England for the Olympic supremacy since 1912. On that occasion American training methods became the subject of very close study, because most of the other competing nations thought they could thus find the secret of our success. Sweden was the most progressive of the lot and immediately engaged Ernie Hjertberg, himself a Swede, although he had made his athletic reputation in this country, to prepare Sweden not only for holding the Games in 1912, but to develop Swedish talent to the maximum. How well he succeeded was shown by the record of the Swedish team in finishing second to America. Inspired perhaps by the success of Sweden, other countries engaged American athletes in coaching capacities for the 1916 games which were scheduled for Berlin. The Germans sent to America for Alvin C. Kraenzlein, a graduate of Pennsylvania and acknowledged to be the world's greatest athlete. Kraenzlein, although of German ancestry, was American born. He went to Germany in 1913 and immediately set about applying American methods to the German gymnastic system.

At the same time Italy engaged Platt Adams, winner of the standing high jump and broad jump at Stockholm. I was engaged in a similar capacity for Hungary, but the outbreak of the war cancelled these plans almost on the eve of sailing. The 1916 Games themselves were abandoned on account of the war, but as soon as it was over the American training system was again called upon to prepare European teams for the 1920 meeting at Antwerp.

Finland, although a dependent of Russia whose flag floated aloft for every Finnish victory in London in 1908 and Stockholm in 1912, was quick to emulate American methods. In fact, Finland sent one of her former athletes to this country after the Stockholm Games. He spent considerable time with Mike Murphy at Pennsylvania to observe his training methods, after which he visited other parts of the country, particularly the colleges. Finland with the double inspiration of American training methods and her independence following the Great War, immediately became America's most dangerous rival, being second during the last three Olympic meets.

The mastery which European coaches have now obtained of American methods is largely responsible for the keener competition which this country has had, particularly since 1912. This rather than any deterioration in American athletes was responsible for the closeness of the Amsterdam Games. Not only England and Finland, but also France, Germany and Sweden, have developed athletes who compare favorably with the best in America. They have not as many high class competitors as the United States has in the different events, but this is because they have not as big a population to draw from, nor have they the intensive training methods which the United States employs from the time a boy enters the grammar school until he graduates from college.

On the unofficial point basis I doubt if the United States is in any serious danger of losing its leadership for a great many years and the rather close call we had this year may be just the sort of spur we needed.

Few persons have any clear idea of how big an undertaking is involved in maintaining America's leadership in the Olympic Games. Since these Games were revived in 1896 after their discontinuance some 1,500 years before, the athletic authorities of the United States have given this task the most constant attention. They have developed an organization and a training plan which have made and kept us supreme. Although the games are held only every four years; the development of each team is a four year job.

The final drive for assembling the American team begins during the year of the Games. Sectional tryouts are held in various parts of the country and the winners then participate in the finals at which the team is picked. Suggestions have been made regarding better plans for the selection of the team, and it has been contended doubtless with some truth, that the team as finally picked is not in all particulars the best that America could get together. But the arbitrary judgment of a selection committee would probably be just as faulty. So I see no better way than to let the athletes fight it out in trials. If a hurdler trips or a runner falls, that is the fortune of war. Our present system is preeminently the survival of the fittest.

Despite the disappointing showing of some of our athletes in the running events, the American team won by a decisive margin in points scored, and America was likewise responsible for several new Olympic and world's records. We encountered stiffer competition in the fiat races than we had expected. We made the mistake of under rating some of our European competitors and we paid the penalty therefor. I should like to say in this connection that there was no truth in the reports that the American team was overfed either on the boat or during the brief time we were in Amsterdam. It was a handicap, however, to live under such crowded conditions as prevailed on the S. S. Roosevelt. In two particulars, training conditions on the liner and a new and somewhat enervating climate did work to the disadvantage of the American athletes, but these are conditions which we have always had to overcome when competing abroad.

One of the best suggestions that has been advanced for promoting the cause of the American Olympic team is the establishing of an Olympic foundation to provide the funds for financing future Olympic trips. Most of the other teams are financed wholly or in part by their respective governments. Such a plan would be out of the question in this country, but we ought to have a Foundation and a permanent organization to carry on this work in the future. This would not, of course, eliminate either volunteers who deserve such great praise for their part in our successful expeditions of the past, but surely the business management could be conducted to better advantage through a permanent salaried organization.

Although we did not make the clean sweep at Amsterdam that was expected of the American team, what we did accomplish on the usual scoring basis we outscored the next two teams and there were few occasions on which the Stars and Stripes did not float from the official flag poles to indicate a first, second or third, and once all three places, for America. Our athletes took their defeats with good grace and their victories with becoming modesty. They proved themselves good sportsmen and lived up to the best Olympic ideals.

REPORT OF ASSISTANT TRACK AND FIELD COACH

As Assistant Coach in charge of competitors in the Broad and hop step and jump at Amsterdam I can report that scoring first and third places in the broad jump with a new Olympic record and second place in the hop step and jump were creditable performances.

I want to express to the Olympic Committee my personal heartfelt thanks for the very courteous treatment accorded the late Mr. Wm. F. Donovan and myself in his unfortunate illness. Every possible aid was extended by members of your Committee to facilitate his return. Mr. Donovan's family and Harvard University also wish to express their gratitude.

The management of our forces considering the many groups, the large team and experience that comes only once every four years, was good.

Criticism of the whole expedition is healthy if constructive. The following is not criticism but a few suggestions that may help in the future:

1. Raise a 3 million dollar Olympic Fund, the four year accumulated interest on which will more than serve the needs of each expedition. The subscribers to the fund to be life members of the Committee. The U. S. Treasurer to be treasurer of the fund. (This I suggested to the late William C. Prout—and he thought well of it.) This sound business proposition does away with the cost and duplication of effort, besides eliminating politics and strife within the organization, and the geographical jealousies that crop up every Olympic year. The time to begin is now, as we have 7 years to work before our next invasion. It is just as easy to collect 3 million dollars as 300,000 dollars.

2. Eliminate from our future expedition the body contact teams. These teams mitigate against the true Olympic spirit. Not that I object to them, I believe in all healthful competition, but until all the competing nations realize and are educated to the true purpose of the Olympic Games it is better to have competition without body contact.

3. Blanket entry for each event at Olympics and final starters named three days previous to trial (if any).

4. Send each group separately under individual management. Send men's track and field over early as separate unit on a fast boat. Girls in a unit by themselves.

5. To obviate unjust newspaper criticism at home, a Publicity Committee should give correct and truthful daily news reports.

6. Have pre-Olympic tryout one year preceding final tryout and select provisionally 50 per cent of the final team. Those men selected to follow training directions and schedules laid down by the Head Coach and his assistants. If these men are deemed capable or do creditable performances in the minds of the coaching staff they should be selected before the final tryouts. There would still be two places open for those that blossom in the final tryouts.

7. The final Olympic tryouts to be held at least seven weeks instead of three weeks before actual Olympics—from a training standpoint I consider this vital.

8. Select Head Coach three years early, he to select his assistants. The managers of track and field to be subservient to Head Coach. The Head Coach and his assistants to decide and select the make-up of the Olympic team. Their judgment to be final.

HARRY L. HILLMAN

The American Olympic Committee did everything in their power to assist in making the American participation a success. Notwithstanding there was considerable criticism in the selection of the teams, coaches, method of transportation etc. I do not hesitate in stating that the committee did everything possible in using not only their judgment, but the judgment of others in arranging the details of the trip.

There are a few suggestions that I desire to make for future trips:

1. It would no doubt be advisable to send the several units to the Games separately, as better control of the respective groups by the Managers and Coaches is necessary.

2. I would suggest that the Track and Field section of the team be quartered near the training grounds and that the mens' team be separated from the womens'.

3. I would suggest that one alternate be selected for each event in track and field, being regularly selected and the final competitors be the four who conscientiously follow out the rules of training, incidentally the alternate can be available should one of the regular members be incapacitated. The final selection of the four to be made by the Coaches of the team.

4. The preliminary competitions are quite trying to the American athletes. The Intercollegiate, sectional and final try-outs have a tendency to take the edge off the American athlete. Some other system of selection, other than the many tryouts would be advisable.

5. The Head Coach of the Track and Field group should have full authority in all matters pertaining to the welfare of the team.

6. If the Track and Field team can be separated and kept as a unit in the trip to the Games, as well as in their training, fewer coaches are necessary and advisable.

7. The team should be sent abroad on a fast boat and as little time spent in the preliminary training before the Games as is possible.

REPORT OF ASSISTANT TRACK AND FIELD COACH

WILBUR H. HUTSELL

The 1600 meter relay team composed of Baird, Alderman, Spencer and Barbuti, in winning that event, set a new Olympic and world's record of 3 min. 14 1/5 seconds. They ran in the above order in preliminaries and finals. The team as originally selected included John Lewis of Detroit who finished eighth in the tryouts at Philadelphia. However, on account of the brilliant running of Barbuti in the 400 meter dash, he was substituted for Lewis, even though he had run four heats during the two preceding days.

The United States, Germany and Canada, finishing in that order, were under the world's record of 3 min. 16 seconds. It is doubtful if our team would have been able to withstand the strong challenge of the German team if we had been forced to do our final training on the Amsterdam practice track. Our Olympic officials made it possible for the relay team to be taken to a private track at The Hague, forty miles from Amsterdam, for daily workouts the final week.

REPORT OF ASSISTANT TRACK AND FIELD COACH THOMAS F. KEANE

Let the track and field teams go over as one unit. The main interest in the Games is in this particular branch. They are much too crowded on a boat like the S. S. Roosevelt. Take them on a fast boat with the usual eight or nine days to get into condition after arriving. Six days rest on the boat will help them after the final tryouts which can be held as in the past.

Don't let the team remain on the boat while abroad. There was too much boat on the last trip. Athletes need a change. Too much sameness effects the spirit.

Give your head coach much more authority. From what I have seen, his advice on matters which he knows is rarely asked and to my mind, the head coach of an Olympic team should be the real authority on all matters pertaining to the athletic end of the team, for if the team is not successful, he is the one who receives the blame.

The criticism which I have heard relative to over eating, etc. is all uncalled for, though I do believe that the team should eat all at the same time. This was of course impossible on this trip, owing to the fact that the dining room was too small to accommodate the entire team, which is one more good reason why the teams should be taken over in separate units.

Trusting that these suggestions will receive some consideration for the next Olympic Games', I remain.

REPORT OF ASSISTANT TRACK AND FIELD COACH COACH JOHN J. MAGEE

I might state in the beginning that the American Olympic Committee members that accompanied the team abroad were men of experience and unquestionably rendered efficient service.

The facilities aboard the Roosevelt were all that could be expected under the prevailing conditions for the handling of such a large number of athletes and passengers.

The housing of the teams aboard the Roosevelt while at anchor out in the stream at Amsterdam was more to the comfort of the groups than that at Antwerp in 1920 and at Paris in 1924.

The sub committees of the American Committee certainly did a splendid job in handling the various groups en route to the training fields and actual competition.

The training facilities for the American track and field men were poor, and I attribute the poor showing in several events due to the inadequate conditions under which the men trained.

The hammer throwers were especially handicapped because of these conditions. It was necessary for the men to practice in a remote spot out in the suburb of Amsterdam and I personally dug and constructed a circle so that the men could get in some practice.

Such conditions are not conducive to keep the morale of the athletes when one compares them to the splendid facilities at home. However, there is in my opinion a great improvement in the European athlete as I observe it both in form and technic. We will have to go some to win future overseas Olympics.

The efforts of head coach Lawson Robertson were commandable in the keeping of discipline among the athletes and coaches. In summing up, I beg to suggest to the next American Olympic Committee the following recommendations.

1. That the athletic executiveness of Mr. A. C. Gilbert of the American Committee be elevated to its proper place in future Olympic matters.
2. That the main team (Track and Field) be sent over as a separate unit.
3. That the next overseas team be provided better and proper conditions to train while over there.

REPORT OF ASSISTANT TRACK AND FIELD COACH
JOHN A. RYDER

The executives of the American Olympic Committee should be awarded the highest commendation for the thorough efficiency displayed in the management of the very many details connected with the transportation of the various teams. The launches and buses were run with railroad-like dispatch. Every contingency was foreseen and provided for. It does seem that nothing except army training could have brought about such well-nigh perfection.

The managers of the track and field team did their work thoroughly and smilingly. The coaches worked in harmony and without one jot of jealousy.

Once it was established that the meet must be held In Amsterdam and that sailing from New York must be on July 11th; that while in Amsterdam the athletes must sleep and eat aboard ship; incidentals presumedly without the jurisdiction of the executives in charge of the conduct of the trip—it is difficult to conjure how Improvement could be had.

As a conditioner of runners I would have preferred an earlier start. I believed then and believe now that one or two more weeks to enable our best men to arrive at perfect condition would have given them that perfectness of physical condition which would have enabled them to recuperate from heats and be at their best on succeeding days. I believe that for runners sleeping on the boat was bad. One noted runner would state each morning: "I did not sleep two hours last night." This because his room—occupied by three persons—was within ten feet of the mail rack whither would congregate on each arrival of the launch—or taxi-launches—the many non-athletes at all hours of the night and morning—and none were silent.

In conclusion I must reiterate: I do not conceive how any adverse criticism can be made against the management of the trip. Such critics overheard by me were concerned about better sleeping quarters for themselves or for friends—a trivial, selfish matter but Indicative of the fact they were hard-put to criticise.

REPORT OF ASSISTANT TRACK AND FIELD COACH

HENRY F. SCHULTE

The late and strenuous tryouts were the chief cause of trouble In this Olympiad. This, of course, applies only to the track events. In the field events the final tryouts offer the sanest solution.

The final tryouts should be two weeks earlier than for this past year. That will give all contestants time to recover their physical and spiritual fire.

In track events it would be well to grant a bye to the winners of the great games such as the N.C.A.A. and the I.C. A.A.A.A. and possibly the Pacific Coast and Southern Collegiate championships. Then let all other contenders eliminate to the finals and have the finals two or three days after the preliminaries. Allow three or four stars to bye to the finals and run the four best from the preliminaries to compete with them in the finals. The trials should never again be held on anything short of an eight lane track. In addition it will be necessary to have a system of placing the best men regardless of tryouts. When one considers how Germany, Canada and others are crashing through it is evident that we must find a way to select our teams as honorably as for the past Olympiad but nevertheless it is doubly evident that we must not drain our men of the very last shred of physical and spiritual stamina before we throw them at our international opponents.

Some other suggestions : Our team should be put into the Games with some definite team ideals. That can be done readily enough. The right sort of a talk to the team as a team would do much to make our showing more satisfactory.

REPORT OF TRACK AND FIELD TRAINER

MICHAEL J. RYAN

In submitting this report I wish to thank the Members of the American Olympic Committee, team Managers and Coaches and other officials who were a part of the American Olympic party to the ninth Olympiad at Amsterdam last summer, for their close co-operation and constant consideration in helping me perform my duties as a member of the training staff of the Track and Field Team.

My duties as Trainer were mostly detailed by Head Coach Lawson Robertson and were of a varied nature. During the trip across on the boat I was detailed to keep a chart of the weights of every member of the track and field team, who were required to weigh in on the official scales every day before their workout. Every evening, I made a detailed report of the weight variations of the different athletes to the head coach.

While in Amsterdam, I was detailed to the Police training field, where the field athletes did their training. I devoted a great deal of my time to building adequate circles for the weight throwers and runways for the jumpers and vaulters. During the Games at the Stadium I did detail work in the preparation of various athletes for their competitions.

In winning their Ninth consecutive Olympic Championship, I believe that the American Track and Field forces did a very commendable job under the conditions that prevailed and in spite of the intense foreign competition. I believe that the harmony which existed on the Coaching and Training staff under the leadership of head Coach Lawson Robertson of the University of Pennsylvania and the very close expert attention which was given to the details of all the competitions by the staff had a big share in winning the victory,

I believe that for the best interests of America's participation in future Olympiads that it would be well to send a practical experienced man to the scene of the Games to supervise the preparation of training fields for the preparation of the American team and to arrange other details which might be of importance to the welfare of the team in foreign shores but which are so hard to get at the last minute when the teams are on the ground.

REPORT OF TRACK AND FIELD TRAINER
JACOB WEBER

As to the management of the American team by the American Olympic Committee, it is my opinion that everything was handled in a very satisfactory and efficient manner,

I have, however, one small objection to offer. The mistake made was to house the athletes on board the ship. This prevented the intermingling of the athletes. Living on the ship meant cramped and congested quarters.

What should have been done was to have taken the team to a convenient location in France where the climate would have been much more favorable. Had this been done, the team would have been all to itself with no curious crowds and athletes from other nations to distract their attention from training. The athletes could then have been taken to the Stadium the day previous to their respective events.

This, of course, is merely my opinion and not a criticism as to the methods used by our capable committee. It may be of use in the future and with this solely in view, I offer the above.

REPORT OF TRACK AND FIELD TRAINER
WILLIAM L. HAYWARD

I have no criticism to make and I believe that the Olympic Committee did what they thought was right when they appointed the different officers and coaches. However, I would like to make a few suggestions for future Olympics. These suggestions are gained from my experience in the last four Olympics.

It is a foregone conclusion throughout America that the boys had too much competition on this side before going to the Games at Amsterdam. I don't think there is any other way to select a team other than the present plan. We have so many more athletes in America than they have in other countries that it necessitates elimination by a series of try-outs to bring the boys up to the final try-out held in Boston,

The time between the try-out in Boston and the Olympic Games is hardly sufficient to allow the athletes to go off training and bring them back in shape again. However, I do believe a plan could be arranged whereby we could do away with some of the competition during the Olympic year. For instance, all the Colleges and Universities might agree to drop one meet off their schedule and do away with the I. C. A. A. K. A. Championship in the east, and the National Collegiate Championship in the middle west, also the Coast Conference on the Pacific Coast. This plan, I believe would put the boys in better shape physically at the final try-outs. It would at least take away quite a bit of the competition.

When the Games are held in Europe there should be a longer time between the try-outs and the starting of the games, and the athletes should be sent over in a faster boat.

I would suggest that five men be picked for each event instead of four. The fifth man would be used as a threat to the third and fourth place man. In nearly all events the third and fourth place men on the team realized that they had no chance to win and naturally were inclined to let down on the training, feeling that they had accomplished their aim, which was to make the Olympic team, but a fifth man would keep these boys working harder.

On landing, I believe a training camp situated about 20 or 30 miles away from the Stadium where a good track would be available would have a tendency to keep the athletes' minds on the Games instead of diverting their attention by taking them into a strange European city. Then too, there would not be so much parading around town. This I believe, would keep the boys in better shape. The athletes could be sent in to their events as they came up, and when through competing, have a suitable hotel for them to live at away from the training camp, so as to guard against any interference with the men who are still in training.

For the next Olympic in Los Angeles, I would suggest that the final try-out be held in that city and those who have made the team remain in Southern California at some place selected by the Committee and establish a training camp. My reason for suggesting this is that at that time of year it is very warm in the South and if the boys were allowed to remain there they would become acclimated by the time of the Games.

In regard to the handling and management of the men I would suggest that a man who has had athletic experience and knows the wants of the different athletes be appointed as manager of the team; and also that his assistants have the same qualifications. It is very annoying to an athlete in his tempermental condition to find that the things which he will need are not ready when he goes to the field or track to do his work. A manager who could fill the above requirements and foresee all these little things thus making it easier for the athlete to do his work, would be an ideal manager.

I have tried to give you what I think would be an improvement on the old plan, which I think has worked a hardship on the runners, although not so much on the field men.

MIDWESTERN OLYMPIC TRACK AND FIELD TRYOUTS

Held at University of Iowa, Iowa City, June 23rd, 1928.

100 Meter Run—Won by Aubrey Cockrell, Headlight A. C.; 2. Wilbert Parks, Drake University; 3. Wayne Jones, Unattached, Senath, Mo.; 4. A. Leffler, Unattached, St. Louis, Mo. Time 10 8/10s.

200 Meter Run—Won by Aubrey Cockrell, Headlight A. C.; 2. A. Leffler, Unattached, St. Louis, Mo.; 3. Wilbert Parks, Drake University; 4. Wayne Jones, Unattached, Senath, Mo. Time 21 7/10s.

400 Meter Run—Won by George H. Baird, University of Iowa; 2. R. M. Alf, Doane College; 3. Ben Dally, Westminster College; 4. William Madeau, fribbing, Minn. Junior College. Time 47 9/10s.

800 Meter Run—Won by Ray Conger, Illinois A. C.; 2. Joe F. Gunn, University of Iowa; 3. Winston Hooper, Southern Methodist University. Time 1m. 58 3/10s.

1,500 Meter Run—Won by Ray Conger, Illinois A. C.; 2. Winston Hooper, Southern Methodist University. Time 4m. 5s.

5,000 Meter Run—Won by Charles Haworth, Penn College; 2. Charles Bullamore, University of Wisconsin; 3. Frank Thompson. Unattached, Milwaukee, Wisconsin. Time 15m. 45 2/10s.

10,000 Meter Run—Won by Bernard Frazier, University of Kansas. Time 33m. 50 3/10s.

110 Meter High Hurdles—Won by Morris Penquite, Drake University; 2. Harold Trumble, University of Nebraska; 3. Walter Lauritsen, Doane College. Time 15 2/10s.

400 Meter Hurdles—Won by Frank J. Cuhel, University of Iowa; 2. Robert M. Reay, Chicago A. A.; 3. Warner Taylor, Grinnell College; 4. Morris Penquite, Drake University. Time 53 4/10s.

3,000 Meter Steeplechase—Won by Leonard E. Hunn, University of Iowa; 2. Maurice G. Speers, University of Iowa. Time 9m. 57 1/10s.

Pole Vault—Won by Henry Conby, Unattached, Iowa City (12 ft. 4 in.) Theron Boyer, Unattached, Iowa City (12 ft.); 3. C. Schmidt, Unattached, Dysart, Ia. (11 ft. 6 in.); 4. X. P. Boyles, University of Iowa (11 ft.).

Discus Throw—Won by Frank Purma, University of Kansas (136 ft. 8 3/5 in.); 2. Charles A. Forwald, University of Iowa (115 ft. 3 3/5 in.); 3. Fred E. Roberts, University of Iowa (108 ft. 10 4/5 in.).

16 lb. Shot Put—Won by Charles A. Forwald, University of Iowa (44 ft. 1 1/4 in.); 2. Vernon W. Lapp, University of Iowa (42 ft. 1 1/2 in.); 3. Fred E. Roberts, University of Iowa (41 ft. 3 1/4 in.).

16 lb. Hammer Throw—Won by Vernon W. Lapp, University of Iowa (148 ft. 8 2/5 in.); 2. Fred M. Marquis, University of Iowa (134 ft. 4 1/5 in.); 3. John M. Gilchrist, University of Iowa (128 ft.); 4. Charles A. Forwald, University of Iowa (91 ft.).

Javelin Throw—Won by L. D. Weldon, Graceland College (196 ft. 5 1/2 in.); 2. William H. Dunkak, Unattached, Vermillion, S. D. (192 ft. 3 1/5 in.); 3. Carl G. Schjoll, Unattached, Minneapolis, Minn. (191 ft. 13/10 in.).

Running High Jump—Won by R. E. Haggard, Headlight A. C. (6 ft. 2 1/2 in.); 2. Max Conrad, Unattached, Winona, Minn. (6 ft. 3/4 in.); 3. Sumner Brunk, Drake University (5 ft. 10 1/2 in.); Joseph J. Kutilek, Emil J. Kutilek, both of Sokol A. C., Omaha; Prince H. Barnes, U. S. Army, Ft. Leavenworth, Kan., and Elton O. Smith, Unattached, Springfield, Mo. (5 ft. 7 3/4 in.) tied for fourth.

Running Hop, Step and Jump—Won by Edward L. Gordon, Unattached, Iowa City (48 ft. 1/8 in.); 2. S. T. Mc Inerney, University of Kansas (44 ft. 8¼ in.); 3. Charles C. Coulter, Unattached, Webster City, Ia. (44 ft. 7½ in.); William Pinsker, Unattached, Iowa City and Dill Smith, Iowa State College, Ames, Ia. (41 ft. 11¼ in.) tied for fourth.

EASTERN OLYMPIC TRACK AND FIELD TRYOUTS

Held at Yankee Stadium, New York, on June 16, 1928.

100 Meter Dash—Won by Frank Hussy, New York A. C.; 2. Henry Cumming, Unattached; 3. Alfred Milder, Boston A. A.; 4. Bob Mc Allister, Columbus Council K. of C. Time 11s.

REPORT OF MANAGER OF WOMEN'S TRACK AND FIELD TEAM

FRED L. STEERS

The women's track and field team of the United States made a creditable showing in the Olympic Games. In competition with twenty-four nations the United States succeeded in winning the 100 meters flat and taking second in the discus throw, third in the high jump, after tying for second place and second in the relay (4x100 meters). We won more than our proportionate share of the honors from nations, most of whom have had many more years of competition for women than the United States.

In the 800 meters flat we did not expect our girls to make any showing whatever. However, in a race breaking the previous world's record, Florence MacDonald of our team took sixth place, herself breaking the previous record in her performance. The sport governing bodies of America have not encouraged competitions in the half mile or similar distances. Our position has been adopted by the International Amateur Athletic Federation and the event has been dropped from the program of the next Olympic games.

I have made a canvass of the members of the team in my charge and they report they are satisfied with the accommodations afforded them, the food and the manner in which the trip was conducted. They stated they have been comfortable at all times and that the training facilities aboard ship were ample. The training facilities afforded us in Amsterdam upon our arrival were not very good, but we had these remedied after a few days. The members of our team were in good condition during the games, excepting two girls whose condition was brought about by unavoidable accidents.

For a time the meals were unsatisfactory, not because of the food, but because of the uniformity of the menus. This was brought to the attention of the steward and the condition remedied.

My observation is that the entire personnel of the teams on board was well taken care of, collectively and individually, and was in good mental and physical condition during the trip across and in the games.

The high morale and good physical condition of the women's track and field team were due to the untiring efforts of Mr. Melvin W. Sheppard, coach and Mrs. Aileen Allen, chaperone. We were fortunate in having their assistance and I wish to take this occasion to thank them for their services.

For future Olympic games I recommend :

1. Announcement should be made prior to the tryouts that athletes taking such number of leading places in the tryouts as may be decided upon will be selected as members of the team, regardless of times, or performances, or accidents. This will do away with accusations of favoritism and misjudgment and materially help the morale of the team and the collection of funds,

2. Our representative in the country in which the games are held should see that proper training facilities are provided for the teams upon arrival and that the sanitary conveniences provided are similar to and of the same standard as of our country.

3. The menus should be supervised as to variety by someone versed in dieting. A cook or steward is prone to interpret directions as to training diet too strictly,

On behalf of the women's track and field team, I wish to thank the American Olympic Committee and its officials for the interest in and the co-operation afforded our group.

REPORT OF COACH, WOMEN'S TRACK AND FIELD TEAM
MELVIN W. SHEPPARD

I have the honor to report briefly in reference to the selection and management of future teams.

From my past experience on other teams and observations of this one, I personally think if the units could travel separately it would be of great advantage to the different teams. This would give the managers and coaches closer contact with the actual competitors. It would enable their diet, training and general supervision to be more adequately taken care of. In traveling in such a manner they could sail on faster steamers, and more readily retain the keen edge to which they had risen for the tryouts.

A particular advantage that traveling in separate units would create is an atmosphere wholly characteristic of the particular unit. This in turn would make for better team spirit, and promote a much needed higher morale,

I believe the unit managers should receive their orders from the head coach of his unit, inasmuch as the coach is the one held responsible for the success or failure of his team.

It is evident that our present method of selecting track and field teams, although democratic, is no longer the best possible. The athletes are required to be in their very best form to survive the tryouts, and naturally are on the decline after a strenuous campaign of dual meets, club and college championships. It would be ideal if the team could be picked from the several college and A. A. U. championships.

O O O-lympiade!

Jongens zet je beste beentje voor!

Geldt de ver van de Nederlandsche Natie!

Like the long banner that slowly unfurled in the breeze over a stadium rilled with enthusiastic fans, showing a bit of color—a circle—a stripe—an emblem of beauty—symbolic of strength and unity, just so, our team emerged to stand before the royal box. Here, with eyes wet, throats contracted, and a set purpose in every heart, we reached the climax of long weeks of practice and training, long journeys to tryouts, and the trip across the ocean, with its submerging effect on clubs and individuals.

There is only one other moment in the life of an athlete to rival this assembly of the world's athletic teams for the opening of the games and that is when, after a victory, the national flag goes up and the nation's anthem is sung. The American flag went up for 24 first places, 21 seconds, and 17 thirds, making a total of 131 points. America made 17 new Olympic records, seven of which are world's records—the greatest number of Olympic and world's records ever achieved at one time in any set of games.

There has been much criticism concerning the management, but we must remember that every four years we have the same fault finding, and Los Angeles will undoubtedly come in for its share in 1932. The coaches who are making alibies now must remember that Amsterdam always has had a lot of rain, and did not have a rainy season just for our benefit, and we should remember that although we had a long journey, other countries had the same, and many of them will have to be weeks and months on the way in 1932. Of course there were mistakes. It was wrong to send the athletes over on a slow boat, but the biggest mistake was in allowing a number of coaches who had no connection with the games to go over on the same boat with the athletes. Still how can we expect a big undertaking of this kind to go over without criticism, when no two teams can come together for friendly contest without a scrap?

The Olympic Committee did their best, and while the boat trip was a hardship for the sprinters, the outfield men profited by the inactivity. Although our trainers must have realized that the limited space on a boat cannot be stretched to provide a field, a track, a swimming stadium, a boxing arena, wrestling facilities, shooting gallery, etc. nevertheless they were all enthusiastic—until after we lost some of our pet events. They had a right to kick, but the kick came rather late.

The organization of the Dutch Olympic Committee was excellent, and the co-operation extended admirable.

Living on the President Roosevelt had its disadvantages as well as advantages. The meals were excellent and by staying on board we did not have to undergo a change of food or cooking, but it rendered practice hard because we had that much farther to go to get to the stadiums. Some of the coaches have pointed out we had no tracks, fields, or swimming stadiums to which we could go for practice anyway. Personally I think the trip would have been less monotonous had we been stationed in Amsterdam at some good hotel.

The officers on board, co-operating with the entertainment committee, made the time pass quickly with contests, bridge, deck sports, dances and entertainments. There was very good talent among the athletes, and the programs were well arranged.

For the first time the girls were allowed to participate in the Olympic Games and while the points scored by the U. S. were few, they made a wonderful showing, when we remember the few years we have followed this branch of sport compared to the other countries.

It was a trip worthy of the time and effort; one that each participant will remember in all the years to come; full of good sportsmanship; and a conclave that fulfilled its purpose by uniting the nations into a closer bond of friendship.

ART
FOR THE COMPETITION AND THE EXHIBITION OF ARCHITECTURE

General Conditions

Art. 1. A competition of works by living architects belonging to the nations which have been invited to the Games of the IXth Olympiad will be held at Amsterdam. In conjunction with this competition there will be an exhibition of Art, to be held if possible within the grounds of the Stadium, from May 17th to August 12th, 1928.

Art. 2. Competitors may submit the following works for competition and exhibition:

- (a) Drawings on a scale of at least 1:200 for buildings, and at least 1:500 for grounds, drawings in detail on a larger scale may be added.
- (b) Water colour paintings.
- (c) Perspective drawings.
- (d) Casts.
- (e) Photographs of works which have been executed.

Only architectural designs will be admitted having as their object the practice of sport such as: stadia, sports grounds, playing grounds, covered in courts, club buildings, boat houses, gymnasia, swimming schools, etc. and which answer to high artistic requirements.

These designs will have to be packed flat, the photographs must not be smaller than 18x24 cm. (size of image) and must be stuck on cardboard.

Regulations for Despatch and Return of the Works of Art

Article III.

The works destined for the competition and the exhibition should be despatched personally by the artist to the Art Committee in the various countries to be nominated by the national Olympic Committees.

Each Art Committee is entitled to assemble within the scope of this regulation, a representative collection of its country's art. It will see that a careful selection is made by competent judges from the work sent in, thereby securing a high standard of art. Collections so selected will be admitted to the competition and the exhibition at Amsterdam.

As space is limited applications should be made as soon as possible by the national Committees to the Netherlands Olympic Committee.

Article IV.

Contributions by the National Olympic Committees should be addressed, to The Netherlands Olympic Committee (Art Branch), Weesperzijde 32, Amsterdam, and will be accepted from April 1st until May 1st, 1928. After this date no contributions will be accepted.

Article V.

The despatch and insurance of the national collections, both out and home, should be dealt with by the Olympic Committees of the countries of origin. As far as possible the N.O.C. will give its assistance and help, also for the return of the works after termination of the exhibition.

Works sent in for the competition and the exhibition will in no case be returned until after the closing of the Olympic Games.

Article VI.

All entries of works in the competition and the exhibition must be received by the N.O.C. by registered post not later than April 10th, 1928. The entrance forms and the labels to be attached to each exhibit will be supplied by the N.O.C. to the local O.C.

Composition and Powers of the Jury. Prizes.

Article VII.

The prizes will be awarded by an international jury, composed of members whose names will be published at a later date. Every possible measure will be taken to secure a satisfactory and expert award.

Article VIII.

The jury will make the awards as soon as possible and in any case before the closing of the Olympic Games. The decisions will be communicated by the General Secretary of the N.O.C. to the parties interested.

Article IX.

- The following prizes will be awarded:
1. Olympic silver-gilt medal with diploma.
 2. Olympic silver medal with diploma.
 3. Olympic bronze medal with diploma.

These awards will be made for:

- (a) The three best designs for town planning.
- (b) The three best architectural designs.

Only work of a very high standard will be eligible for an award

The jury is not obliged to award all the prizes.

Members of the jury may submit works for exhibition, but not for competition.

Catalogue of the Works of Art.

Article X.

It will be permitted to photograph and to reproduce the works of art, provided written consent has been obtained from the General Secretary of the N.O.C.

If competitors have any objection to their work being photographed or reproduced, they will have to state their objection on the form mentioned in Art. 6. In the absence of such a notice, they will be considered to have left the decision in the matter to the N.O.C.

Article XI.

A catalogue will be issued, both in Dutch and French and in this, all the works exhibited will be mentioned, together with the names and addresses of the artists.

Special Arrangements.Article XII.

The exhibition building will be arranged by the Art Branch. No inscriptions of a commercial nature will be permitted.

Article XIII.

Examinations by the Customs officials will take place in the aforesaid building.

Article XIV.

Entrants must submit unconditionally to these regulations and any regulations to be made hereafter, as also to any regulations made by the Netherlands police authorities and by the

In cases not provided for by these regulations the N.O.C. will decide in conjunction with the Art Branch.

Article XV.

The General Secretary's Office of the N.O.C. is charged with the execution and, if necessary, with the interpretation of these rules and regulations.

RULES AND REGULATIONS
FOR THE LITERARY COMPETITION*General ConditionsArticle I.*

A competition of literary work by living authors, belonging to the nations which have been invited to the Games of the IXth Olympiad, will be held at Amsterdam.

Article II.

Competitors may submit the following:

(a) Lyrics and contemplative works (as songs, vocal music, odes, hymns, cantatas, ballads, etc., lyric prose, essays, etc.).

(b) Dramatic works, (tragedies, plays, comedies, farces, librettos, open air plays, dialogues, scenario, etc.).

(c) Epic works (as romances, novels, heroic narrative poems, short stories, etc.).

Only works of which the contents relate to sport, which have not at any time competed at former Olympic Games, and which do not comprise more than 20,000 words will be allowed.

Regulations for the Despatch and Return of the Literary Works*Article III.*

The works destined for the competition should be despatched personally by the authors to the Art Committee in the various countries to be nominated by the National Olympic Committees.

Each Art Committee is entitled to assemble within the scope of this regulation, a representative collection of its country's art. It will see that a careful selection is made by competent judges of the works sent in, thereby securing a high standard of art.

This Jury will select the very best, but not more than nine works, at most three of each of the groups (a), (b) and (c) mentioned above, which will be sent in for the competition.

Article IV.

The contributions by the National Olympic Committees should be addressed to the Netherlands Olympic Committee (Art Branch), Weesperzijde 32, Amsterdam, and despatched so that they are received there before April 1st, 1928, with a list, in accordance with a specimen form to be supplied by the N.O.C. giving particulars of the works sent in. After that date no contributions will be accepted.

Article V.

Of each work four copies, typed or printed must be sent in, and in cases where the author wishes to remain unknown for the time being, they are to be distinguished by a motto, initials or marks, which are also to be supplied on the outside of a sealed envelope, which is required for each single work.

Each envelope must contain the name and address of the author so as to enable the names of the prize winners to be made known after the awards have been made.

Every contribution must be in the original language, but if forwarded to Amsterdam, must be accompanied by a summary of the contents in French, from which it will be apparent whether the subject answers to the requirements concerning its connection with sport.

Article VI.

The despatch and the insurance of the national contributions will have to be arranged by the Olympic Committees of the countries of origin.

The works will be returned by the N.O.C. to the O.C. concerned. Works sent in for the competition will in no case be returned until after the closing of the Olympic Games.

Composition and Powers of the Jury. Prizes.Article VII.

The prizes will be awarded by an international Jury, composed of members whose names will be published at a later date. Every possible measure will be taken to secure a satisfactory and expert award. The criticism of the literary merit will, as far as possible, be based on the text of the original language in which the work is written.

Article VIII.

The Jury will make their awards as soon as possible after the commencement, and in any case before the closing of the Olympic Games. The decisions will be communicated by the Secretary of the N. O.C. to the parties interested.

Article IX.

The following awards will be made:

1. Olympic silver-gilt medal with diploma.
2. Olympic silver medal with diploma.
3. Olympic bronze medal with diploma.

These three prizes may be awarded for works referred to in each of the three groups (a), (b) and (c) mentioned in Art. 2.

The jury is not obliged to make all these awards.

Article X.

The copyright of the works sent in is retained. The N.O.C. proposes in conjunction with the respective authors to promote as far as possible the publication of the works which have secured an award.

Article XI.

Entrants must submit unconditionally to these regulations, and to those to be made hereafter. In cases not provided for by these regulations, the N.O.C. will decide in conjunction with the Art Branch,

Article XII.

The General Secretary's Office of the N.O.C. is charged with the execution and if necessary with the interpretation of these rules and regulations.

Notice to Competitors.—As subjects relating to sport may be mentioned, for instance, literary work dealing with cycling, walking, horsemanship, sailing, rowing, skating, ski-ing, mountaineering, swimming, boxing, fencing, football, tennis, gymnastics, etc., even though these occupations do not form the chief subject of the work. As a matter of course the entire field of sport, and the idea of sport and of physical culture, generally or singly may be dealt with.

It should be mentioned here, that in this case sport is taken in the sense of free, non-professional physical culture and exertion.

Contributions by publishers and commercial undertakings will not be accepted.

General Conditions

Article I.

A competition of works by living composers belonging to the nations invited to the Games of the IXth Olympiad will be held in Amsterdam.

Article II.

Competitors may submit the following:

(a) Compositions of songs for one or more persons, with or without accompaniment of piano or orchestra.

(b) Compositions for one instrument, with or without accompaniment, and for chamber music (instrumental).

(c) Compositions for orchestra (string or mixed orchestra, wind band and brass band).

Only works inspired by sport, which have not at any time competed at former Olympic Games and the performance of which does not occupy more than an hour, will be allowed.

Regulations for the Despatch and Return of the Musical Works.

Article III.

Works destined for the competition should be sent in personally by the composer, to the Art Committees in the various countries to be nominated by the National Olympic Committees.

Each Art Committee is entitled to assemble within the scope of this regulation, a representative collection of its country's art. It will see that a careful selection is made by competent judges of the works sent in, thereby securing a high standard of art. The jury will select the very best, but not more than nine works, at most three of each of the groups (a), (b) and (c) mentioned above, which will then be sent in for the competition.

Article IV.

The contributions of the National Olympic Committees should be addressed to the Netherlands Olympic Committee (Art Branch), Weesperzijde 32, Amsterdam, and despatched so that they are received there before April 1st, 1928, with a list in accordance with a specimen form to be supplied by the N.O.C. giving particulars of the works sent in. After that date no contributions will be accepted.

Article V.

Of each work three copies must be sent in and, in cases where the author wishes to remain unknown for the time being, they are to be distinguished by a motto, initials or marks, which are also to be supplied on the outside of a sealed envelope, which is required for each single work. Each envelope must contain the name and the address of the composer to whom the work belongs, so as to enable the names of the prize winners to be made known after the awards have been made.

Songs in other languages should be accompanied by a summary of the text in French.

Article VI.

The despatch and the insurance of the national contributions will have to be arranged by the Olympic Committees of the countries of origin.

The works will be returned by the N.O.C. to the O.C. concerned. Works sent in for the competition will in no case be returned until after the closing of the Olympic Games,

Composition and Powers of the Jury. Prizes,

Article VII.

The prizes will be awarded by an international Jury, composed of members whose names will be published at a later date. Every possible measure will be taken to secure a satisfactory and expert award.

Article VIII.

The jury will make their awards as soon as possible after the commencement, and in any case before the closing of the Olympic Games. The decisions will be communicated by the Secretary of the N.O.C. to the parties interested.

Article IX.

The following awards will be made:

1. Olympic silver-gilt medal with diploma.
2. Olympic silver medal with diploma.
3. Olympic bronze medal, with diploma.

These three prizes may be awarded for works referred to in each of the three groups (a), (b) and (c), mentioned in Art. 2.

The jury is not obliged to award all the nine prizes,

Members of the Jury making the awards may not compete.

Article X.

The copyright of the works sent in is retained. The N.O.C. proposes in conjunction with the respective composers, to promote as far as possible the publication of the works which have secured an award.

Article XI.

Entrants must submit unconditionally to these regulations and to those to be made hereafter. In cases not provided for by these regulations, the N.O.C. will decide in conjunction with the Art Branch.

Article XII.

The General Secretary's Office of the N.O.C. is charged with the execution and, if necessary with the interpretation of these rules and regulations.

Notice to Competitors.—It is intended to interpret very liberally the connection between sport and music; a composition inspired by a heroic personage for instance would be a very welcome subject for a composer. A spirited march for the piano, for wind or brass instruments may be of value, just as community songs, and simple choirs for young and old sportsmen.

Larger works for choir and orchestra, technically and in spirit suitable to be performed either in the grounds or in the Stadium, etc. will be readily accepted.

Contributions by publishers and commercial undertakings will not be received.

RULES AND REGULATIONS
FOR THE COMPETITION AND EXHIBITION OF PAINTINGS.

General Conditions.Article I.

A competition of works by living painters belonging to the nations which have been invited to the Games of the IXth Olympiad will be held in Amsterdam. In conjunction with this competition there will be an exhibition of Art, to be held if possible within the grounds of the Stadium, from May 17th to August 12th, 1928,

Article II.

Competitors may submit the following works for competition and exhibition:

- (a) Paintings (in oils, on canvas or on panels).
- (b) Drawings (on paper, or similar material, in one or more colours).
- (c) Graphic art, (engravings, lithographs, etc.)

Only works representing subjects relating to sport and sporting events, which answer to high artistic requirements, and which have not been exhibited at any previous Olympic Games, will be allowed.

Regulations for Despatch and Return of the Works of Art.Article III.

The works destined for the competition and for the exhibition should be despatched personally by the artist to the Art Committee in his country to be nominated by the National Olympic Committees.

Each Art Committee is entitled to assemble within the scope of these regulations, a representative collection of its country's art. It will also see that a careful selection is made by competent judges from the works sent in thereby securing a high standard of art. Collections thus selected will be admitted to the competition and exhibition at Amsterdam.

As space is limited applications should be made as soon as possible by the National Committees to the Netherlands Olympic Committee.

Article IV.

The contributions of the various National Olympic Committees should be addressed to the Netherlands Olympic Committee (Art Branch), Weesperzijde 32, Amsterdam, and will be accepted from April 1st until May 1st, 1928. After this date no contributions will be accepted.

Article V.

The despatch and insurance of the national collections, both out and home, must be arranged for by the Olympic Committees of the countries of origin. As far as possible the N.O.C. will give its assistance and help, also for the return of the works of art after termination of the exhibition.

Works sent in for the competition and the exhibition will in no case be returned until after the closing of the Olympic Games.

Article VI.

All entries for the art competition and the exhibition must be received by the N.O.C. by registered post not later than April 10th, 1928. The entrance forms and the labels to be attached to the paintings, will be supplied by the N.O.C. to the local O.C.

Composition and Powers of the Jury. Prizes.Article VII.

The prizes will be awarded by an international jury, composed of members whose names will be published at a later date. Every possible measure will be taken to secure a satisfactory and expert award.

Article VIII.

The jury will make the awards as soon as possible and in any case before the closing of the Olympic Games. The decisions will be communicated by the General Secretary of the N.O.C. to the parties interested.

Article IX.

The following awards will be made:

1. Olympic silver-gilt medal with diploma.
2. Olympic silver medal with diploma.
3. Olympic bronze medal with diploma.

These awards will be made for:

- (a) The three best paintings.
- (b) The three best drawings.
- (c) The three best examples of graphic art, as mentioned in Art. 2 of these rules.

Only work of a very high standard will be eligible for an award. The jury is not obliged to award all the prizes.

It is permissible to enter works for exhibiting purposes only.

Members of the jury may submit works for exhibition, but not for competition.

Catalogue of the Works of Art.

Article X.

It will be permitted to photograph and to reproduce the works of art, provided written consent has been obtained from the General Secretary of the N.O.C.

If competitors have any objection to their work being photographed or reproduced, they will have to state their objection on the form mentioned in Art. 6. In the absence of any such notice of objection, they will be considered to have left the decision; in the matter to the N.O.C.

Article XI.

A catalogue will be issued, both in Dutch and French and in this, all the works exhibited will be mentioned, together with the names and addresses of the artists.

Special Arrangements.

Article XII.

The exhibition building will be arranged by the Art Branch of the N.O.C. No inscription of a commercial nature will be permitted.

Article XIII.

Examinations by the Customs officials will take place in the aforesaid building.

Article XIV.

Entrants must submit unconditionally to these regulations and any regulations to be made hereafter, as also to any regulations made by the Netherlands police authorities and by the N.O.C.

In cases not provided for by these regulations the N.O.C. will decide in conjunction with the Art Branch.

Article XV.

The General Secretary's Office of the N.O.C. is charged with the execution and, if necessary, with the interpretation of these rules and regulations.

Notice to Competitors.—The N.O.C. considers it advisable to put the requirements of the Art level of entries on as high a plane as possible, and counts on the co-operation of the large Artists' Associations in each country.

It is proposed to interpret very liberally the connection between sport and art. For example, besides the works of art representing a direct illustration of sport, there will be also admissible—in imitation of the ancient Greeks—representations of the perfectly developed human body. This will have to be preferably in a sporting attitude, but attitudes of rest after bodily exercise need not be excluded. Portraits in connection with sport, as for instance In sports dress, and of leaders of sport may be accepted. A high standard of art must, however, be maintained as a primary condition for all entries.

In order to ensure the co-operation of artists, the N.O.C. will act as intermediary for the sale of works of art at the Exhibition, at a price in Dutch guilders to be stated on the form of entry, by the artist in question. No charge will be made for this service.

It must also be stated on the form of entry if the sender does not wish to compete for a prize; anyone not making this reservation will be considered as competing.

Entries from art dealers or industrial undertakings will not be accepted.

The collections formed by a National Committee must be within the limits of the space placed at their disposal after consultation.

Frames containing more than one drawing or engraving, may not be more than 1.20 M. in length. Each frame will count as one exhibit.

Artists wishing reproductions of their work to appear in the catalogue are requested to add photographs to the form of entry relating to their work as mentioned in Art. 6. From these photographs, which must be suitable for reproduction, the compilers of the catalogue will make a selection.

In cases where this explanatory notice may not be sufficiently explicit, the N.O.C. (Art Branch) will be pleased to give further particulars.

RULES AND REGULATIONS OF THE COMPETITION AND THE EXHIBITION OF SCULPTURE.

General Conditions.

Article I.

A competition of works by living sculptors belonging to the nations which have been invited to the Games of the IXth Olympiad will be held in Amsterdam. In conjunction with this competition there will be an Exhibition of Art, to be held if possible within the grounds of the Stadium, from May 17th to August 12th, 1928.

REPORT OF MANAGER OF BOXING TEAM
JACOB W. STUMPF

In submitting to you my report I am sincerely grieved that I am not able to state that we have had first place winners. This, however, is not the fault of the coaching or training of the boys. In my humble opinion it is the fault of the World against America and also to what I firmly believe the worst judging and refereeing in my experience with boxing.

From the time we left New York our boys have had two sessions daily under Coach Spike Webb. The team responded cheerfully to every order of Coach and Trainer and at the time of competition were in very good physical condition. We were, however, handicapped slightly by the fact that the boys were unable to do road work in and about Amsterdam; this was somewhat overcome by calisthenics on board ship.

In actual competition our boys were seriously handicapped by the fact that the referee works outside the ring, whereas in the United States our referee works inside. This gave a decided advantage to the boxers of Continental Europe who have always had the Referee issue his orders and commands from the outside. This, however, will not prevail at the next Olympiad as the Boxing Federation has passed a rule whereby the Referee works inside the ring.

On the evening of the first day of competition our Fly-weight Hyman Miller performed in great style. The judges' however, decided against him, much to the surprise of the audience.

Our Bantamweight, John L. Daley, took second place in his class. He performed in marvellous style throughout his bouts and in my opinion should have been adjudged the winner of his class. He surely showed American grit and game-ness in his final bout when he performed with injured arms.

Our Featherweight, Harry Devine, took third place in his class. Another one of those weird decisions kept him from the final bout. In his last bout he performed with a broken knuckle.

Our Lightweight, Stephen Halaiko, took second place in his class. The decision against him in the final bout was one of the worst ever given in an amateur tournament. If ever a man won he certainly won his bout and the decision against him was one of the surprises of the competition.

Our Welterweight, Thomas Lown, was, before the competition, one of our best bets. For some unexplainable reason he did not perform at his usual gait.

Our Middleweight, Harry Henderson was in a similar state as our Welterweight and could not get going.

Our Light Heavyweight, Leon Lucas, was defeated in his first bout and was a disappointment as we believed we had a winner in him.

Our Heavyweight, Al Kaletchetz, lost in his first bout by a knockout, one of the few of the tournament.

In concluding this report I desire to extend to Coach Webb and Trainer Al. Lacy, Assistant Manager, B. Levine, my sincere thanks for their whole hearted assistance, thereby lightening my labors, also, to Mr. Charles L. Diehm, of New York, one of our boxing Officials who during the training period of our athletes greatly encouraged them and making their work pleasant, assisting wherever possible.

My suggestions for future Olympic competitions are as follows:

In the Olympic years I suggest that the Olympic Tryouts be held later than they were this year. The competitions should be held about 2 or 3 weeks prior to sailing of Olympic Competitors.

In Olympic Sectional Tryouts the United States should be divided in 6 divisions according to easy rail-road facilities. Each winner, along with the winner of the Inter-Collegiate Boxing Association and the winner of the Amateur Athletic Union Championships should be permitted to compete for the honor of representing America in Olympic Competitions.

REPORT OF ASSISTANT MANAGER OF BOXING TEAM BEN LEVINE

I wish to report the improvement in Olympic boxing. It was surprising to see the number of entries from countries for the first time competing in Olympic boxing. The competition was very keen. Only, three bouts in the entire tournament did not go the full three rounds. Our team trained faithfully and was in very good shape altho we were disappointed in the final results, John Daley and Stephen Halaiko finishing second and Harold Devine receiving third prize.

All of our boxers competed under a disadvantage, the referee sitting outside the ring. With a little better judging, I feel sure we would have had two or three winners.

I cannot close my report without mentioning the very poor decision rendered against Hyman Miller of Los Angeles in the flyweight class against Marcel Sartos of Belgium.

I am pleased to report that at a meeting of the International Boxing Federation, the United States representatives consisting of J. W. Stumpf, Charles L. Diehm and myself, were successful in having a rule passed so that the referee will be stationed in the ring at future Olympic competition. Another good rule passed, in my opinion, was that competitors will hereafter weigh in stripped and not with their uniforms.

REPORT OF COACH OF BOXING TEAM
H. M. "SPIKE" WEBB

Sixteen boxers assembled in New York City on July 6th to begin training for the Olympic Games. Five days later we boarded the "President Roosevelt" and were off for Amsterdam. Training on ship board began on July 12th and continued until August 7th, the day of the beginning of Olympic boxing competition. We trained twice daily-except Sundays—aboard ship. In the morning there was running—jogging around the deck—medicine ball, and setting-up exercises. In the afternoon there was bag punching, dummy punching, shadow boxing, and actual boxing between the regulars and the substitutes. Cool weather and regularity of training tended to make our boxers gain weight, necessitating hard work to bring them down to proper weight for competition. We were very fortunate in coming through our hard training siege with only one injury, that to Herbst, substitute middleweight. All our competitors entered the ring in excellent physical condition. We weighed in on the morning of August 7th, and everyone made weight without trouble.

Our boxers had been taught to fight cleanly, to break quickly in the clinches, and to step out of clinches without hitting on the break. They had been taught not to hold or butt, not to hit with the open glove, and not to use the rabbit punch. This style of boxing was taught our men because previous experience in Olympic boxing, at Antwerp and Paris had shown it to be necessary for success. In the Amsterdam Olympic contests we were shocked to find that the strict and proper boxing rules in force at Antwerp and Paris were forgotten, and every imaginable foul tactic allowed instead. As a result, our boxers, who had been trained to fight cleanly, were at a distinct disadvantage, for the foreigners fouled continually, even to the extent of butting, and were not disqualified, as had been the practice in Antwerp and Paris. The judges, referees and other officials seemed to be in a state of confusion. They could not agree on a uniform interpretation of the rules. The American, Canadian, British, South African and Argentine officials scored bouts according to proper Olympic rules, which forbid illegal hitting in clinches and in breakaways, the use of the rabbit punchy etc. The European officials, on the other hand, as if by common agreement, permitted all these foul methods of boxing, not maliciously, but apparently because of incompetency. They apparently did not have the boxing knowledge necessary for good officiating. Despite these adverse conditions in judging, our boxers were quick to learn to protect themselves in the infighting, and against foul punching. Of the 31 nations competing, we finished third to Italy, the team winner, and Argentine, the runner-up. This, we feel, was a splendid showing, since Olympic boxing competition this year was keener than ever before.

The morale of our team was excellent. Good comradeship prevailed. The boxers followed thoroughly every instruction. Manager Jacob W. Stumpf, Assistant Manager Ben Levine, and Trainer Al Lacey did everything possible for the welfare of the team, working untiringly and with enthusiasm and whole-heartedness. The substitutes, too, worked unselfishly to help get the regulars in good condition. They are to be commended for their valuable assistance.

Stephen Halaiko, our lightweight, was the first American to fight. He defeated Potsch, of Czechoslovakia, in the first bout of the tournament, winning in the third round when his opponent was disqualified by the referee for continuous fouling. Halaiko had won the first two rounds very easily.

The same evening the first of the five unfair decisions given against our boxers was rendered. Hyman Miller, our flyweight, easily outboxed and outpointed Sartos, of Belgium, for three rounds, but to the great surprise of everyone present the decision was given the Belgian. Ired by the unfair decision, the Americans, and almost everyone else in the arena, jeered, hissed and even cursed the officials, so that the police had to be called to quiet them. Miller was carried from the ring on the shoulders of his fellow Americans.

On the evening of August 10th, in the quarter-final round, our second big surprise came when Harry Henderson, our middleweight, met and defeated Hermanek, of Czechoslovakia, and the officials gave the decision to Hermanek. Henderson had won the first two rounds with ease by clean punching, while his opponent had held continuously, wrestled, hit in the clinches, and made use of almost every possible foul punch. In the final round Hermanek was warned four times by the referee for foul hitting, yet he was given the decision.

The following evening we were the victims of another atrocious decision, which made Olympic boxing history. John Daley, our bantamweight, fought Isaacs, of South Africa. The bout was no contest. Daley pummelled the South African all around the ring, and several times had him on the verge of a knockout. But when the decision was announced it was for the South African. This was too much for the Americans present, as well as for most of the other spectators and they started a demonstration never equalled in Olympic history, with the result that after several minutes it was announced that the officials had erred in counting the ballots, and that Daley, instead of the South African, was the winner.

The climax of the horrible decisions against the Americans came in the finals, fought on August 11th. First, Daley met Tamagnini, of Italy, for the bantamweight championship. The bout was very close, with Daley scoring the cleaner and more effective punches, but the Italian was given the decision. Then Halaiko met Orlandi, of Italy, for the lightweight championship. Halaiko did all the leading, countered well against the frequent rushes of his opponent, and won all three rounds by wide margins. Yet the decision was awarded to the Italian. This was too much for the crowd, which for over ten minutes hooted and jeered at the officials. Newspaper men at the ringside agreed that the decision was the most atrocious in their experience.

Regarding the trip as a whole, we feel that it was a great success. The accommodations and treatment given us by the American Olympic Committee, ably headed by Major General Douglas MacArthur, were the finest possible. Every effort was made to satisfy everyone affiliated with the team. We are proud to say that our sportsmanlike boxing brought very favorable comment from the representatives of the 31 nations gathered in Amsterdam for the Olympic boxing. This means more to us than titles and championships. We hope that in order to preserve Olympic boxing the sad conditions prevalent at Amsterdam will be forever removed from Olympic competition. Instead of the spirit of international good will, which is the principal idea behind the Olympic Games, we found at Amsterdam ill-feeling among the nations competing in the boxing contests. Let us hope that at Los Angeles in 1932 all petty prejudices will be forgotten, and that the Olympic Games will help to bring the competing nations to a better and more friendly understanding of one another.

REPORT OF TRAINER OF BOXING TEAM AL LACY

The boxers, 16 in number, chosen as the best in the nation, gathered in New York and sailed aboard the S. S. Roosevelt on July 11 for Amsterdam, Holland.

Conditions aboard the ship were ideal as to quarters, food and training facilities. The ship was equipped with first class paraphernalia for the boxers, including a ring, gloves, bags, ropes and everything that was necessary for the boys to get into the best of condition for the Games.

The boxers' were very conscientious workers, followed through their daily routine and obeyed orders and took suggestions from Manager Stumpf, Assistant Manager Ben Levine, Coach Webb and myself. Good feeling prevailed throughout the entire trip among the boxers.

We met very stiff competition this year and found that the contenders from other countries had made rapid strides forward in the game and in the future must be taken more seriously.

The officiating at the bouts was very poor. We received three exceptionally bad decisions, namely: Hymie Miller, fly-weight, who lost the decision which he rightfully deserved to a Belgian; Johnny Daley, a bantamweight, and Steve Halaiko, lightweight, who lost to Italian opponents.

Not only did we suffer in the matter of bad decisions, but practically every other country in the competition suffered in the same way.

I would like to make a suggestion at this time that the boxers or any athletes who have to make weight be put on a training table diet. The diet of the last trip was anything but proper for the boxers and consequently four of our boys had to go down in the steam room of the ship the day before to make the required weight for the tournament.

RULES GOVERNING BOXING COMPETITION

BOXING AMATEUR DEFINITION OF THE "FEDERATION INTERNATIONALE DE BOXE AMATEUR"

Art. 1. An amateur is one who has never competed for a money prize, staked bet or declared wager, who has not competed with or against a professional for any prize (except with the express sanction of the Amateur Boxing Association of the nation of which he is a member), and who has never taught, pursued or assisted in the practice of athletic exercises as a means of obtaining a livelihood or pecuniary gain.

The following are athletic exercises: Baseball, Bowling, Boxing, Cycling, Cricket, Fencing, Football, Golf, Gymnastics, Handball, Fives, Hockey, Hurdle Racing, Jumping, Lacrosse, Lawn and Court Tennis, Polo, Pole Jumping, Putting the Shot, Quoits, Racquets, Rowing, Running, Skating, Swimming, Throwing the Cricket Ball, Discus, Hammer or Javelin, Tug of War, Walking, Wrestling, Water Polo.

Art. 2. The amateur definition of each affiliated Association shall be binding on members of the Clubs affiliated to such Association, whether at home or abroad.

Any boxer wishing to compete in a country to which he does not belong must be certified in writing or by license as being an amateur by a responsible official of the affiliated Amateur Boxing Association of the Country to which he belongs.

Art. 3. That a boxer having broken the Amateur Laws knowingly, and thereby become a professional, cannot be re-qualified as an amateur.

CYCLING

TEAM

Manager—Emile Fraysse, Ridgefield Park, N. J.
Charles Westerholm, New York City Peter Smessaert, Chicago, Ill.
Henry O'Brien, San Jose, Cal. Chester Nelson, St. Louis, Mo.

REPORT OF MANAGER OF THE CYCLING TEAM

E. E. FRAYSSE

The following is the report of the trip of the American Cycling Team to the IXth Olympiad in Amsterdam, Holland in 1928.

On July 11th, four American cyclists in charge of the writer, sailed from New York on the S. S. "President Roosevelt" of the American line. The cyclists who were entered in the 165 Kilometer road race were: Henry O'Brien of San Jose, California; Chester Nelsen, St. Louis, Mo.; Peter Smessaert, Chicago, Illinois and Charles Westerholm of New York.

We landed at Amsterdam July 20th after having spent about ten days crossing the ocean. The weather on the trip was ideal which gave the boys a chance to do some light training. It was almost impossible for them to ride around the track, which had been built on the deck of the ship, on account of so many using same. However, they would get up at 5 A. M. and ride until 7 A. M. This kept their legs somewhat in shape as to pedal motion but far from giving them speed.

Immediately upon arriving, the course of the race was ascertained and the riders were taken over the full course in order to familiarize themselves with same and from then on they seriously and conscientiously trained, riding from 25 to 50 miles per day and on two occasions rode the full course.

The riders as a team finished in 15th place. This might appear as a poor showing but if we will consider that our team had been trained on the finest roads of the world and then had to compete on a course that had many miles of cobblestones and gravel roads that were filled with ruts and sharp stones that caused much tire trouble; also on foreign land with different climate to contend with, their showing does not appear so bad to those who understand the obstacles the riders had to meet.

With the experience gained by Mr. McIntyre, Manager of the 1924 Olympic Team, together with that gained by the writer in the 1928 Games, the Amateur Bicycle League of America, the controlling body of the amateur road riders, hope to develop a winning team for the 1932 Olympics.

REPORT OF MANAGER, EQUESTRIAN TEAM

BRIG. GEN'L WALTER C. SHORT

It is recommended that action be taken to institute a systematic preparation for the 1932 American Equestrian Team, with as little delay as practicable. This is the custom of European Nations that have had uniform success in their competitions.

RULES GOVERNING EQUESTRIAN SPORTS
DEFINITION OF AN AMATEUR BY THE FEDERATION EQUESTRE
INTERNATIONALE

1. An officer on the active service list.
2. Anyone who rides a horse solely for sport, and who is recognized as a gentleman by the regulations of the Equestrian Societies or Committees of his country, and on condition that he does not belong to any of the categories laid down in the definition of a professional.

DEFINITION OF A PROFESSIONAL

Everyone is considered a professional who deals in horses, who hires, rides, trains, or works his horses or causes them to be worked for money.
 Owners, employees, trainers, grooms, of Tattersalls, of riding schools, circuses and stables, are considered professionals.

EQUESTRIAN SPORTS—FROM AUGUST 9TH TO AUGUST 12TH, 1928

The general list of competitions in which each Nation will take part will be accepted up to June 28th, 1928.

The list of individual entries will be accepted up to July 19th, 1928.

Alterations of the entries will be received up to July 30th, 1928; and the name of the horses, 48 hours before the day of the competition.

Costume.—For officers: undress uniform. For gentlemen: hunting costume, or jacket with white breeches, silk hat or hunting cap.

Weight.—75 Kilos, except for training events where there is no limit.

Saddlery.—As desired, except in schoolriding contests, where bit and bridle are obligatory. All artificial aids, such as martingales, etc., are prohibited in this same contest, as well as bandages and brushing boots.

Obstacles.—The kind of jumps (the third event in the Equestrian Championship competition and Prix des Nations) will not in future be communicated in advance, nor printed in the regulations. No country or competitor will be informed before the day of the contests.

I. COMPETITION FOR THE EQUESTRIAN CHAMPIONSHIP

Contest by Teams 3 Competitors per nation: 1 rider and Contest by Individuals 1 horse can be entered as a reserve.

For the final classification the points obtained by the three competitors of each nation will be counted.

Contests by Teams—Prizes

First Prize: Diploma to winning team; silver gilt Olympic medal and diploma to each member of team.

Second Prize: Diploma to second team; silver Olympic medal and diploma to each member of team.

Third Prize: Diploma to third team; bronze Olympic medal and diploma to each member of team.

Contests by Individuals—Prizes

First Prize: Silver gilt Olympic medal and diploma.

Second Prize: Silver Olympic medal and diploma.

Third Prize: Bronze Olympic medal and diploma.

The prizes are awarded to the riders and not to the owners of the horses.

SPECIAL ARRANGEMENTS

The Equestrian Championship is composed of three distinct contests, which will be run on three consecutive days.

First day: Training competition

Second day: Endurance test

Third day: Jumping competition

During the contests, it is forbidden for members of the team to accept help, to jump ob stacles in pairs, to be led by another member of the team, or to ride over the track on horseback before the contests. A premeditated fraud, duly reported, leads to disqualification.

Before the training and the jumping contests, the horses are examined by an international commission composed of three members: a superior officer or a qualified civilian of the organizing country shall act as President, and the two members drawn by lot, from among the officials. To this commission shall be added as a consultant a military veterinary surgeon, who must belong to the organizing country.

This commission shall, on its own responsibility, and without appeal, prevent from taking part in the last contest only:

1. Horses who have been indisputably over-ridden.

2. Horses who are, for any reason whatsoever, seriously lame.

All the others can continue to take part in the Competitions at the wish of their rider, and will be classified.

FIRST EVENT: TRAINING

This test is intended to show the suppleness of the horse and its docility in response to the rider's aids (good free action and light in the hand).

Each rider must do the whole of the work imposed, and the movements must follow one another in succession.

Every omission of a set exercise is penalized in accordance with the list drawn up, and the Judges may require such omissions to be done at the end of the work, but no marks will be given.

Each contestant will have eleven minutes in which to do his work, the time being counted from after the salute to the Judges.

Any concurrent, who has not finished his performance in the fixed time, will be penalized by two points for each second exceeding the time allowed for finishing his work.

Marks will be scored in accordance with the table hereafter.

The track will be 60 meters long and 20 meters wide, the middle line and the center being distinctly marked.

If weather conditions make it necessary, the Training Contest will be held in a riding school. Under no pretext will any competitor be allowed to practise on the track before the competition.

The marks to be given for each movement are according to the table in such a made out way as to give a total of 300 points (20 x 15).

Elementary Riding-School Entrance

Time allowed: 11 minutes

Rider comes in at any gait he chooses.

Follow middle of track; halt at G facing the judges; salute.

A. Work at walk

Walk march loose reins, right rein. At point A bend round to middle line; collect the horse and go straight ahead.

Change of hand again, holding the haunches from D to B and from B to G.

At G halt; stand; the horse straight on all four.

Go forward walking, right rein.

At F "demi-volte" (3 meters radius).

At M "demi-volte" (3 meters radius); right rein.

From F to M. Post to the trot.

B. Work at Trot

Quicken and slacken the trot going successively from slow to fast trot and vice versa during 1½ turn.

From M to F—Normal trot (seated trot).

From F to H—Fast trot (posting).

From H to B—Slow trot (seated trot).

From B to A—Normal trot (seated trot).

When on a line with A, turn on the central side and change of hand again, holding the haunches, from D to E and from E to G.

At G halt stand.

Go forward walking. On right rein. Trot and at point B canter on the right leg.

C. Work at Canter

At A—Turn on the central line.

At D—Wheel around on right side in a radius of 3 meters, coming to a trot the moment the turn is made. When arriving at centerpoint, break to a canter on left leg.

At G—Wheel around on left side in a radius of 3 meters.

At M—Demi-volte on the left leg.
 At B—Walk.
 At F—Break to a canter on right leg.
 At K—Halt; break to a canter on right leg.
 At H—Halt; rein back four steps; canter on right leg.
 From M to A—Galop.
 From A to H—Canter.
 From H to F—Galop.
 From F to H—Canter.
 At H—Demi-volte on the right leg.
 At E—Walk.
 At K—Canter on left leg.
 At A—Turn at canter and face the jury. Halt at center point. Stand, Loose reins. Salute

The Judge,

(1) Note: Any movement omitted must be unmarked.
 Any concurrent, who has not finished his performance in the fixed time, will be penalized by two points for each second exceeding the time allowed for finishing his work.

SECOND CONTEST: ENDURANCE TEST

This test tends to show the endurance of a really good, well trained charger or hunter, when in the best condition.

At the same time it brings out the rider's knowledge of his mount and of how to use it to the best advantage.

The test consists of riding 36 km., partly on roads and pathways, partly cross country and partly over a steeple-chase course.

The distance is made up as follows:

A. On roads and pathways about 7 km. (4 1/3 miles); to be done at a speed of 240 m. to the minute, that is 29 minutes 10 seconds.

B. Steeple chase about 4 km.; to be done at a speed of 600 m. to the minute, that is 6 minutes 40 seconds.

C. Roads about 15 km.; to be done at a speed of 240 m. to the minute, that is in 1 hour 2 minutes 30 seconds.

D. Cross country with jumps about 8 km.; to be done at a speed of 450 m. to the minute, that is 17 minutes 46 seconds.

E. On the flat 2 km, at a canter; to be done at a speed of 333m. to the minute, that is 6 minutes.

Penalties

Coefficients are applied to all penalty calculations.

There will be a penalty of half a point for each five seconds lost during any of the sections of the test (roads, steeplechase, cross country), which will then be multiplied by the coefficient.

The distances ridden on roads A., C. and E., must be done at the speed indicated for each of them. Penalties for one of these sections cannot be compensated by bonuses in others.

Each competitor receives 20 points for the three distances A., C. and E. Penalties incurred in any of the three sections are subtracted from this figure, and the remainder is then multiplied by the coefficient 10. The amount obtained gives the number of points.

Example

- A. 15 seconds behind time..... 1.50 penalty
- B. 25 seconds behind time..... 2.50 penalty
- E. 10 seconds before time..... — no bonus

Total..... 4.00 points penalty

20—4/16 x 10, that is 160 points for the three distances on roads.

In the steeple chase and in the cross country the mistakes in jumping must be added to the time-penalties and will be calculated according to the rules, the result being multiplied by the coefficients as given.

Bonuses

There are no bonuses for time gained on the road courses.

In the steeplechase and cross country courses bonuses are given in accordance with the attached tables, in the reckoning of which the coefficients 25 and 35 are used.

In the Steeplechase Course a bonus of two points (coefficient of 25 included) will be granted for a speed of 624 m. per minute, which means that the 4,000 m. are ridden in 6 minutes 25 seconds, and further for 5 seconds gained in accordance with the first table on the list (see table).

In the Cross Country Course a bonus of two points (coefficient of 35 included) will be granted for a speed of 477 m. per minute, which means that the 8,000 m. are covered in 16 minutes 46 seconds, and further for 10 seconds gained, in accordance with the 2nd table on the list given.

The maximum bonus possible in the Steeplechase course is 20 points (706 meters per minute); the Cross country course is 44 points (602 meters per minute).

Jumping Mistakes

In the Cross country and Steeplechase sections the fall of a rider is penalized by 10 points.

The fall of the horse and rider is penalized by 6 points.

A first halt, refusal or breaking out at a jump is penalized by 2 points.

A second halt, refusal or breaking out at the same jump: 6 points.

A third halt, refusal or breaking out at the same jump leads to disqualification.

For mistakes in the course, which the competitor notices and rectifies immediately, the penalty is the loss of time involved.

For all mistakes which are not rectified by the competitor, or which lead to the omission of a jump, the penalty is disqualification.

If, on account of the condition of the ground, it is necessary to reverse the order of the different training tests, the speeds and distances shown above remain the same.

Each competitor will receive the day preceding the test, a map showing the route to be followed, which will be marked by men on horseback or flags.

The competitors in the cross country test will be taken over the course beforehand. This route will include 30 to 35 jumps.

Obstacles, which will be natural, such as hedges, ditches, farm gates, brooks, streams, on and off a road, etc., must be jumped between two flags, and will have a maximum height of about 1 m. 15 and a maximum width of 4 meters.

THIRD EVENT: JUMPING

This third part is not a contest of the kind usually demanded at international meetings, but is intended merely to demonstrate that, on the day after a severe effort, the horses entered, retain that degree of suppleness and energy which enables the good charger or hunter to continue in service.

The 12 obstacles will be a fair distance apart, without "taquets," framed in, massive, imposing by their shape and appearance, and resembling as much as possible those met with in the country without being absolutely solid. The route will be strewn with guiding difficulties such as halts; half turns.

They will include:

One double obstacle, such as a road.

Four obstacles being exactly 1 meter 15 in height (46 inches).

If possible 1 ditch 3 meters in width (9 feet 10 inches) with straight edges.

Six obstacles (open ditch, brook, cross bar on a bank, wall, oxer, "double" bank, etc., to be decided by the Organizing Committee).

The height of straight obstacles will vary between 1m. 10 and 1 m. 15. They will be chosen from among those mentioned above (the width of the open ditches will not exceed 2 m., that of the streams 3 m. 50 of water).

The speed required in this canter will be 375 meters a minute. A faster speed will not be taken into account, while the rider shall be penalized half a point for each two seconds lost.

All faults are penalized in accordance with the rules laid down by the International Federation.

Fall of the rider alone 10 points

The 3rd refusal, halt or breaking out, either in front of the same obstacle or during the course of the competition disqualification

- The 3rd refusal on the track, but away from the obstacles id.
- The fall of the horse and the rider 6 points
- The 2nd refusal, halt or breaking out, either in front of the same obstacle or during the course of the competition 6 points
- The 2nd refusal on the track, but away from the obstacles 6 points
- Knocking over a jump with the front leg 4 points
- Front legs in the water 4 points
- The 1st refusal, halt or breaking out in front of the obstacle 2 points
- The 1st refusal on the track, but away from the obstacles 2 points
- Knocking over a jump with hind legs 2 points
- Hind legs in the water 2 points
- Mistakes in the course 2 points
- If, in jumping, the rider or horse knocks over the standards, the wings or the flag setting of the obstacle, it will be counted as a break out, and the jump done again as soon as the obstacle has been put in place again. The same applies if a horse knocks down an obstacle with its chest, when halting and refusing to jump or slipping.
- In double or triple obstacles, the Judge must note down all the results, whatever they may be
- If a horse stops or breaks out between the obstacles, double or triple, he must try the jump again from between the two obstacles.
- In mixed obstacles, such as double bars, streams or ditches preceded or followed by another jump, only the most important fault is counted.
- If the horse gets off the track, he is disqualified.
- All doubtful points will be decided in accordance with the rules of the French National Federation, adopted by the International Federation.

COEFFICIENTS AND THE ALLOTMENT OF MARKS

The marks in each different event in the Equestrian Championship will be based on a scale of 0 to 20, and multiplied by the following coefficients:

		Coefficient
1st Test:	Training	15 =	300 points
2nd Test:	Cross country	35 =	700 points
	Steeplechase	25 =	500 points
	On roads	10 =	200 points
3rd Test:	Jumping	15 =	300 points
			100 = 2000 points

1. The training is marked movement by movement in accordance with the established table, which gives a total of 300 points (20 x 15).

To facilitate the work of each Judge, the following procedure is carried out: All movements are marked by each Judge from 0 to 10. The figure thus obtained is multiplied by the number which appears on the established table, which is then divided by 10. This result is inserted in the column headed "points obtained;" this is the only figure which counts in the adding up of the marks, and in the classification.

Example:

Movement 10 of the training test (changing of hand from D to E)—the maximum allowed is 14.
 The Judge puts 8.
 This figure is multiplied by 14 = 112, then this result is divided by 10, the result being 11.2.
 The rider has 11.2 for this movement.

2. In the second competition (endurance test) each rider starts in each part of the competition with a maximum of 20 points. From this total of 20 all the penalties are taken; the result obtained is multiplied by the coefficient of the test, to which are added the bonuses according to the tables laid down. Thus the number of points gained is obtained on the road, in the steeplechase and in the cross country.

In a case where a negative total is arrived at in any one competition, the total of these minus points is deducted from the general total.

Example:

On the Road. —Total number of points obtained	160 points
In the Steeplechase. —1 fall of the rider	10 points
1 break out	2 points
12 seconds behind time (1)	1 point
Total	13 points
in penalties, which gives:
21—13 = 7 x 2.5	175 points
In the Cross Country. —2 refusals at two different obstacles	4 points—penalties
80 seconds gained	6 points—bonus which gives:
20—4 = 16 x 35 = 560 + 6	566 points
The rider has obtained in the endurance test	901 points

3. The same applies to the jumping. Each rider starts with the maximum of 20, from which is taken faults at the jumps and between the jumps and penalties for loss of time, the coefficient in this case being 15.

Example:

Fall of horse and rider..... 6 points
6 seconds late..... 1½ points

20—7.5 = 12.50 x 15 187.50 points
7 ½ points—penalties

(1) Note.—Seven seconds behind time is penalized by half a point; four seconds behind time is not penalized; etc.

II. INDIVIDUAL TRAINING COMPETITION

Contest by Teams 3 Competitors per nation: 1 rider and

Contest by Individuals 1 horse can be entered as a reserve.

For the final classification the points obtained by the three competitors of each nation will be counted.

Contests by Teams—Prizes

First Prize: Diploma to winning team; silver gilt Olympic medal and diploma to each member of team.

Second Prize: Diploma to second team; silver Olympic medal and diploma to each member of team.

Third Prize: Diploma to third team; bronze Olympic medal and diploma to each member of team.

Contests by Individuals—Prizes

First Prize: Silver gilt Olympic medal and diploma.

Second Prize: Silver Olympic medal and diploma.

Third Prize: Bronze Olympic medal and diploma.

The prizes are awarded to the riders and not to the owners of the horses.

Each competitor must do alone the whole of the exercises, and in the order prescribed. Any movements omitted will be penalized in accordance with the table, and the Judges may demand that all such movements are done afterwards but no marks will be given. Each competitor will have thirteen minutes, in which to carry out the stated work, the thirteen minutes starting immediately after the salute to the Judges.

Any concurrent, who has not finished his performance in the fixed time, will be penalized by two points for each second exceeding the time allowed for finishing his work.

The track should be 60 meters long and 20 meters wide, the middle line and the center being distinctly marked. The extremities of the inside track, which has to be traced at 2 metres from the wall, must be distinctly marked.

If circumstances require, the training competition will be held in a riding school.

Under no pretext will a competitor be allowed to practise on the track before the competition.

If two competitors are equal, the Judges shall decide on the winner by having two or three of the same movements done again. (1)

It was decided at the Lausanne Congress, that in this competition as well as in the Training Championship, the President shall collect after each exercise, the marks from the Judges, and in the case of too great a difference he will immediately ask for the reason of the divergence of opinions.

(1) If two or more teams gain the same number of points, the team, the members of which show the greatest similarity in their individual results, is classed first.

GENERAL RULES FOR MARKING THE TRAINING

Note for Judges which Will Assist Them in Marking the Training Uniformly

The aim of the training is to make the horse tractable, that is to say both alert and well under control.

This double quality is shown by:

The freedom of gait.

The harmony, lightness and ease of movements.

The strictly upright position, maintained during the whole of the work.

The horse thus gives the impression that it is controlling itself.

Calm and alert, it answers its rider wholeheartedly.

Its step is even, free and long.

Its trot is natural, free and rhythmical.

Its canter is smooth, light and well timed.

Its haunches never appear inert or lazy.

At the first touch of the rider they become alive, and this reacts through all parts of the body. Thanks to its constant forward impulse and to the flexibility and elasticity of its articulation, which no resistance paralyses, the horse obeys willingly and without hesitation, calmly and exactly the various aids of its rider.

He halts, and stands motionless, ready to go forward at the lightest touch.

When moving, he lightly strains at the reins, poise well balanced, more or less extended according to the quickness of the pace.

Moving on two tracks, he does not slow down.

At a canter, he changes legs "en l'air", in a single step, and moving forward.

During the whole of the work he remains straight from head to haunches.

When inclining, he may make a slight bend, allowing him to see where he is going.

All movements must be done without apparent action of the rider.

The rider must be seated straight, back and hips loose, thighs and legs firm, the top of the body at ease, free, and straight.

The Judge.

(1) Note.—Any movement omitted must be unmarked.
Any concurrent, who has not finished his performance in the fixed time, will be penalized by two points for each second exceeding the time allowed for finishing his work.

MANNER OF MARKING THE INDIVIDUAL TRAINING COMPETITION
Marks are given in the training contests at a maximum of 300 points obtained movement by movement according to the table set up by the International Federation.

The same method of marking is used as that in the training contest in the Equestrian Championship, and the judges must follow the same rules.

SCHEDULE FOR TRAINING COMPETITION

This Drill Must Be Performed in Thirteen Minutes

Enter at a canter, face to the Judges. Halt, stand. Salute.

A. Work at Walk.—Walk with loose reins, right rein.

When at the end of track come back on middle line, facing the judges, walking horse collected. After walking several steps past the middle point, turn about right on haunches and follow middle line for several steps; then turn about left on haunches start off at slow trot, the horse collected. Right rein.

B. Work at Trot.—Quicken and slacken trot several times on 1½ round of the track, passing rapidly from a slow trot, the horse collected, to fast trot and vice versa.

Come back on middle line, facing the judges, incline to right, holding haunches, from the beginning of this line towards the middle of the right hand side, then incline to left, holding haunches, towards the end of the middle line.

Left rein. Post to the trot on whole length of the long side of the track. Come back on middle line, facing the judges, and cross from side to side of this line, holding haunches. The rider will find himself nine times on the center line. The length of each inclining will be six steps, except the first and last one, these, will be only three. Right rein.

Halt on short side, opposite the Jury. Stand, start off at slow trot, the horse collected.

C. Work at Canter.—Trace an inside track at 2 meters from the wall (1).

Break to a canter, alternatively on right and left legs, out of the trot, out of the walk, from the stand-still and from the rein-back, that is to say eight times breaking into a canter, the first time on left leg. Each start to be made opposite the middle of a long side.

Then turn in a large circle on right rein around center of riding hall; canter on right leg; change in the circle and canter false; change leg; change rein again in the circle and canter false; change leg.

Turn towards the judges. On the middle line, halt at 10 meters from the short side, stand, rein back six steps; break at a canter on right leg, right rein.

Change of hand again, holding the haunches, from the end of the long side towards the center point. Then halt and stand; break to a canter on left leg, holding the haunches, towards the end of the long side; turn corner cantering false. Change leg at center of short side of track.

Serpentine at a right canter and change leg at middle point of each loop. Serpentine cantering false and change leg at middle point of each loop. Track on left rein; change leg at quarter of short side of track.

Gallop on a long side and canter on the short side. Gallop on the three quarters of a long side Halt, rein back six steps. Get off at fast gallop on three quarters of the west long side; canter.

Double on center line, face to the judges, and cross from side to side of this line, holding haunches, changing leg at each change of side stepping (the length of the inclining shall be six steps, except the first and the last one, which shall be only three).

On right rein. Turn when at center of long side of track; halt, stand, rein back six steps, start at canter on left leg, left rein.

When on the long sides change leg every 4th, 3rd, 2nd steps and at each step. The changes of leg must be performed as follows:

On a long side four changes of leg every 4 steps.

On the other long side six changes of leg every 3 steps.

On a long side 8 changes of leg every 2 steps.

On the other long side 16 changes of leg each step.

Then turn facing the judges. On the middle line walk, loose reins. At center point halt. Salute.

Note.—All these movements must be executed strictly at the place indicated, either in the text or on the plans.

Movements of the high school, such as the "passage" or "Spanish trot" or the "piaffe" and the "Spanish walk," etc. may not be presented.

(1) This distance of two meters from the wall shall be maintained during the whole of the work at the canter.

III. JUMPING COMPETITION PRIX DE NATIONS

Contest by Teams 3 competitors per nation: 1 rider and

Contest by Individuals 1 horse can be entered as a reserve.

For the final classification the points obtained by the three competitors of each nation will be counted.

Contests by Teams—Prizes

First Prize: Diploma to winning team; silver gilt Olympic medal and diploma to each member of team.

Second Prize: Diploma to second team; silver Olympic medal and diploma to each member of team.

Third Prize: Diploma to third team; bronze Olympic medal and diploma to each member of team.

Contests by Individuals—Prizes

First Prize: Silver gilt Olympic medal and diploma.

Second Prize: Silver Olympic medal and diploma.

Third Prize: Bronze Olympic medal and diploma.

The prizes are awarded to the riders and not to the owners of the horses.

This competition will be held, if possible in the stadium itself. The obstacles will number 16 as a maximum, the minimum height being 1 m. 25, and the maximum height 1 m. 40 (4 feet 1¼ inches to 4 feet 9 inches). These will look solid, the wide jumps not having more than 4 meters (13 feet) of water.

- The canter must be free and at a speed of 400 m. (436.2/3 yards) a minute.
 The timekeeper shall not take into account greater speed, but on the other hand a lower speed shall be penalized by 0.25 of a point per second over the time allowed.
 Grazing, displacing or touching the obstacles shall not be taken into account.
 All the faults will be translated into points according to the list established by the International Federation.
- | | |
|--|------------------|
| The fall of the rider..... | 10 points |
| The 3rd refusal, halt or breaking out, either in front of the same obstacle or during the course of the competition..... | disqualification |
| The 3rd refusal on the track, but away from the obstacles..... | id. |
| The fall of the horse and the rider..... | 6 points |
| The 2nd refusal, halt or breaking out, either in front of the same obstacle or during the course of the competition..... | 6 points |
| The 2nd refusal on the track, but away from the obstacles..... | 6 points |
| Knocking over a jump with the front leg..... | 4 points |
| Front legs in the water..... | 4 points |
| The 1st refusal, halt or breaking out in front of the obstacle..... | 2 points |
| The 1st refusal on the track, but away from the obstacles..... | 2 points |
| Knocking over a jump with the hind leg..... | 2 points |
| Hind legs in the water..... | 2 points |
| Mistakes in the course..... | 2 points |
- If, when jumping, the rider or horse knocks over the standards, wings or flag indicating the obstacle, it will be counted a break out, and the jump will have to be done again as soon as the obstacle has been replaced.
 The same applies if the horse knocks down an obstacle with its chest, when halting, refusing or slipping.
 In double or triple obstacles, the Judge must mark down the results whatever they may be.
 If a horse stops or breaks out between two obstacles, double or triple, he must try the jump again from between the two obstacles.
 In mixed obstacles, such as the double bars, streams or ditches, preceded or followed by another jump, only the most important fault is counted.
 If a horse gets off the track it is disqualified.
 The total number of halts, refusals or breaks out is counted not only for each jump, but also in the whole competition; example: first break out at the bar counts two points; a first refusal at the river counts 6 points; a first refusal at the bank entails disqualification.
 All doubtful cases will be decided in accordance with the rules of the French Federation adopted by the International Federation.
 The "barrage" on certain obstacles is necessary between competitors or between the nations who tie for the prizes.
 It is forbidden for competitors to try the jumps before the competition; nevertheless competing in a previous competition is not considered as trying the jumps.
- MANNER OF SCORING IN THE JUMPING COMPETITION
 All the faults and penalties are converted into points. There is no coefficient.
 The individual classification is made inversely to the number of points obtained.
 The winner is he who has the least points, the second is he who has the next least points, etc.
 The classification by nations is made by adding the points of the three competitors from each Nation.
 The Team having the least points wins.
- Note.—The rules of this sport for Olympic Competitions are those of the Fédération Equestre Internationale.
 In case of divergence in the interpretation of these rules, the French text only is official.
 Any cases not provided for by the existing rules must be dealt with by the Organizing Committee.

REPORT OF CAPTAIN, FENCING TEAM
 COL. HENRY BRECKINRIDGE

1. The Fencing competitions lasted from Sunday, July 29th to Saturday, August 11th, inclusive. They were divided into series as follows:

Foil	—	Team
Foil	—	Individual
Foil	—	Individual—Women
Epee	—	Team
Epee	—	Individual
Sabre	—	Team
Sabre	—	Individual

The American results in these seven events will be reported seriatim.

2. The Foil Team drew Egypt and Switzerland in the elimination pool, and defeated both. The U. S. defeated Egypt 11-5. Calnan won 4 bouts receiving only 3 touches. Peroy won 1 bout. Levis won 3 bouts. Rayner won 3 bouts.

U. S. defeated Switzerland 14-2. Breckinridge and Calnan won four bouts each. Peroy and Levis won 3 each.

These two victories advanced U. S. to first semi-final pool where Argentine and Holland were met. A hard match with Argentine (which later won 3rd place) resulted in a score of 8-8. Argentine won the decision on points having received 55 touches and the United States 62. Levis made the outstanding performance in this match, winning all four bouts. Calnan won 2 bouts, Breckinridge and Peroy each won one.

The loss of this match on points proved critical. It threw the U. S. in the next semi-final pool with France and Italy and blocked the way to the final,

U. S. beat Holland 12-4. Calnan and Levis each won 4 bouts. Peroy and Rayner each won 2 bouts.

In the last semi-final pool U. S. met France and Italy.

France defeated U. S. 11-5. Levis won 2 bouts. Calnan, Peroy and Every won one bout. The judging in this match was unsatisfactory. It is my belief that Calnan and Peroy each won a bout he did not receive from the judges.

Italy decisively defeated U. S. 14-2. Calnan and Peroy lost 4 bouts each. Breckinridge and Levis each won 1 bout. At this juncture Calnan showed excessive fatigue due to cold and fever which affected him also during the foil individuals and from which he did not recover until the start of the epee.

In the foil team matches:

Calnan won 15 bouts and lost 9
 Levis won 17 bouts and lost 7
 Peroy won 8 bouts and lost 16
 Rayner won 5 bouts and lost 3
 Breckinridge won 6 bouts and lost 6
 Every won 1 bout and lost 3

Foil Individual

3. Calnan, Levis and Every were entered in the Foil Individual. Levis made the best showing—going through to the finals. This was the first time an American fencer has reached an individual final in the Olympic Games. There were 74 entries. 12 reached the final pool. Levis finished 11.

In the elimination pool Levis finished 3rd with 3 victories and 2 defeats.

In the semi-final pool Levis came 4th with 3 victories and 3 defeats.

In the finals Levis was 11th with 2 victories and 9 defeats. Total 8 victories and 14 defeats.

Calnan: In the elimination pool Calnan was third with 3 victories and 2 defeats. He was eliminated in the semi-final with 1 victory and 6 defeats. This was a very strong pool from which emerged Gaudin, Gaudini, Bru and Gazzera.

Total 4 victories and 8 defeats.

Every: In the elimination pool Every came second with

S victories and 2 defeats. In the semi-final pool he was eliminated with 1 victory and 6 defeats. His fencing was very creditable, in most of his bouts winning 4 touches.

Total 6 victories and 8 defeats.

Foil—Women's Individual

4. U. S. entered 2 women, Mrs, Irma Hopper and Miss Marion Lloyd. Mrs. Hopper was eliminated—1 victory and 5 defeats. Miss Lloyd made an excellent record and failed to reach the finals by only 2 touches.

In the elimination pool Miss Lloyd was third with 4 victories and 2 defeats. She administered to Elena Mayer, the champion, her only defeat. She defeated Mrs. Freeman who was second. In the semi-finals Miss Lloyd was eliminated—3 victories, 4 defeats. Miss Lloyd's excellent showing is a credit not only to herself, but to her master, Mr. Joseph Vince.

Epee Team

5. The Epee Team drew Hungary and Egypt in the elimination pool.

U. S. defeated Hungary 11-5. Calnan won 4 bouts. Lyon won 3, Milner 3 and Rayner 1.

U, S. defeated Egypt 9-7. Calnan won 4 bouts, not receiving a single touch. Miller won 3 bouts. Lyon and Breckinridge each won 1 bout.

These victories advanced U. S. to the first semi-final pool where Portugal and Norway were met.

Portugal (which won 3rd place) defeated the U. S. 8-7 (and one double touch).

Breckinridge won 3 bouts

Calnan won 3 bouts

Milner won 1 bout

Lyon won 0 bouts

U. S. defeated Norway 8-7 (one double touch).

Calnan won 3 bouts. Rayner won 3 bouts. Milner won 2 bouts. Breckinridge won 0 bout.

These victories advanced U, S. to the second and last semi-final pool where Spain, France and Belgium were met.

U. S. defeated Spain 9-7.

Calnan won 4 bouts receiving only 1 touch. Milner and Rayner won 2 bouts each. Barnett won 1 bout.

France defeated U. S. 9-4 (and 4 double touches), Calnan won 2 bouts. Lyon and Milner won 1 bout each.
Rayner won 0 bout.

Belgium defeated U. S. 7-2 (4 double touches). Calnan and Milner each won 1 bout.

I consider the judging in this match very bad. Belgium, defeated in the finals by France and Portugal, could not have defeated the U. S. decisively, if at all, with honest and capable judges.

The totals follow:

Calnan won 21 bouts and lost 7
Milner won 13 bouts and lost 15
Lyon won 5 bouts and lost 11
Rayner won 6 bouts and lost 13
Breckinridge won 4 bouts and lost 8
Barnett won 1 bout and lost 3

Epee—Individual

6. There were 65 entries. For the first time in the history of Olympic Fencing Americans reached the finals of the Epee individual and Calnan won third place in the extra final of four men.

In the elimination pool Calnan was 2nd with 7 victories
and 2 defeats.

In the first semi-final Calnan advanced with 8 victories
and 3 defeats.

In the 2nd semi-final Calnan advanced with 4 victories
and 4 defeats.

In the final Calnan was 3rd with 6 victories and 3 defeats.

In the extra-final four fencers survived and fought for 10 touches by direct elimination.

Buchard defeated Calnan 13-11 (two touch lead necessary to win bout under rules).

Gaudin defeated Tom.

Calnan defeated Tom, winning 3rd place.

Milner: In the elimination pool Milner advanced with 4 victories and five defeats. In the first semi-final he advanced with 6 victories and 5 defeats. In the second semi-final Milner advanced with four victories and 4 defeats. In the final he won 1 victory and 8 defeats.

Barnett was eliminated in the 1st pool with 1 victory and 3 defeats.

The totals follow:

Calnan 26 victories—13 defeats
 Milner 15 victories—22 defeats
 Barnett 1 victory—8 defeats

Sabre Team

7. The Sabre Team had the misfortune to draw a very strong field in the elimination pool. Hungary, Poland, Great Britain. Hungary was first in the final. Poland came third.

Hungary defeated U. S. 14-2. Muray and Huffman each won 1 bout. Acel and Cohn won 0 bouts.

Poland defeated U. S. 9-7. Muray won 3 bouts, Huffman won 2 bouts. Lyon and Van Buskirk each won 1 bout. U. S. was eliminated.

Muray 4 victories—4 defeats
 Cohn 0 victories—4 defeats
 Acel 0 victories—4 defeats
 Huffman 3 victories—5 defeats
 Lyon 1 victory—3 defeats
 Van Buskirk 1 victory—3 defeats

Sabre—Individual

8. Muray was eliminated in the first round with 1 victory and 4 defeats.

Huffman survived the elimination pool with 2 victories and 2 defeats.

Cohn likewise with 3 victories and 2 defeats. Both were eliminated by a narrow margin in the semi-final.

Huffman barely missed going up to the final. He was tied on bouts with Lacroix of France to be the last man to go up. Each had three victories. Lacroix, having two touches less than Huffman, advanced. Cohn in the semi-final fenced excellently against Gombos and deJong. He defeated deJong who came second in the 1924 Olympics, 5-0. He defeated Gombos, former champion of Europe 5-1; but losing to weaker fencers he was unable to advance to the final.

Resume

9. In the team competition all 3 teams gave a hard fight to all and made a strong bid for the third place.

The foil team was helpless before Italy but gave France a hard fight and was on even terms with the next best.

The epee team did not meet Italy. It was inferior to France and Italy but on a par with any other.

The sabre team was inferior to Hungary and Italy but fought on even terms with others.

In team competition, as a general rule, the old fencers are a burden on the back of the young. Unless an older man has perfect technique, he is good for about one match a day. The old men cannot stand the grind of long competition. This does not apply to perfect technicians like Gaudin or Terstyan-sky but can be laid down as a general rule.

Calnan and Levis did splendidly in the foil. Every did well when he had a chance and Rayner fought with his accustomed indomitable spirit. Calnan and Milner bore the brunt of the epee team.

Huffman and Muray excelled for the sabre team whereas Huffman and Cohn made the best performance in the individual sabre.

Levis in the individual foil and Calnan's 3rd place in the epee, with Milner arriving in the final epee were the outstanding performances of the American Fencers, unequalled by any past American Olympic Fencing Team.

In the team competition the 3rd place won by the 1920 Foil Team still stands to be bettered.

On the whole, the U. S. Fencing Team at the IXth Olympiad was the best balanced in all weapons in my experience of American Fencers at the Olympiads. The future policy is obvious. Scrap the old men or use them sparingly and build future teams of young men. We have a good nucleus for future teams.

Foils—Calnan, Levis, Every.

Epee—Calnan.

Sabre—Huffman and Cohn.

We should find the material for the next Olympic Fencing Team in these men and other men now in college.

In Rene Pinchart and George Santelli, we have had the best coaches possible. They have worked without ceasing with the available material. The progress of our Olympic Fencing is largely due to them, I believe their excellence will be further demonstrated by the future International performance of American Fencers. To Mr. Grasson, the Yale coach, great credit is due for the development of Every and Huffman, his pupils.

To show the gruelling test of a good fencer in the Olympic Games we may cite the case of Calnan. He fought 103 bouts: Won 66 victories—suffered 37 defeats and made 4 double touches.

17 nations were represented by Foil Teams.

20 nations were represented by Epee Teams.

13 nations were represented by Sabre Teams.

Altogether 22 nations were represented in the fencing, organization of the matches by the Dutch Fencing Federation was excellent. The specially built pavilion adjacent to the main stadium was the best location for Olympic Fencing I have seen. All the arrangements were carried out with efficiency. Messrs. Schoon and Anspach with their colleagues deserve great credit and the thanks of all concerned.

It is a reasonable hope that the conduct of future Olympic Fencing competition be characterized by a higher chivalry than was attained at the last three Olympiads. Of course, Fencing is a combative sport. The will to win is developed to a high pitch. It should not be otherwise. But always there should be maintained that spirit of courtesy and sportsmanship for which the art stands. The code of the game should require a fencer to acknowledge a touch received. It should restrain him from claiming by word or gesture a touch which he does not make or a touch which he does make. The prerequisite for attaining this desirable state of conduct by competitors is impartial and efficient judging. Judges should not be controlled in their decisions by the acknowledgment of competitors. But such acknowledgment is to my mind a requisite manifestation of the chivalry of our sport. No honorable fencer desires to receive credit for a touch he did not make, nor is willing to disregard a valid touch made against him. No greater honor was gained for his country in the Fencing at the IX Olympiad than the spontaneous admiration created on all sides by the sportsmanlike conduct of Duchet of France who unflinchingly acknowledged all valid touches against him and made no unseemly manifestations of any sort throughout all of his arduous matches. His victories or defeats are forgotten. His honorable and sportsmanlike conduct always will be a pleasant memory to those who participated in the Fencing of the IX Olympiad.

The success of the Fencing was due in no small part to such excellent presidents of the jury as the masterful Major de Jong of Holland, Biscoe of England, Cuomo of Italy, Lajoux of France and Anspach of Belgium. Much of the judging was good. Some of it was decidedly incompetent. And some of it lacked that impartiality without which fencing competition becomes a very disagreeable spectacle and experience.

Finally, it is a pleasure to report the growing popularity of our great sport. Fencing nations recently appearing in Olympic competition made a splendid showing and demonstrated the widespread growth of the art. Argentine was represented by a strong team of young men expert in the Italian school. Likewise, Egypt sent for the first time a team of strong fencers and fine sportsmen. We hope all of the nations represented at the IX Olympiad will come to Los Angeles in 1932.

REPORT OF FENCING TEAM COACH

RENE PINCHART

The American Fencing Team as a whole did all that was expected of them. If not more; the young men especially. One must realize that America is still very young. In this sport compared to other nations. Fencing is very popular in Europe. Over there they have international competitions almost every week during the season. In this way they get good experience and get used to the ways of the directors, (some directors give the right-of-way to the attack, others to the stop, etc.). Under these conditions a fencer will always try to fence in accordance with the views of the director governing the bout. These advantages the Americans lack. The competitions they hold are all in the United States between themselves and usually in the same town. In this way they do not get used to the way and methods of foreign fencers as well as to those of the judges and directors.

The American Fencing Team's good showing is the result of their combative spirit and the intensive training they went through a month before the Games. This training was well suited to the younger members who could better stand the grind. In competitions the older men were brilliant in spots but were not as steady and reliable as the younger men whose recuperative powers were greater.

One thing that was overlooked was the climatic conditions. A few of the fencers had the gripe which hampered them to quite an extent.

Of the team that went over we have about five good men to form a nucleus for the next Olympic Games, and these men under the guidance of as able a leader as the present one should do still much better.

Finally this Olympiad has been a great boon to fencing in the United States. It has helped to make them feel that they have good hopes of becoming the equal of any other nation.

REPORT OF FENCING TEAM COACH
GEORGE SANTELLI

The Olympic Games of 1928 in Amsterdam brought together twenty-four fencing nations. This was the most numerous fencing Olympiad since the Olympic Games are in existence. Every nation came with a complete team, in which every member was very well trained; and in these Games the American team made its best showing, up to now.

In four years, fencing improved enormously in the States. The whole fencing world which, up to this year's Olympics, did not count the States as a fencing nation, had to recognize our enormous improvement; and after these Olympics, the American fencing sport will have a great reputation. If one takes into consideration that, throughout all the games, the team had the hardest luck that any team has ever had, the United States can be proud of its fencers, I will not go into detail of the different fencing matches, because the captain of the team will make an exact statistical report of the whole fencing Olympics. I will write about the things which I remarked during the games.

First, I have to cite Lieutenant Calnan of the Navy. He was unquestionably the best man on the team. With a bad cold and fever, he fenced and fought indefatigably. As our best man, he had to fence in every foil team match. This naturally tired him for the individual foil competitions, so he could not develop his best form there and only for that reason did he not make a place in the individual foil competition. He is as good as the best of the European fencers in foil and epee. He is still young and it is certain that some day he will bring more honor and victory to the United States. In making third place in the individual competition in epee, he had just recompense for his serious preparation.

The foil team did wonders, and, had they not had the bad luck to be drawn in the last semi-finals with Italy first and France, second, they would have certainly been entered in the finals and might have taken a respectable third place. Even under these circumstances, we took fifth place, leaving behind us many nations which have a much older fencing culture than we have.

The foil team competition gave us a revelation in the person of Joseph Levis. He is the first American fencer in the history of the Olympics to reach the finals in Individual competition. With his youth, he was able to overcome the fatigues of an Olympic competition. I am not exaggerating in saying that he will have a great future as a fencer.

But not only Calnan and Levis fenced well; Colonel Breckinridge also competed remarkably well, using his head more than his physical strength. He beat several opponents who have great names as fencers. Major Rayner, Every and Peroy did their best to help score our victories.

The epee team scored higher than the foil team and, with a fair judging, we should have been in the finals and taken third place, with the Italians first and the French second. I have seen many competitions but never have I seen such bad decisions given as those against our epee team when they fenced with the Belgians. It was so evident that the judges were helping the Belgians that even the neutral spectators made some comment. Only our fencers did not say a word, showing their opponents real fencing chivalry. Colonel Breckinridge's attitude, in particular, was so remarkable that he gained everyone's sympathy and esteem. As a result, later, everybody wanted an American fencer as referee; and again Colonel Breckinridge, who judged throughout the whole sabre individual finals, made the greatest impression with his impartiality and fairness and gained the title of the best international judge.

Returning to the epee competition, I could see that, except for Italy and France, our team was the best. Calnan, Milner, Lyon, Colonel Breckinridge and Major Rayner all fenced marvellously. In the team work, very remarkable was Mr. Arthur Lyon's Fencing, who, in his epic bout with Buchard, twice European Champion, beat him two to one.

In the sabre competitions we had a misfortune. Our first match was against the Hungarians who won the first place. They were unquestionably the best team. But that Poland beat us by a very small margin (one touch), was only due to the mischance that two of our fencers, Mr. Lyon and Mr. Van Buskirk, fenced very much below their usual form. Very often the best of fencers are beaten because of nervous depression and the psychological effect that a match has on them. Had this not happened we could easily have beaten the Polish team which, in the finals, took third place. Nickolas' Muray was the best man on the sabre team, winning most of his bouts. But really remarkable was the fencing of the two youngsters, John Huffman and Norman Cohn. They fenced wonderfully and made a very good impression on the European fencers. In the individual matches Cohn and Huffman reached the last semi-finals. If they had more routine they surely would have reached the finals. John Huffman tied for the finals with the French champion, Lacroix, and he went out for two touches. Cohn beat Dr. Combos, a European champion, for the past two years in the semi-finals, with a score of 5-1. . . and Captain de Jong, a military world champion, by the flattering score of 5-0. But not having experience, he lost several bouts from 4-4. Both boys are under 23 years of age. This was their first Olympic experience, and last year they were still Junior fencers.

I should not forget Miss Marion Lloyd. She is the first American woman fencer who came through the preliminaries. In the semi-finals she also fenced very well, beating Miss Elena Mayer, the Olympic champion. She was one of the few women who fenced with perfect fencing style and good form, thanks to her instructor, Joseph Vince.

All the fencers did better than in the past Olympic Games because all the preparations were made in a perfect manner. The Fencing League, following a very good policy, gave the advantages to the younger fencers. This is a very wise course since only a young man can withstand the fatigue of these competitions, I do not mean that, for the future, we have eliminated the older fencers from the Olympic Games. We can use them to great advantage in teams for short matches, in which they can use their greater experience and do not tire so easily. I hope that the Fencing League will follow these good policies, bringing this country a couple of more good fencing instructors as they did in the past few years, continuing to give the young fencers opportunity. The Italian fencers clearly demonstrated that Youth was the most important attribute. I must salute my colleague, Rene Pinchart, who gave all his energy and good will to making the American team a success.

RULES GOVERNING FENCING COMPETITION

AMATEUR DEFINITION OF THE FEDERATION INTERNATIONALE D'ESCRIME

An amateur is one who competes only for the love of sport and never has got any pecuniary profit by it.

Any military who has never taught in fencing and never has got any pecuniary profit by this sport will also be considered as an amateur, even, if he is designed by his Government to have the direction of the fencing-courses in military establishments, however, without being obliged to give lessons.

RULES RELATING TO THE ORDER AND DISCIPLINE FOR FENCING COMPETITIONS AT THE OLYMPIC GAMES OF 1928 AT AMSTERDAM

EVERYONE IS CONSIDERED TO HAVE KNOWLEDGE OF THE RULES

*Article IPreliminary

This rule is based on the F. I. E. rules for competitions which remain applicable.

Penalties can be inflicted only by the authorities mentioned below for the duration of the Olympic Games at Amsterdam, but complete liberty is left to the F. I. E. and to the National Fencing Association to inflict more general penalties for faults, that have been observed even if no penalties have been inflicted at the Olympic Games.

The terms of this rule apply to all persons, who take part in or are present in any capacity at the fencing-competitions of the Olympic Games of 1928 (Organizers, officials, fencers, trainers and spectators from every country).

All these persons are included in the term "fencers" in the following articles.

*Article IIClassification of Faults

Acts coming under the following headings are considered faults and punished according to their seriousness.

- Infractions of technical rules.
- Infractions of rules and decisions of the organising Committee of the F. I. E.
- Want of respect towards the members of the jury or their decisions.
- Behaviour, which in any form tends to compromise the good order and discipline of the competitions or prejudices the interests of fencing.

*Article IIINature of the Penalties

The following are the penalties for the above mentioned faults:

- Applicable to fencers and team captains:
Warning; exclusion; disqualification.
- Applicable to spectators:
Warning; expulsion.
- Applicable to officials, i.e., official representatives of countries, members of the Jury, etc.:
Warning; suspension.

Article IV

A fencer excluded from a competition can take no further part in that competition.

Article V

A fencer who is disqualified is eliminated not only from the competition in which he is taking part but also from all subsequent fencing competitions of the Olympic Games of 1928 for which he may be entered.

Article VI

An official who has been suspended can no longer act as an official at any of the fencing competitions of the Olympic Games of 1928.

*Article VIIJurisdiction

Infraction of technical rules are punished by the president of the "jury de terrain" in accordance with F. I. E. rules.

Article VIII

The right of pointing out other faults referred to in Article 2, etc., of fixing the penalties is vested in the hands of:

- The presidents of the "jury de terrain";
- The organizing committee;
- The F. I. E. (see also article 10);
- The jury d'appel;
- The jury d'honneur.

Article IX

A president of the "jury de terrain" has power over all fencers who take part in or are present at the pool which he is judging.

In questions of materiality and validity of hit his decision cannot be appealed against unless he has transgressed the rules laid down. He has the right to propose to the "jury d'appel" the penalties, which he considers useful but which he cannot pronounce himself. The president of the jury and the judges for each pool are nominated by the F. I. E.

Article X

The F. I. E. names a Committee for conducting the competitions.

This Committee enjoys the same rights as the F. I. E. and is its representative. It is synonymous with the F. I. E. in the present rule.

The Organizing Committee and the F. I. E. have jurisdiction over all fencers, who take part in or are present at any of the fencing competitions at the Olympic Games of 1928. They are entitled to enforce all penalties mentioned in Art. 3.

Article XI

The jury d'appel acts under the conditions laid down by F. I. E. rules.

*Article XIIProcedure

Presidents of "jury de terrain" must at once acquaint the F. I. E. Committee of every penalty pronounced by them.

Article XIII

Every complaint and every appeal to the "jury d'appel" must be lodged in writing in the hands of the F. I. E. Committee within one hour after the act causing this complaint or appeal has taken place.

This Committee must at once call a meeting of the Appeal Committee which will immediately deliberate. During the deliberations the Games will continue.

Article XIV

A "proces-verbal" of every judgment pronounced by the jury d'appel must be written and lodged in the hands of the F. I. E.

The F. I. E. acts immediately full effect to every sentence rightly pronounced by the jury d'appel or by a president of a jury de terrain.

Article XV

The jury d'honneur acts under the conditions laid down by the General Rules.

*Article XVIOrder-Rules

It is the duty of the F. I. E. to replace at once any president of the jury or any member of a "jury de terrain" if it thinks that for any reason whatever that such a replacing is necessary to maintain the good order of this competition.

Article XVII

The composition of the different pools will be announced beforehand as well as the exact time at which each pool starts.

At the hour mentioned the president of the jury named by the F. I. E. will call over the names of the fencers or teams he is to judge. If at the first calling-over a fencer or a team is absent or a team is incomplete the calling-over will be repeated twice at the interval of a minute. If a fencer or a team is not effectively present at the twice calling-over such fencer or team will be irrevocably debarred from taking part in that competition and no appeal against this decision will be entertained.

Article XVIII

In all pools every fight will be clearly announced beforehand so that every fencer may have time to get ready. If after this announcement the fencer whose turn it is to fight does not present himself at the first demand of the president of the Jury he shall be irrevocably debarred from taking any further part in the pool.

Moreover a fencer who abandons a fight and leaves the piste will be irrevocably debarred from taking any further part in the pool if he does not present himself at the first demand of the president of the jury. This demand must be made at once. In this case of recognized "force majeure" (i. e., broken weapon, disarranged clothing, accident, indisposition, etc.) the President of the Jury is authorized to allow the necessary time before he makes his demand.

The grounds on which the matches will take place, are allotted by the organizing Committee.

REFEREES

The referees will be designed by the Fédération Internationale de Hockey, On principle, a referee may not lead a match of his own country.

PLAYERS AND COLORS OF THE TEAMS

Each country may change the composition of its team in any match, but the players must be selected out of the entries.

Each team wears the colors of its country, to be stated in the list of entries.

In case that after the opinion of the Federation Internationale de Hockey the colors of two teams might lead to confusion, one of them shall have to change its colors. A draw will decide which team has to do so.

DURATION AND DRAWS OF THE MATCHES

The duration of the matches will be 70 minutes, half time being called after 35 minutes' play according to the Rules of the Game.

In the divisions the matches will be played according to the Competition-System, w.o.w. two points for the winning team, null for the losing team and points division in case of a draw.

If necessary a barrage match will be played for a place into the semi-finals.

In case of a draw after 70 minutes in a barrage-match, the game will be extended twice 10 minutes and if the tie should persist after this extension, there will be played further till a goal has been scored; then the game takes an end.

The same system will be followed with the semi-finals and final, as it has been done during the tournament at Geneve 1925.

SPECIAL CASES

Any cases not provided for by the existing rules must be dealt with by the Fédération Internationale de Hockey.

RULES OF THE GAME OF HOCKEY

Article I

Teams

A game of hockey shall be played by two teams of eleven players. The usual constitution of a team is five forwards, three halfbacks, and a goal keeper. The duration of the game shall be 70 minutes, (unless otherwise agreed by the respective captains) half time being called after 35 minutes' play, when the teams shall change ends.

Article II

Captains

The captains shall:

- (a) Toss for choice of ends.
- (b) Act as umpires, if there be no umpires, or delegate the duties of umpires to one member of their respective teams.
- (c) Indicate the goalkeepers for their respective teams before starting play, and after any change of goalkeeper.

Article III

Ground

The ground shall be rectangular 91 meters (100 yards) long, and not more than 54.60 meters (60 yards), nor less than 50.05 meters (55 yards) wide. The ground shall be marked with white lines in accordance with the plan; the longer boundary lines to be called the side lines, and the shorter boundary lines to be called the goal-lines. Two lines parallel to the goal-lines shall be marked (generally through punctuating) on 22.75 meters (25 yards) inside the ground. Two lines parallel to the side lines shall be drawn (generally through punctuating) on 6.37 meters (7 yards) inside the ground.

A flagpost shall be placed for the whole game at each corner also at the center of each side line 0.91 meters (1 yard) outside the line, and any other flagposts must be 0.91 meters (1 yard) outside the line. All flagposts shall be at least 1.24 meters (4 feet) high.

REMARK—It is advisable to have the lines marked visible and with a rainproof substance.

Article IV

Goals, Posts, Etc.

There shall be a goal at the center of each goal line, and it shall consist of two perpendicular posts 3.64 meters (4 yards) apart (inside measurement) joined together by a horizontal crossbar 2.17 meters (7 feet) from the ground. The goalposts shall not extend upward beyond the cross-bar nor the cross-bar sideways beyond the goal posts. The posts shall be 0.05 meters (2 inches) broad and not more than 0.075 meters (3 inches) in depth and the posts and cross-bars shall have rectangular edges to the sides facing the field of play. Nets shall be attached to the posts, cross-bars, and to the ground behind the goals.

Article V

Striking Circle

In front of each goal shall be drawn a white line 3.64 meters (4 yards) long, parallel to, and 13.65 meters (15 yards) from the goal line. This line shall be continued each way to meet the goal line by quarter circles having the goal posts as centers. The space enclosed by these lines and the goal lines including the lines themselves shall be called the striking circle.

Article VI

Ball

The ball shall be a leather cricketball painted white or made of white leather.

It shall not weigh less than 170 gr. (5½ ounces) or more than 178 gr. (5¾ ounces); the circumference shall not be less than 0.230 meters (9 inches) or more than 0.235 meters (9¼ inches). Umpires shall forbid the use of any other ball.

Article VII

Sticks

A stick shall have a flat face on its left hand side only. The head of a stick (i.e., the part below the top of the splice) shall not be edged with, or have insets or fittings of hard wood or of any other substance nor shall there be any sharp edges or dangerous splinters. Each stick must be of such size that it can be passed through a ring of 0.05 meters (2 inches) diameter. An India rubber ring 0.10 meters (4 inches) in external diameter when on the stick, may be used, but everything included, the total weight must not exceed 868 gr. (23 ounces). The extremity of the stick must not be cut square or pointed, but must have rounded edges.

P.S.—Surgical binding on the head of the stick is allowed subject to its not preventing the head passing through a ring of 0.05 meters (2 inches) diameter.

Umpires shall prohibit play with a stick which does not comply with this rule.

*Article VIIIBoots, Etc.

No player shall wear any dangerous material such as spikes or nails, etc.

*Article IXBully

The game shall be started (and restarted) after each goal and half time by one player of each team together bullying the ball in the center of the ground. If the play is momentarily suspended it will be restarted bullying the ball also but off on a spot to be chosen by the umpire and generally there, where the ball was on the moment of suspending the play. To bully the ball each player shall tap first the ground on his own side of the ball and then his opponent's stick three times alternately; after which one of these two players must strike the ball before it is in general play. In all cases of bullying the two players who are bullying shall stand squarely facing the sidelines, the goal at their right side. Every other player shall be near to his own goal than the ball is (except in the case of a penalty bully) and no other player shall stand within 2.73 meters (3 yards) of the players participating in the bully. An ordinary bully in the circle shall not be taken nearer than 4.55 meters (5 yards) from the goal-line. For any breach of this rule the "bully" shall be taken again.

*Article XGoal

For a goal to be scored:

1. The whole ball must pass entirely over the goal line under the bar and between the goal posts.

2. The ball whilst within the striking circle must have been hit by or glanced off the stick of an attacker.

If the ball passes between the goal posts after having been struck by or having glanced off the stick or person of a defender, or defenders, subsequent to being hit by or glancing off the stick of an attacker within the circle a goal is scored. Should the goal posts or bar become displaced, and the ball pass at a point which, in the opinion of the Umpire, is between where the posts or below where the bar should have been, a goal shall be scored.

REMARK—It must be observed that a goal is not scored if the ball has not been struck by or glanced off the stick of an offender within the circle.

Thus (a) It is not necessary that the offender will be within the circle; (b) but the ball must be struck by or glanced off the stick of an offender within the circle. (c) If the ball, struck by or glanced off the stick of a defender passes the goal line, no goal shall be scored but a corner or penalty-corner will be given depending of willfulness or not.

It is to be understood that the penalty circle includes the lines enclosing this circle. The ball shall be considered to be within the circle if not any part of the circumference does not pass the circle lines.

*Article XIOff-Side

When the ball is hit, or rolled in from the side-line, any other player of the same team as the striker or roller-in who is, at that moment, nearer his opponent's goal line shall be off-side unless there be at least three of his opponents nearer than he is to their own goal line.

A player who is off-side may not play or attempt to play the ball nor in any way interfere with any other player until the ball has been touched or hit by one of his opponents.

No player shall be off-side.

(a) If he is in his own half on the ground, or

(b) If the ball was last touched or hit by one of his opponents or by one of his own team who is nearer the opponent's goal line than himself.

*Penalties (Inside or Outside the Circles).—*For any breach the penalty shall be a free hit by one of the opposing team on the spot where the breach occurred.

REMARK—Never there will be given a penalty for off-side if a player does not in any way interfere an opponent or really take part of the game.

A passing via the goal post to one of the attacking team will be considered as a direct passing and the off-side rule will be in force.

*Article XIIGeneral Details

The ball may be caught or stopped with the hands, but if caught must be immediately released to fall perpendicularly towards the ground. The foot, if used for stopping the ball, shall be removed immediately.

The ball may not be picked up, carried, kicked, thrown or knocked on or back except with the stick.

The flat side of the stick only shall be used and no player shall in any way interfere with the game unless his stick is in his hand. There shall be no charging, kicking, shoving, shinning, tripping, holding or striking at sticks.

Hooking sticks is only permissible when the stick hooked is within striking distance of the ball.

A player shall not obstruct by interposing himself between an opponent and the ball, nor by interposing himself or his stick in any way as an obstruction, nor shall he tackle from an opponent's left, unless he touches the ball before he touches the person or stick of his opponent.

The goal keeper shall not be penalized if in stopping a hit at goal the ball does not fall perpendicularly, having in the Umpire's opinion merely rebounded off his open hand. He shall also be allowed to kick the ball, but only in his own striking circle. In the event of his taking part in a penalty bully these two privileges shall not be allowed him.

*Article XIII"Sticks"

When striking at the ball no part of the stick shall be raised above the shoulder either at the beginning or end of the stroke.

*Article XIVUndercutting

No player shall intentionally undercut the ball. The scoop stroke, which raises the ball is permissible (except as provided for in Rule 15) but the Umpire shall penalize it in any particular instance if it is dangerous in itself or likely to lead to dangerous play. The ball may be hit whilst in the air (except as provided for in Rule 13),

Penalties for Breaches of Rules 12, 13 and 14:

1. Outside the Circles.—For any breach the penalty shall be a free hit for one of the opposing team on the spot where the breach occurred.

2. Inside the Circles.—(a.) For any breach by the attacking team the penalty shall be a free hit for the defending team.

(b) For any breach by the defending team the penalty shall be a "penalty corner" or a "penalty bully" on the spot where the breach occurred.

A penalty bully shall only be given for a wilful breach of a rule or when, had the breach not occurred, a goal would probably have been scored.

Important Remark.—1. A penalty bully must be given for a wilful "stick" to prevent a goal, although paragraph (b) mentioned above, seems to show the contrary. In this case the breach of the rule "sticks" must have prevented a goal.

The general opinion is that a penalty corner can only be given in case of a wilful fault to prevent a probable goal. However, the rules are much more exact as a penalty-bully must be given: (a) for a wilful fault; (b) and also if a goal would have been scored if no breach (wilful or not) had occurred.

3. Inside or Outside the Circles.—In the event of two players being simultaneously at fault, the Umpire shall give a bully at the spot where the breach occurred.

REMARK.—It is especially recommended to the Umpire and Captains to observe that those players, who generally make "sticks" or undercutting and specially if clearing their end, shall get out of these bad habits as both of them are most dangerous for all the players.

However a certain toleration must be bestowed relative the "kick." It will only be a fault if the player's foot is in movement on the moment that the ball is struck by, or if the player gets a direct advantage.

Faults as obstructing, charging, tackling from the left, must be prevented and if occurring be severely penalized by the umpire.

*Article XVFree Hit

When a free hit is being taken, no other player shall stand within 4.55 meters (5 yards) of the striker. Should, however, the Umpire consider that a player is doing so in order to gain time, he may allow the hit to be taken at once.

After taking a free hit the striker shall not participate in the game until the ball has been touched or hit by another player.

The ball must be hit fairly, the scoop stroke not being permissible in this instance.

Should the striker hit at but miss the ball, the hit shall be taken again provided he has not given "sticks."

Penalties.—If any player, other than the striker, be within 4.55 meters (5 yards) of the ball at the time of a free hit, the Umpire shall order the hit to be taken again, except as specially provided for in this rule.

If the striker, after taking such hit, participates in the game again before the ball has been touched or hit by another player.

1. Inside the Circles.—The Umpire shall give a "penalty corner."

2. Outside the Circles.—The Umpire shall give a free hit to one of the opposite team to the offender.

If the ball is not fairly hit:

1. Outside the Circles.—The Umpire shall give a free hit to one of the opposite team to the offender.

2. Inside the Circles.—The Umpire shall give a "penalty corner."

*Article XVIPenalty Bully

A penalty shall be taken by the offender, or by any other player of the defending team if the offender is incapacitated, or has been suspended for misconduct, and by any player of the attacking team, on the spot where the breach occurred.

All other players shall remain beyond the nearer 22.75 meters (25 yards) line until the penalty bully has been completed.

If during the progress of a bully the ball passes wholly over any part of the goal line, which is within the striking circle, other than that between the goal posts, off the stick or person of the offender, the penalty bully shall be taken again.

If the ball passes wholly over the goal line between the goal posts off the stick of the attacker, or stick or person of the offender, a goal shall be scored.

In all other cases, as soon as the ball has passed wholly outside the striking circle the game shall be restarted by a bully on the centre of the nearer 22.75 meters (25 yards) line.

Penalties:

- (a) Breach of Any Rule by the Offender (Except Rule 9).—The attacking team shall be awarded a penalty goal, which shall be of the same value as an ordinary goal.
- (b) Breach of Any Rule by the Player Selected by the Attacking Team (Except Rule 9).—The defending team shall be allowed a free hit.
- (c) Simultaneous Breach of Any Rule by Both Players.—The bully shall be taken again.

*Article XVIIRoll In

When the ball passes wholly over the side line, it shall be rolled in (and not bounced) by hand along the ground, in any direction, from the point where it crossed the side line. The roll-in shall be taken by one of the team opposed to the player who last touched the ball.

Players may cross the 6.37 meters (7 yards) line immediately the ball leaves the hand of the roller-in. The ball may be rolled in at once, but no other player shall stand (himself or his stick) within the 6.37 meters (7 yards) line or outside the side-line. Should the Umpire consider that a player is standing within the 6.37 meters (7 yards) line or outside the side line, to gain time, he shall not stop the game. The roller-in must have both feet and stick outside the side line, and may only play the ball again after it has been touched by another player.

Penalties:

(a) Breach of the Rule by the Player who Rolls In.—The roll in shall be taken by a player of the other team.

(b) Breach of the Rule by Any Other Player.—The roll in shall be taken again except as specially provided for in this rule.

REMARK.—The Umpire must carefully take care that the player, who rolls in, really rolls the ball over the ground, as many players bounce it.

The rule of 6.37 meters (7 yards) line must only be taken strictly, when one of the players gets a real advantage by breaching of it. It is important that no time will be lost.

*Article XVIIIBehind

(a) If a ball is sent over the goal line by one of the attacking team or glances off the stick or person of, or in the opinion of the Umpire is unintentionally sent over the goal line by, one of the defending team who is farther away from his own goal line than the 22.75 meters (25 yards) line, it shall be brought out 22.75 meters (25 yards) in a direction at right angles to the goal line from the point where it crossed the line and there "bullied."

(b) If the ball glances off the stick or person of, or is, in the Umpire's opinion, unintentionally sent over the goal line by one of the defending team who is behind the 22.75 meters (25 yards) line a corner shall be awarded to the attacking team.

(c) If, however, the ball is intentionally, in the Umpire's opinion, sent behind the goal line by any player of the defending team from any part of the field, the Umpire shall give a penalty corner to the attacking team.

REMARK.—1. A corner can never be given if the defender unwilfully has touched the ball outside the 22.75 meters (25 yards) line.

2. But a penalty corner must be given if the ball has been wilfully hit "corner" even outside the 22.75 meters (25 yards) line.

*Article XLXCorner

A player of the attacking team shall have a hit from a point on the side or goal line within 2.73 meters (3 yards) of the nearest corner flag, and at the moment of such hit the feet and sticks of all the defending team must be behind own goal line, and the feet and sticks of all the attacking team must be outside the circle in the field of play.

Provided that no player shall stand within 4.55 meters (5 yards) of a striker when a corner hit is taken, and that no goal can be scored from a corner hit by the attacking team unless the ball has been stopped (not necessarily motionless) on the ground, or has touched the person or stick of one of the defending team before the last stroke of the attacking team. A player taking a corner hit cannot participate in the game again until the ball has been touched or hit by another player. On taking a corner hit, if the striker miss the ball he shall take the hit again provided he does not contravene Rule 13 (sticks).

Penalties:

If any member of the attacking team takes a flying hit at goal without attempting to stop the ball, the Umpire shall award a free hit.

If the striker after taking such hit participates in the game again before the ball has been touched or hit by another player the Umpire shall award a free hit.

REMARK.—The players and Umpires must carefully note that the ball, in a direct passing, must be stopped before shooting.

*Article XXPenalty Corner

A penalty corner hit shall be taken from any point on the goal line, on either side of the goal, at a distance of not less than 9.10 meters (10 yards) from the nearer goal post. In case of a wilful "corner" the penalty corner hit shall be taken from any point on the goal line on the side where the ball has passed the line but at a distance of not less than 9.10 meters (10 yards) from the nearer goal post.

All prescriptions and penalties relative to the "corner" are in force with "penalty corner."

Article XXI

Umpires

There are two Umpires. Each Umpire shall take half the ground for the whole game without changing ends. He shall also take one side line and give decisions as to the roll-in in both halves of the ground. He shall give decisions as to "corner" only for his half of the ground.

The Umpire shall allow (the elements permitting) the full or agreed time, neither, more or less, deducting all wastage, and keep a record of the game. In the event of a penalty-bully failing to be taken of the call of half time or time, an Umpire shall allow extra time until either a goal has been scored or the penalty bully has been completed. The ball is in play until the whistle has been blown. If there be only one Umpire, there should be two linesmen to give decisions as to the ball passing over the side lines, and as to where and by which team the ball shall be rolled in.

Umpires and linesmen are debarred from coaching during a game.

Umpires shall refrain from enforcing a penalty in cases where they are satisfied that by enforcing it they would be giving an advantage to the offending team.

The Umpires shall give all decisions without waiting for an appeal.

A ball striking an Umpire shall remain in play.

Article XXII

Rough Play and Misconduct

For rough play or misconduct the Umpire shall have a discretionary power to warn the offending player, or to suspend him from further participation in the game.

Article XXIII

Accidents

When a player is temporarily incapacitated, the Umpire shall suspend the game. If a goal is scored before the game has been suspended, it shall be allowed, if in the Umpire's opinion it would have been scored had the accident not happened.

When an Umpire is temporarily incapacitated, the second Umpire shall suspend the game. If a goal is scored before the game has been suspended, it shall be allowed if in the second Umpire's opinion it would have been scored had the accident not happened.

When the game is resumed the ball shall be bullied off on a spot to be chosen by the Umpire in whose half of the ground the player was hurt, subject to Rule 9.

REPORT OF MANAGER, GYMNASTIC TEAM

ROY E. MOORE

The gymnastic team competition at the IX Olympiad, Amsterdam, covered a period of three days, August 8, 9 and 10th and resulted as follows:

Points
1. Switzerland.....	1718.625
2. Czechoslovakia.....	1712.25
3. Jugoslavia.....	1648.50
4. France.....	1620.75
5. Finland.....	1609.25
6. Italy.....	1595.625
7. United States of America.....	1519.125
8. Holland.....	1365.125
9. Luxembourg.....	1361.50
10. Hungary.....	1344.75
11. England.....	1205.00

The rules called for compulsory and optional exercises on Side Horse, Flying Rings, Horizontal Bar, Parallel Bars, Broad and Long Horse Jumping and a Team Drill.

Our gymnasts are named herewith in the order of their rating after the Olympic contest.

Points
1. Alfred Jochim.....	218.75
2. Glenn Berry.....	212.75
3. Frank Kriz.....	211.625
4. Frank Haubold.....	209.375
5. H. G. Newhart.....	209.375
6. J. B. Pearson.....	208.75
7. H. Witzig.....	206.25
8. Paul Krempel.....	203.623

These men were unable to score high enough in any single event to "place" said places being won almost entirely by the three leading teams, Switzerland, Czechoslovakia and Jugoslavia,

We were denied more specific information as to the final rating of our men, with the explanation that same would be mailed to us in about two months from Paris headquarters of the International Federation.

In the Federation meetings, our officials were assigned an active part with Messrs. H. Panzer, Joseph Oszy, A. H. Picker and M. H. Trieb appointed as Judges over the three day period.

A modern school house with yard was placed at our disposal and we were permitted to install our apparatus, making training facilities ideal. We are indebted to the Narragansett Machine Co., Providence, R. I. for loaning said apparatus to us, from the date of our tryouts through the Olympic contest period.

The plan of having our gymnastic team at the scene of action two or three weeks prior to their competition, worked out well and should be followed in future but the final tryout should not exceed two weeks before date of sailing, and preference, if any, given to men from clubs which feature gymnastics as a major sport.

REPORT OF TRAINER. GYMNASIIC TEAM
HERBERT G. FORSELL

Viewed from almost any angle the Gymnastic Team, which represented America at Amsterdam, was a most successful one. Under the careful supervision of Mr. Roy E. Moore our boys left these shores fit for the strenuous competition of the Games. Training aboard ship could hardly be considered very effective but with favorable weather conditions we were able to set up our apparatus and keep up training to a certain extent.

At Amsterdam we were given the use of a modern school-house, equipped with gymnasiums and a playyard, in which we were permitted to install our apparatus and were enabled to train under fairly favorable conditions. The lack of shower baths, however, was a severe hindrance to the conditioning of our men.

In competition our men were allotted late afternoon periods and in many instances were decidedly handicapped by the unfavorable winds which swept across the Stadium, making balance movements practically impossible. As individuals we were unable to win honors but as a team made seventh place in the entire tournament.

The Swiss gymnasts, as was generally expected, proved superior but America's Team was recognized by authorities as having made the greatest improvement since the Paris Olympiad.

The amendments made in 1926 to the A. A. U. rules governing gymnastics, which now call for prescribed exercises on apparatus, resulted favorably in preparing our candidates for the competition. The plan of having our men on the scene two weeks before competition certainly met with the approval of the team, and I recommend that in future Olympiads we continue this same procedure.

RULES GOVERNING GYMNAS TIC COMPETITION
GYMNASTICS
AUGUST 8TH TO 10TH, 1928
AT THE OLYMPIC STADIUM

Each nation must send a list of events in which they intend to compete by June 27th, 1928.

All individual and team entries must be received by July 18th, 1928. Any alterations in the entries must be received by July 29th, 1928.

GOVERNING BODIES

Federation Internationale de Gymnastique

President: C. Cazalet

Hon. Secretary: F. Blomart.

Postal Address

C. Cazalet, 8 Rue Reignier, Bordeaux (France)

Koninklijk Nederlandsche Gymnastick Verbond

President: N. Groenewegen,

Hon. Secretary: L. J. A. v Ekeren, 95 Singel, Amsterdam (Holland)

Technical Delegate: J. H. F. Sommer.

A. TEAM COMPETITION (MEN)

One team of 8 men (or seven) per nation participating at each event. In the final calculation of points, the results of the 6 best competitors shall be considered. The two gymnasts (the one) gaining the fewest points will be eliminated.

The substitutes take part in all events and also compete for personal classification.

The gymnastic competition is a team event comprising a single competition at the different apparatuses (one prescribed and one voluntary exercise), but will be classified separately as follows:

a. By teams.

b. Individual at each apparatus.

c. General individual classifications according to the results of the different pieces of apparatus.

B. TEAM COMPETITION (LADIES)

A team of 12 ladies per nation, 10 of which will participate in the team competition, without personal classification.

PRIZES FOR INDIVIDUAL COMPETITION

First prize: Silver gilt Olympic medal and diploma.

Second prize: Silver Olympic medal and diploma.

Third prize: Bronze Olympic medal and diploma.

FOR TEAM COMPETITION

First prize: Diploma to the winning team: silver gilt Olympic medal and diploma to each member of the team.

Second prize: Diploma to the second team: silver Olympic medal and diploma to each member of the team.

Third prize: Diploma to the third team: bronze Olympic medal and diploma to each member of the team.

EXERCISES

MEN:

- 1°. General Exercises:
General exercises executed by each nation.
- 2°. Apparatus:
One prescribed exercise and one voluntary exercise at each of the following apparatus: Horizontal bar, Parallel bars, Pummelled horse, Rings,
- 3°. Jumping:
 - a. Prescribed jump pummelled horse with hard spring board to 10 centimetres in height in front:
 - b. Voluntary jump at long horse without pummells with springboard stiff or with spring. Height of horse above springboard 1 metre 40 c.M.

LADIES :

Each participating nation presents a team of 10 lady gymnasts, executing the following exercises:

General exercises.....	13-15 minutes.
Exercises at apparatus.....	13-15 minutes
Jumping.....	9-10 minutes

NOTE

The rules of this sport for Olympic Competitions are those of the Federation Internationale de Gymnastique.

In case of disagreement on the interpretations of these rules the French text will prevail.

EXHIBITION EXERCISES

(MEN AND LADIES)

The entries for these exhibition exercises must be received by June 27th, 1928.

All entries of groups not affiliated to the International Gymnastic Federation must be received by June 28th, 1928, midnight, by the Secretary of the International Olympic Committee „Mon Repos", Lausanne (Switzerland) (Tel. addr. „CIO Lausanne").

They may be addressed either through the National Olympic Committees or directly by each group qualified to participate at these exhibitions.

Exhibition by groups of at least 16 men gymnasts and groups of at least 16 lady gymnasts but without restriction of number. The exhibition per nation must not exceed 45 minutes. All exhibitions are without calculation of points or prizes. (Music optional.)

GENERAL REGULATIONS

A.—INDIVIDUAL AND TEAM COMPETITIONS

(MEN)

1° Drill:

Voluntary exercises; the teams to perform for 10 to 12 minutes; each nation is quite free in its choice of these exercises which are to consist of marches, turns and preliminary exercises with or without hand apparatus according to the system of each nation.

2° Apparatus:

One set and one voluntary exercise on Horizontal Bar, Parallel Bars, Pommel Horse and Rings.

3° Jumps:

(a) A set vault over horse sideways with pommels and stiff springboard 10 cm. high.

(b) A voluntary vault over the long horse without pommels and with springboard with bar or with springs, height of horse above springboard 1.40M. Set exercises may be done optionally but entirely to the left or to the right.

On the apparatus each gymnast may repeat a compulsory exercise or vault once and the best performance will be taken into account.

Voluntary exercises may only be performed once and judged finally.

Each section competing shall be under the direction of a leader standing out of rank during the whole of the competitions. The duty of the leader is solely to lead his section before the Jury. He may demonstrate the drill and command the team. Before the exercises take place he must see that the apparatuses in order and he may stand near the apparatus in order to prevent any accident but he must not give any help to the competitors. His name and qualifications shall be enumerated on the nomination list of gymnasts forming the section. His work is not taken into consideration and no points are allotted for his performance. He is the intermediary between the jury and his section.

The order of the sections competing shall be determined by drawing lots. A timetable shall be drawn up according to which the groups shall be ready for the contests.

At the appointed hour for the start of the contests all members of the Jury and the competing teams must be on the ground in their allotted places.

The teams must arrive and depart together.

All members of the Jury must be at the competitions and may not accept functions which will take them away from the ground and thus hinder the regular course of events.

Any gymnast leaving without permission from the Jury cannot re-enter. It is not allowed to substitute one gymnast for another during the competitions.

Gymnasts must take notice of the observations of the Jury.

Any illness or accident must be immediately reported by the leader and verified by the Doctor.

In order to allow an injured gymnast to recover he or his section may stop their performance for 20 minutes at the most, if after this time has expired the incapacity continues he or his section will continue or the gymnast will be eliminated.

Any claim concerning the participation of a gymnast must be made at the opening of the competitions or as soon as cause has arisen.

All gymnasts of one section must be uniformly clad; members of the same section shall all wear the same distinctive badge. No particular gymnast may perform barefooted.

The ground for the competitions shall be entirely isolated and only accessible to the members of the Jury, gymnasts and leaders.

CALCULATION OF POINTS

1°. Drill:

There shall be five judges of different nationalities if possible who shall award 50 points as a maximum and multiplied by the co-efficient

6 equals = 300

The method is as follows:

1. Individual execution, 2 judges give 20 points each of which the half is 20
2. Combination and difficulty ditto 20
3. Execution as a whole, one judge gives 10 points. 10

Total 50
Multiplied by 6 300

Minimum time of display 10 minutes, maximum 12. 10 points will be deducted if this time is exceeded or shortened.

2°. Apparatus:

Each exercise shall be judged by three judges each awarding a minimum of 10 points, therefore a total of 30 points may be awarded for each exercise.

3°. Vaults:

Each vault shall be judged by three judges each awarding a maximum of 10 points. The total thus obtained shall be divided by 2 so that for each vault 15 points will be given.

POINTS AWARDED TO TEAMS

1. Drill: 5 judges award 50 points X 6 300
2. Apparatus: 3 judges X 10 points X 8 apparatus X 6 gymnasts. 1440
3. Vaults: 3 judges X 10 points X 2 vaults X 6 gymnasts = 360 divided by 2 180

POINTS AWARDED TO INDIVIDUALS

The classification of individual competitors will be made according to the number of points obtained at the apparatus and vaults.

1. Apparatus: 3 judges X 10 points X 8 apparatus 240
2. Vaults: 3 judges X 10 points X 2 vaults 30

270

Individual classification at each apparatus is made according to the number of points obtained in the set and voluntary exercises. The maximum is therefore 60.

MATERIALS

Each nation may use its own apparatus which shall be transported and installed at its own risks and expense.

EXERCISES AT THE APPARATUS (PRESCRIBED EXERCISES)

HORIZONTAL BAR

Dimensions: polished steel; height about 2.50 M.; length 2.40 M.; diameter 28½ m.m.

Sidehand with ordinary grasp:

Backup and straddle legs over bar, drop back, disengage legs to front, upstart to handstand, long circle backward to handstand, cross R hand over L hand, long circle backwards, ½ R turn releasing L hand and replacing it to the left of R hand with reverse grasp, long circle forward, continue circle and backup passing legs over bar between hands to half lever, seat circle forward slide hands wide outwards and dislocate, swing down and backward and by releasing hands, backup (replacing hands) short circle, underswing backup and flank vault L or R to sidestand with knees bent and arms forward.

PARALLEL BARS

Dimensions: shoulderheight 1.65 M.; length 3 M., oval bars 54/46 m.m. thick; wide 42 c.M.

At end of bars stand with back to bars grasping bars from the outside:

Jump and circle backward to handstand (the hands are released and replaced with ordinary grasp) bend arms, pump forward with $\frac{1}{2}$ L or R turn to rest drop upstart to handstand, and bend arms to shoulderstand, roll forward backup with straddle forward to rest, swing back to shoulderstand, press to handstand, swing down forward, flying roll backward on to upperarms uprise to rest and without a pause rear vault R with $\frac{1}{4}$ L turn to hang with straight arms on one bar (hands are released and replaced while vaulting) Rise to rest, change L hand to reverse grasp, lift to handstand with straight legs and bent body, $\frac{1}{4}$ L turn to handstand on both bars, overthrow R sideways to cross-stand with arm sideways (wheel out R).

RINGS

Dimensions: point of suspension of the rings 5.50 M. from the floor; rings 2.50 M. from the floor; wooden rings, thick 28 m.m., with an inside diameter of 18 c.M.

Circle backward to rest with straight body, raise legs to half lever, lower legs and lift to handstand with straight body, lower body to high front lever, bend arms and lower to back lever, turn forward with straight body to front lever, swing down and backward and dislocate forward, swing down and backward, swing forward and circle backward to handstand with insteps against the ropes, stretch arms sideways to crucifixion sliding the feet downward, take feet off the ropes and hold the position, bend body and fall forward to upstart position. Swing down and backward, dislocate forward and straddle forward to ground, arms sideways.

NOTE—Passing through the hang from one position to another, the arms must be kept straight.

POMMELLED HORSE

L. Pommel—Neck, Saddle, Croup—R. Pommel

Dimensions : length 1.80 M., wide 35 c.M.; wooden pommels, 30 m.m. thick; wide 39/42 c.M.; height of the pommels 1.20 M. from the floor and 12 c.M. from the horse.

Sidestand opposite croup with L hand on croup pommel and R hand on croup.

Vault over croup with $\frac{1}{2}$ L turn and placing R hand on neck pommel to free front rest $1\frac{1}{2}$ L circle of both legs, $\frac{1}{2}$ L circle of R leg, front shears R, complete R circle of L leg, front shears L, $\frac{1}{2}$ L circle of R leg, complete L circle of both legs, $\frac{1}{2}$ L circle of R leg, check swing R back shears L $\frac{1}{2}$ R circle of R leg, place R hand on croup pommel, $\frac{1}{2}$ R circle of both legs to back rest on croup (the L hand is placed on croup after the $\frac{1}{2}$ circle of the legs) $\frac{1}{2}$ R circle of both legs to front rest on croup circle both legs over end of croup with $\frac{1}{2}$ R turn over neck into saddle $\frac{1}{2}$ R circle of both legs with $\frac{1}{4}$ R turn to cross-stand with arms sideways.

NOTE—There must not be any stop during the exercise. Height of horse to the top of the pommels—3 ft. 11 inch.

JUMP

1. Side horse with pommels, stiff springboard 10 cm. high in front placed one metre in front of the horse measured from the middle of the horse. Height of the horse, 1.30 m, from the ground to the top of the pommels.

2. Voluntary vault at the long horse without pommels with one or two hands and with stiff or springboard, height of horse above board 1.40 m. The springboard to be 2 metres long and 60 to 70 centimetres wide, the lowest part to be on the ground, the higher part to be 40 cm. above the ground and resting on a bar or on two springs.

There will be put at the disposal of the teams a springboard with a bar and one with springs.

HORSE VAULTING

Horse sideways with pommels—beating board 3 ft. 9 inch, away from horse. Height of horse to the top of pommels, 4 ft. 9 in.

Beating board 4 inch. high.

(a) Run, place hands on pommels vault to handstand with straight body, place R hand on neck pommel, make $\frac{3}{4}$ L turn releasing L hand to cross-stand arms sideways. (Screw vault forward).

Horse lengthways without pommels. Height of horse from the floor 5 ft. 10½ inch, springboard 15¾ inch. high, length of board 6 ft. 6 inch., 24 inch. wide.

(b) Voluntary vault with support of one or both hands over the length of the horse.

B.—TEAM COMPETITIONS

(LADIES)

Each country taking part should have a team consisting of 10 lady gymnasts who must perform the following exercises:

- (a) 13-15 minutes drill with or without hand apparatus.
- (b) 13-15 minutes exercises on the apparatus.
- (c) 9-15 minutes jumping.

Total 35 to 40 minutes.

Each country is entirely free in its choice of exercises, apparatus and jumps.

Ornaments (flowers, etc.) are not permitted on dresses or apparatus.

Music may be used for all or part of the drill.

General regulations for the men's competitions are also applicable to the ladies' competitions.

CALCULATION OF POINTS

The judging for each of the three branches is carried out by a jury consisting of a minimum of 6 members (if possible of different nationalities) who shall judge the most favorable performance from the gymnastic point of view. Each member of the Jury may allot a maximum of 20 points. Too long pauses between exercises in the same branch as well as an exercise too long or too short will be reckoned in the distribution of points.

Points shall be scored as follows:

(a) Team exercises (each judge).....	20	points	maximum
(b) Apparatus (each judge).....	20	"	"
(c) Jumps (each judge).....	20	"	"

Total for each judge..... 60 points maximum

For the ladies' competition the points will be allotted without being deliberated by the members of the Jury and the announcement shall be made at the time and the place duly given out.

OLYMPIC GYMNASTIC TEAM

REPORT OF MANAGER, LACROSSE TEAM

CHARLES L. ORNSTEIN

America's representative in Lacrosse—Johns Hopkins University of Baltimore, Md.—has, we believe, the privilege of claiming the world's championship in the first organized effort to promote International Olympic competition in this sport. This claim is based upon developments in the competition among the championship teams of Canada, England and the United States in the Olympic Stadium at Amsterdam on August 5, 6 and 7, 1928.

The results of this competition were as follows:

1. On August 5 the United States defeated Canada by the score of 6 to 3.
2. The following day the United States was defeated by England by the margin of one goal, 7 to 6,
3. On August 7, England, playing, like the United States had done, its second game on successive days, was badly beaten by the Canadians, who had had a day of rest after their hard struggle with America on August 5. The score of the Canada-England game was 9 to 5.

The officials in those games—referee, judge of play and goal umpires—were furnished by the contesting nations, the referee in each game being supplied by the idle team. Thus an English official refereed the Canada-America game, a Canadian official the England-America game, and an American the Canada-England game.

W. Wilson Wingate, of Baltimore, Md., refereed in the England-Canada game, and acted as judge of play in each of the other two contests.

As the scores given above indicate, the series at Amsterdam did not bring about a clear-cut decision as to the supremacy among the contesting nations.

However, with a view to breaking what some may choose to call a deadlock, the manager of the American team[^] Charles L. Ornstein approached the managers of the Canadian and English teams—D. K. Mackenzie, of Canada, and W. Scholes, of England. Mr. Mackenzie agreed, but Mr. Scholes dissented, asserting that prior business engagements made it impossible for certain members of the English team to remain longer in Amsterdam.

Yet, despite the failure of our effort to effect an arrangement for further games, an analysis of the point score in the three games played reveal certain interesting facts in support of the American claim to an edge over each of the other two twelves.

First, it will be seen that each team scored a total of twelve goals in its two games. But, in total goals allowed the opposition America has the best record. Our team had scored against it only 10 goals. Canada had 11 scored against it, while no less than 15 shots by the American and Canadian attacks found their mark in the netting behind the English goal tender.

England played under exactly the same conditions as did America. That is to say, the English played their two games on successive days. Yet, our record, despite our one-goal defeat at the hands of the English, is five goals better.

Canada, defeated decisively by America, had a day of rest between its two games, and was fit and ready to administer the one-sided defeat meted out to the English players, who, unable to come back after their terrific struggle with America the day before, were noticeably lacking in the snap and dash so essential to success in lacrosse.

But, notwithstanding the advantage the draw gave Canada, America finished with a better record by one goal.

The idea of having lacrosse demonstrated in the 1928 Olympic Games originated with the proposal made to the International Olympic Committee and to the Dutch Olympic Committee by P. J. Mulqueen, of Toronto, Canada.

Information to this effect was in due time placed before the United States Intercollegiate Lacrosse Association (the present governing body for lacrosse in America) at its annual meeting in November, 1926, by its president, W. Caspan Wylie, of Baltimore, Md. Mr. Wylie was then delegated a committee of one to investigate and assist in carrying the matter to a successful conclusion,

In this connection, Mr. Wylie, while on a trip to Europe, conferred with Dutch, English and French Olympic and lacrosse officials.

The selection of the American team was made through the American Olympic Committee, co-operating with the United States Intercollegiate Lacrosse Association. The American Olympic Lacrosse Committee was appointed by Major-General Douglas MacArthur, President of the American Olympic Committee, in November, 1927.

This committee was composed of Charles L. Ornstein, member of the American Olympic Executive Committee, chairman; Dr. Ronald T. Abercrombie, N.C.A.A.; Laurie D. Cox, Syracuse University; Commander Jonas Ingram, U. S. Naval Academy; Albert B. Nies, Princeton University; William C. Schmeisser, Johns Hopkins University; R. V. Truitt, University of Maryland; Charles W. B. Wardell, Crescent Athletic Club; W. Caspari Wylie, Mt. Washington Club; Major Harlan Mumma, U. S. Military Academy.

This committee proved to be the moving spirit behind the plan which brought about in America the most hotly contested campaign lacrosse has ever known anywhere. Out of some 40 college and club twelves which late in March or early in April began the season, there emerged at the end of the free-for-all on June 2 six teams which, in the opinion of the American Olympic Lacrosse Committee, were the cream of the Nation's stick combinations.

In this connection it might be stated that the Committee had decided before the season opened that a team as a unit, rather than a group of all-stars, would be chosen to represent America at Amsterdam.

The six American twelves standing out at the close of the regular season (Hopkins, Mt. Washington, Maryland, Army, Navy and Rutgers) then entered a three-round playoff elimination, which got under way with a double-header at the Baltimore Stadium on June 9.

On that date Hopkins defeated Mount Washington, 6 to 4, and Maryland won from Rutgers, 7 to 2.

The following Saturday, June 16, Hopkins and Maryland, respectively, met Army and Navy, which had obtained first-round byes. A crowd greater even than the large gathering which had sat through a cloud-burst at Baltimore Stadium on June 9 saw the games on June 16 at the Central High School Stadium, Washington, D. C, where Hopkins defeated Army, 4 to 2, and Maryland triumphed over Navy by 6 to 2.

The finals of the play-off on June 23 at Baltimore Stadium drew the greatest crowd that ever saw a lacrosse game in America and the spectators were rewarded with a magnificent entertainment. Hopkins, continuing the sensational work which it began with its regular-season victory by 6 to 1 over Maryland on May 26 again triumphed, this time by the score of 6 to 3, over a twelve which throughout the long campaign lost only to Hopkins.

In every respect the play-off elimination was an unqualified success. There was no hitch anywhere, no arguments, no disputes, no recriminations. Tremendous interest wherever the game is played in the United States was aroused and large crowds were on hand on each of the three occasions, making it possible for the lacrosse committee to turn over to the American Olympic Committee more than enough to pay the way of the "baby" sport in its first Olympic venture.

In this connection it might be interesting to note that while the Olympic Lacrosse Committee agreed to pay all expenses of the American lacrosse team including all of its transportation, equipment and such incidentals as were necessary to demonstrate the game at Amsterdam and other countries which was estimated to be about $9,000, the Committee was delighted when it was able to turn over to the American Olympic fund a check for $19,000.

Much credit for the success of the play-off was due to Charles L. Ornstein and the men who served with him on the play-off committee: Dr. Abercrombie, Mr. Wylie and Henry Iddins, all of Baltimore—also to the officials, headed by Lewis Jay Korn, of Philadelphia, who worked the games and to such lacrosse writers as Mr. Wingate, Baltimore Sun, Mr. Cassell, Baltimore Evening Sun and Mr. Merrill, Baltimore Post.

Besides Mr. Korn, who refereed all five games in the playoff, the other officials were Mr. Wardell, Crescent A. C, judge of play, and Theodore Cypioa, Crescent A. C, Roy Taylor, New York, and Mr. Nies, Princeton, goal umpires.

The roster of the winning Hopkins team and the list of the players who went to Amsterdam follows:

Ray Finn, goal; Carroll Liebensperger, point; Gardner Mallonee, cover point; William Kegan, first defense; Robert Roy, second defense; John Boynton, third defense; John Lang, center; Louis Nixdorff, third attack; James Eagan, second attack; George Helfrich, first attack; Thomas Biddison, out home; William Logan, in home, and reserves Charles Brownley, Purnell Hall, Howard Caplan, Frank Dotterweich, W. G. Herpsberger, Larkins Farinholt.

The student manager who accompanied the team to Amsterdam was Deeley Nice. The head coach was Dr. Ray Van Orman and the advisory coach was William C. Schmeisser. W. Wilson Wingate was the American official and Charles L. Ornstein the manager of the team.

This was a splendid lacrosse team, one that was truly representative of the best the game knows in the United States. The work of this team both at home and in Amsterdam was a tribute to the type of lacrosse played in the United States and particularly to the Schmeisser-Van Orman-Hopkins system.

It was in versatility and adaptability, founded upon a sound and rounded technique and upon brains, that the Hopkins twelve repeatedly, both at home and abroad, demonstrated its superiority over its opponents. The team faced every style of attack and defense and every system of lacrosse known to the game and was never "stumped."

The players, all college youngsters (in marked contrast to the veteran casts of the Canadian and English twelves), always were intelligent enough to change details in their style to suit the occasion and to make the change with prompt and certain decision. They had a counter for every opposing threat, no matter what its nature. In this respect, one is justified, it seems, in according the United States twelve an unique place in the history of lacrosse.

Because of certain unforeseen developments over which the lacrosse people and the Dutch Olympic Committee had no control, the demonstrations at Amsterdam were not all they might have been.

For instance, on the day of the opening game (Sunday, August 5), with approximately 40,000 persons gathered in the Olympic Stadium the lacrosse game was held up for more than two hours by the prolonged struggle for the girls' Olympic high jumping championship. Then, when the contest between the United States and Canada finally got under way, a further delay was necessitated by the finish of the marathon.

Resuming at a late hour, the contending twelves found themselves encroaching upon the dinner hour of the spectators, with the result that a large portion of the crowd began leaving the Stadium before the game ended.

The two succeeding games were given late starting hours and again at the finish, which was well after everyone's dinner hour, the crowd had thinned out.

Nevertheless, there can be no doubt that the spectators liked lacrosse and, notwithstanding their complete unfamiliarity with the game, enjoyed the exhibitions immensely. In substantiation of the observation we are incorporating in this report a translation of a Dutch newspaper article on the Canadian-American game. This translation of the article in the Algemeen Handelsblad (Amsterdam) of Monday evenings August 6, follows:

LACROSSE EXHIBITION, CANADA vs. UNITED STATES

LACROSSE

A Stimulating, Interesting and Very Lively Game

"The Lacrosse demonstration in the Stadium yesterday was certainly an interesting event.

"Exactly what lacrosse is and how it is played was explained to our readers several days ago. And yesterday we all had the opportunity of seeing the game played by a Canadian and a U. S. A. team.

"In our vicinity in the stands we heard quite a little comment on the game—some of it adverse in a way. So, apparently in sporting circles, as elsewhere, the proverb holds: 'What the farmer does not know he does not eat.'

"There can be no doubt that the opinion which most prevailed among our uninitiated was that the players were just there to beat each other up with the sticks. We ourselves have heard that the sticks frequently clashed with not a little force. Yet, it appeared to us that this was only in accordance with the nature of the game. Through all that we also heard upon occasion a sound which was not exactly one resulting from wood meeting wood.

"The referee whistled five times in those instances to call "fault." So far as we could see the official adequately enforced the rules of the game, and those rules at the same time seemed sufficiently stringent to prevent untoward accidents—as a general thing. Certainly everyone was able to ascertain that all the players retained their general good health to the finish.

"We heard some people around us call the game rude. That's a matter of taste.

"To us it looked like a particularly lively, highly entertaining and stimulating game—solely suitable, however, for very good sportsmen, we might add by way of a mental reservation. But when all is said and done our verdict is that the game, as it was played yesterday, seemed very attractive.

"Of course, it must be said that to a Dutchman it seemed a bit strange to see a player poke an opponent into the pit of the stomach with a stick, to see two rivals push each other out of the way like a pair of street urchins, or to see them chase each other with sticks like charwomen with carpet-beaters,

"But all the same this gives a picture of the tremendous pace of the game and the tension which is maintained to the end.

"It was distinctly amusing also to see how the players sometimes fall over each other and tangle in small heaps; how as they scoot along, unable to stop because of their great momentum, they tumble into the heaps of sand in the jumping pits outside the field or come a cropper on the cinders of the running track encircling the lacrosse grounds proper.

"But most remarkable it was to see how clever they are at catching the little ball in their nets and how expert they are at keeping it there, as if it were glued in place. And it was exhilarating to witness the duels around the goals, as the side on attack attempted—many times vainly—to send the ball into the opposition's goal or conversely to watch the defense try to regain possession of the ball.

"Very often the players danced around or jumped up and down in front of each other. But behold the moment when a defensive player thinks he has an opportunity to get possession of the ball! There is a wild dash and if the sortie is successful the next move is to pass the ball far out to a teammate who has maneuvered into position to receive it. Then the process may be repeated.

"There is no doubt that lacrosse could be played very roughly, if untrained and undisciplined players were to try the game. Sound training is necessary before bringing two teams against each other.

"In conclusion we want to repeat that lacrosse, as it was demonstrated yesterday, gives the impression of being an interesting, stimulating, exciting and very fast game. It demands great speed, quick decision, initiative on the part of the individual and a world of backbone and a firm hand."

In concluding this report, we would like to call attention to the steps taken in Amsterdam to put lacrosse on a firm International basis and facilitate the growth of a game which we believe worthy of widespread recognition on the part of sportsmen everywhere.

At the instigation of Mr. Charles L. Ornstein, on the evening of August 6, at Amsterdam, Holland, there was organized the International Federation of Amateur Lacrosse. The following officials were named:

Patrons—Major-General Douglas MacArthur, U. S. A.; P. J. Mulqueen, Canada; Lord Rochdale, England.

President—Leonard Smith, Canada.

Vice-President—W. Caspari Wylie, U, S, A.

Secretary-Treasurer—C. C. Lee, England.

Executive Committee—William C. Schmeisser, U.S.A.; D. K. MacKenzie, Australia, and W. Scholes, South Africa.

Before closing we wish particularly to express our thanks to Major-General Douglas MacArthur, president of the American Olympic Committee, whose interest, advice and co-operation in the movement was in a large measure helpful towards the success of the effort. His attendance at the games and direction of many phases of the sport during the entire season will always be remembered by the lacrosse people of the United States.

We add a word of appreciation for the material assistance accorded America's Olympic lacrosse venture by Frederick W. Rubien, Secretary of the American Olympic Committee; Edward Stuart, President of the United States Intercollegiate Lacrosse Association; W. Caspari Wylie; Dr. Ronald T. Abercrombie and Henry Iddins of Baltimore.; Dr. Ray Van Orman, Head Coach; William C. Schmeisser, Advisory Coach and Gustavus T. Kirby of the I. C. 4A's Association.

Respectfully submitted,

Charles L. Ornstein, Manager

Dr. Ray Van Orman, Head Coach

William C. Schmeisser Adv. Coach

W. Wilson Wingate, Official.

REPORT OF MANAGER, MODERN PENTATHLON TEAM
MAJOR HAROLD M. RAYNER

As manager of the Modern Pentathlon Team, the following comments and recommendations are submitted.

1. That the War Department be again asked to accept the responsibility of selecting and supervising the training of candidates for the 1932 Olympic Team.

2. That complete details of this event be obtained from the International Olympic Committee and furnished the War Department at as early a date as possible.

3. That pending such information the War Department be requested to publish to all concerned full information of the 1928 event and the results obtained therein. (This is necessary to serve as a basis for individual training, which should start at once.)

4. That the War Department arrange for a competition annually at certain designated centers, as at West Point, N. Y., and The Cavalry School, Ft. Riley, Kansas. (This will result in gradually forming a qualified group from which final selections could be made.)

5. One year prior to the 1932 Games ten or twelve of the best qualified prospects should be assembled at a selected point for intensive training.

6. That the team be selected at least two months in advance of the Games, so as to enable the final training and conditioning to bring the Team to its peak at the time the Olympic event is held, and not at the final tryouts, as unfortunately happened this year.

7. That the place selected for final training should possess proper facilities for this event. (This year no facilities were available for steeplechase training.)

In conclusion it is desired to state that the importance of long and careful preparation for this event cannot be over-emphasized. Individual training should be started this Fall and to assist such training, full information of this event and the results of the 1928 Games, together with the President's report, should be furnished the War Department, so that the Service at large may be informed.

No comments are made as to the transportation, housing and final training at Amsterdam as these details were entirely satisfactory.

The Pentathlon Team desires me to express their deep appreciation of the courtesies and aid extended them by the Committee and the various coaches who helped prepare them for this event.

RULES GOVERNING MODERN PENTATHLON COMBINED SPORTS—JULY 31ST TO AUGUST 4TH, 1928

Modern Pentathlon

The National entry form of each Nation must be received by June 19th, 1928.

All individual entries must be received by July 10th, 1928.

Any alterations in the entries must be received by July 21st, 1928,

Comite Modern Pentathlon

President, Jonkheer J. W. Godin de Beauford; Hon. Secretary, J. van Steeden, 3 Beethovenlaan, Hilversum (Holland).

Technical Delegates:

Athletics, J. W. Meyer

Equestrian Sports, Jonkheer S. Marees van Swinderen

Shooting, Captain W. J. M. Linden

Swimming, K. S. van Kappen

Fencing, J. Schoon

PROGRAMME

Maximum number of entrants: 3 per nation.

Maximum number of participants: 3 per nation.

Prizes

First Prize: Silver gilt Olympic medal and diploma. Second Prize: Silver Olympic medal and diploma. Third Prize: Bronze Olympic medal and diploma.

Events

1. July 31st—Shooting: 20 shots in 4 series of 5 each pistol or revolver on target at 25 meters, in Amsterdam.

2. August 1st—Swimming: 300 meters free style, in Amsterdam.

3. August 2nd—Fencing: Sword, in Amsterdam.

4. August 3rd—Athletics: 4000 meters cross country, in Hilversum.

5. August 4th—Horse Riding: 5000 meters cross country, in Amersfoort.

The competition will consist of the following trials:

Shooting: 20 shots in 4 series of 5 shots, pistol or revolver, at a silhouette at 25 meters.

Swimming: 300 meters free style.

Fencing: Sword.

Athletic: Cross country, 4000 meters.

Equestrian Sports: 5000 meters (cross country), over changing ground with obstacles.

Each of these trials will have its own particular day in the order given above.

The starting order of the competitors will be determined by drawing lots. There will be a special drawing for each trial.

The final classification of the event will be determined by totaling the places taken in each of the five trials. In case of a tie, in points, the number of victories will constitute the decisive factor. If the tie still persists, the respective positions of the competitors will be determined by the amount of their relative places in the five trials in the following order: cross country, swimming, shooting, fencing and cross country riding.

SPECIAL REGULATIONS

I. Rapid Firing (at 25 meters)

1. Arms: Any revolver or pistol of any make with open sights (all special stocks or orthopedic (fitted) stocks are forbidden). Rapid fire guns are forbidden.

2. Number of shots: 20 shots in 4 series of 5 shots.

3. Target: Figure (divided into zones) one meter 63 centimeters in height.

4. Initial position: Arm extended down toward the feet, the mouth of the weapon directed toward the ground, the stock of the gun touching the thigh of the shooter.

5. Firing: Shooting commences at the command of "Feu." The use of two hands is forbidden. When the command is given, the target appears for three seconds, then disappears for ten seconds, during which time one may reload. The shooting continues in this manner until the end of the series. A stop is made after each serie to mark the shots.

All shots not fired during the appearance of the target will be counted, as misses.

The classification is made by the number of center shots. In case of a tie in center shots, the valuation is based on the number of points. The value of the shot is determined by the side of the point of impact. In case the tie persists, the result will be determined by the number of center shots of the last series, then by the number of points in the same series. If the tie still continues, the valuation is based on the next to the last series, and so on. In case of the ties in center shots and in points the number of place is given which is determined by the average of the places which the competitors having the same result, would have obtained if there had been no tie. If, for example, three competitors have the same result, giving them the right to the sixth place, they will get:

$$\begin{array}{r} 6+7+8 \\ \hline 3 \\ \hline = 7. \end{array}$$

The competitor coming immediately after, will get the place equal to the number of competitors who have obtained a better result, plus one, which would be, in the above case, the 9th place. In every other contingency, the special regulations of international matches hold good.

II. Swimming (300 meter course, free style)

The special regulations of swimming are obeyed with this difference, that the competition is divided into series without finals. The result will be determined only by the time. In case of a tie of the same time, the same place is given (see Rapid Firing).

III. Fencing

The Sword Competition, in one hit, will take place in the Fencing Pavilion. The rules of the Federation Internationale d'Escrime will be applied with the following exception:

The fencers eliminated in any round, and having the same position in their respective pools, for instance Nos. 6, 7, etc., will fence a barrage until they have been classified. The general classification of the eliminated fencers is arrived at by placing the Nos. 6 of the various pools before those having the No. 7, the numbers 7 before the Nos. 8 and so forth.

Example
60 Fencers

First Round: 6 Pools of 10 Fencers.—Those having the numbers 1 to 5 in each pool pass on the next round. The numbers 6 in each pool fence together as well as the numbers 7, 8, 9 and 10, until a classification is obtained.

In the general classification, the Nos. 10 will have the Nos. 55-60, the Nos. 9, the Nos. 49-54, etc.

In this way, 50% of the fencers are definitely classified.

Second Round: 3 Pools of 10 Fencers.—Nos. 1 to 5 of each pool are qualified for the final. Nos. 6 to 10 fence together in the same manner as the same numbers of the first round.

After this barrage, they obtain successively the numbers 16 to 30 in the general classification.

IV. Cross Country (running)

1. Course: The course is laid over broken ground, the way being unknown to the competitors and marked immediately before the trial with red and white ribbons. The start and the finish will be in the stadium.

2. Starts: These will be individual and one minute apart.

The starting order of the nations will be determined by means of drawn lots. Each nation will designate the starting order of its own competitors and will warn the Organizing Committee of this order in advance. All the numbers 1 start successively, then all the numbers 2, etc.

Classification is made by time. In case of a tie in time, the same place is given.

For everything else, apply the special regulations of athletic sports.

V. Equitation

1. The starting order of the Nations is drawn by lot. Each nation will designate the starting order of its own competitors, and will warn the Organizing Committee of this order in advance.

All the numbers 1 shall start successively, then the numbers 2, etc.

2. Habits: For officers, undress uniform. For gentlemen, hunting costume,

3. Weight: 75 kilos. Saddlery free.

4. Horses: They will be supplied by the Organizing Committee and are provided with English saddlery and drawn by lot. They may not be tried before the Cross. (15 minutes before the start.)

5. Course: Will not be more than 5000 meters in length. The course will be shown not later than the day before the Cross. The obstacles (natural and artificial) will be marked by fanions between which the rider must pass. The obstacles will not be more in height than 1.10 meters and in width than 3.50 meters.

6. Start: The starts will be individual and 5 minutes apart.

7. Speed: This will be 450 meters per minute. All exceeding the required time will be penalized a half a point for each two seconds lost. During the Cross the rider may not receive aid from anyone or wait to make a pump with another rider.

8. Points: Each competitor receives at the start 100 points from which may be subtracted the following:

3 points for the first refusal halt, or breaking out.

6 points for the second refusal or breaking out.

50 points for the third refusal or breaking out, after which the rider, without having taken the obstacle in question, and in spite of the rules below relative to errors on the course, has the right to continue to the next obstacle.

5 points for the fall of the horse or of the horse and rider.

10 points for the fall of the rider alone.

The faults mentioned above—refusal, fall of the horse, fall of the rider—will not be counted except within a limit of 25 meters on both sides of the obstacle marked with two fanions:

If the rider does not take the obstacles in the indicated order, or if he does not jump between the two fanions, he must recommence his course at the place where the fault occurred. Otherwise, he will be disqualified for having committed a mistake in course.

The rider who, after three refusals at the same obstacle, continues, without clearing it, to the next obstacle, will not necessarily be disqualified.

In case of a tie in points, the result will be determined by the time.

REPORT OF MANAGER, ROWING TEAM

HENRY PENN BURKE

I have the honor to report that our rowing team won the Olympic Regatta, having achieved two decisive victories, viz: the Eight Oared and the Double Sculls; we also won two second places and one third place in the total of seven rowing events on the Olympic program.

No other nation won more than one first. England was our closest competitor. A summary showing how the various nations placed in the final result is given herewith:

EVENTS				First	Second	Third
FOUR with Coxswain				Italy	Swiss	Poland
PAIR without Coxswain				Germany	England	U. S. A.
SKIFF				Australia	U. S. A.	England
PAIR with Coxswain				Swiss	France	Belgium
FOUR without Coxswain				England	U. S. A.	Italy
DOUBLE SCULLS				U. S. A.	Canada	Austria
EIGHT OARED				U. S. A.	England	Canada
	1sts	2nds	3rds	1sts	2nds	3rds
U. S. A.	2	2	1	Canada0	1 1
England	1	2	1	France	0	1 0
Swiss	1	1	0	Poland	0	0 1
Italy	1	0	1	Belgium	0	0 1
Australia	1	0	0

There were TWENTY nations represented in the regatta with a total of 67 entries. This is more than twice the number in any previous Olympic Regatta in addition to which a much higher standard was evident among the entrants as a whole. The competition was therefore much harder and the winners are entitled to corresponding credit.

Furthermore, the competition of the oarsmen was continued for a longer period than of that of any other Olympic contestants—viz for 8 days—thereby subjecting them to the most extreme nervous tension. This long continued competition was necessitated by the fact that the rowing course was only 105 feet wide, or enough to accommodate only two crews at a time, in addition to which a system was in effect which re-admitted to competition crews which had been defeated once. We have no complaint regarding this system but mention it as a condition which had to be met and overcome; incidentally this system was of no advantage to us but rather the reverse.

As an illustration of the prolonged and strenuous competition, I will cite what our Eight Oared crew had to accomplish to emerge victoriously.

Our Eight Oared Crew—The University of California—Ky Ebright, Coach—defeated separately the champion Eight Oared crews of Belgium, Denmark, Italy, Canada and England—five distinct races. A mistake in any one might have been fatal. A race with all of these crews together in one contest such as the Intercollegiate Regatta at Poughkeepsie would have meant just one fifth of the physical and mental strain which this crew experienced in winning the championship of the world. The English Eight which we defeated in the final from the Thames Rowing Club—was the winner of the Grand Challenge Cup at the recent Henley Regatta, was the unquestioned champion Eight of Great Britain and contained a number of individual rowing stars, notably Jack Beresford, four times winner of the Diamond Sculls, Gollan, notable single sculler, Guy Nickals, 2nd et-al.

Our Double Scull Crew—Penn A. C. Philadelphia—Costello, stroke and McIlvaine, bow—Frank Muller, coach—won all of their races decisively; defeating Switzerland and Austria twice and in the final defeating Canada, represented by Wright and Guest, the two best scullers in Canada, and young Wright fresh from the English Henley Regatta in which he won the famous Diamond Sculls. In winning this race, Paul Costello has, I believe, made an Olympic record as this is the third Olympic Regatta in which he has been a winner in the Double Sculls race.

Our Four Oared Crew without Coxswain—Pennsylvania Barge Club, Philadelphia—Karle, stroke; Miller, 3; Healis, 2; Bayer, bow—Samuel L. Hunter, coach, defeated Germany, France and Italy and came within one yard of beating England in the final. England had drawn a Bye in the semi-final. This crew put forth a mighty effort to win. They gave all they had—more than that no man can do.

Myers, our Single Sculler, from the Bachelors Barge Club of Philadelphia gave a good account of himself throughout. He defeated in succession the champion of S. Africa, England, Switzerland and Holland. He was beaten in the final by Pearce of Australia, a most extraordinary young man, whose father and grand-father were rowing champions of the Antipodes. Pearce, by heritage, strength and skill and every other qualification necessary for a great oarsman, far surpasses anyone I have ever seen.

Our Pair without Coxswain—Pennsylvania Barge Club, Philadelphia—McDowell, stroke, Schmitt, bow and Hunter, coach—defeated Belgium, England and Italy; they were defeated by Germany, however, in the semi-final; the system of re-admission after one defeat mentioned above, permitted England to get into the final with Germany who won the race. This German crew was an exceptionally good one. The system of re-admission worked a hardship on us in this race as we only placed third with England second, notwithstanding we had beaten the English crew previously.

Our Four with Coxswain—Harvard University—Lawrence, stroke; Hubbard 3; Mason, 2; Cushman, bow; Belisle, Coxswain and Edward Brown, coach, was defeated by four fifths of a second after a very hard race in the first day of trials; in re-admission, defeated Japan, and in the seconds trials was defeated by Switzerland who finished second in the final.

Our Pair without Coxswain—Penn. A. C, Philadelphia, Dougherty, stroke; Goetz, bow and Mack, Coxswain—this crew never placed, being defeated by Italy and France.

The Netherland Rowing Federation, which had charge of the arrangements for the Regatta deserves the highest praise and credit for the splendid and thorough manner in which they provided every detail for the convenience and comfort for the visiting oarsmen as well as the officials and representatives of the press and the spectators. The races were rowed on a canal at Sloten, a small village about six miles from the center of Amsterdam. The course was absolutely straight; the distance for all races was two thousand meters or 13 yards less than a mile and a quarter. There was no current in the canal and the prevailing wind was favorable to the oarsmen.

The arrangements were not only the best ever provided for any previous Olympic Rowing but were more complete and thorough in all respects than any we have ever had for any regatta in America. We have only the highest praise for our hosts in Rowing who have shown us a standard to emulate in the Olympic Regatta to be held in Los Angeles in 1932.

Our Rowing Team represented the very best type of American manhood, all native born and with only a very few exceptions their parents are native born Americans. Our Rowing Team averaged 23 $\frac{1}{3}$ years in age, 176 pounds in weight, 6 feet, $\frac{1}{2}$ inch in height. This average is the ideal rowing man.

This is the first Olympic Regatta in which America has been represented by a full Rowing Team and all the members of our team join with me in expressing their thanks and appreciation for this privilege and for the excellent arrangements and accommodations provided for us on the S. S. President Roosevelt and for the transportation of our men daily from the ship to the rowing course and return.

Appended hereto Is a complete schedule of every race rowed In the Olympic Regatta, also a schedule showing the personnel of each crew, giving the full names and addresses of the men and the coaches.

REPORT OF MANAGER, EIGHT-OARED CREW BLAKE H. WHARTON

Expressing the sentiments of the American Eight-Oared Crew—the Univ. of California Varsity Crew of 1928.

There is no doubt in the mind of any member of this division of the American Olympic Team but that the Americans were by far the most favorably and efficiently equipped and accommodated aggregation at the Ninth Olympiad.

Since we have returned many rumors have been heard to the effect that incorrect food for training purposes was served to the athletes. Let this rumor be silenced as it is entirely without foundation. The food was perfectly satisfactory for training purposes, each trainer being allowed to select his own menu. If the ability of any athlete suffered because of incorrect diet, it was because he, personally had disregarded training regulations.

Quartering aboard the Roosevelt while at Amsterdam was the most satisfactory arrangement possible, considering the crowded and noise-some conditions prevailing in the city.

On the other hand may we offer a few constructive suggestions for the future?

Non-participating passengers should be, insofar as possible placed in a position secondary to the participating members. Various conditions affect the mental attitude of competitive athletes. Their living accommodations, therefore should be the best possible. When a particular group has become a homogeneous body, they should be placed together. Thus in dining and living together they are able to constructively criticize each other and offer encouragement. Athletes first in dining and rooming—passengers follow in importance.

Concerning any eight-oared crew specifically—care of physical condition is paramount. Therefore provision for the crew's own trainer should be made. He knows the men—all of their individual characteristics. A track trainer might easily spoil a crew man. Without their own trainer the eight-oar crew would have been seriously handicapped in the last Olympiad—yet he was given passage only after great difficulty.

In a college eight-oar crew it would always be wise to take an assistant coach. If the regular coach should become disabled, a college crew would not be able to coach itself as would a crew of more experienced oarsmen.

These last two points are especially important in regarding an eight-oar crew where co-ordination, the result of proper conditioning and coaching is of greatest importance. In the case of the California Crew no little credit should go to assistant coach Russell Nagler, and trainer Charles Volz, whose assistance to Coach Carroll Ebright in perfecting co-ordination and condition was invaluable. Neither of these positions were provided for in the Olympic Crew allotment, and although the University of California was willing to care for their passage, it was only after much difficulty that they were placed, though it was apparent that many non-participating passengers were booked.

General Douglas MacArthur commands the admiration of the whole crew for his just, and impartial executive ability.

His task was no small one. We, of the American eight-oared crew, unite in extending a hearty welcome to our state to those attending the Tenth Olympiad in 1932.

REPORT OF ROWING COACH

CARROLL M. EBRIGHT

I am glad to report that as far as the eight oar crew is concerned, the trip of the American Olympic team to Amsterdam was satisfactory. It was well arranged and efficiently handled and the management of the team seemed to give conscientious effort to supplying our wants. Our accommodations aboard the Roosevelt were good enough although they became tiresome.

The lay-out at Sloten was good and it was a nice place to row. The regatta was well organized and progressed smoothly though it was slightly drawn out. However, the most important thing is that the races were won and as conditions were such that this was possible, we are happy.

REPORT OF ROWING COACH

FRANK J. MULLER

The elimination trials for rowing were held at Philadelphia on the Schuylkill River July 5, 6, 7, 1928; there were seven crews selected to represent America. These crews were: single scull, double scull, pair-oared with coxswain, pair-oared without coxswain, four oared shell without coxswain, eight oared shell and the four oared with coxswain.

Of the seven races, America won two which were, Double Scull and Eight-Oared Shell and were also second in the Single and Four-Oared Shell without coxswain. The pair with coxswain and the four with coxswain were eliminated and did not score any points for America.

The double that represented America and won the Championship were: Chas. McIlvaine, Bow, Paul Costello, Stroke, representing the Penn A. C. and both from Philadelphia, Pa. Costello also rowed in the 1920 Olympiad in Belgium with John B. Kelly and also in 1924 Olympiad in France with John B. Kelly. Paul Costello is the only American oarsman who has rowed and won in three Olympic races, 1920, 1924, 1928. He was coached by me in all his Olympic races.

The rowing arrangements at Amsterdam were the best of all the Olympics that I have attended, which were Belgium 1920, France 1924. Everything was carefully arranged and the rowing committee of Holland should be highly congratulated for their very fine work.

There has been some talk of the American athletes being underfed, which frankly is absurd, as every one on the American Team had plenty to eat.

It seems to me that some people think that America should win all the Olympic events and if they don't, then some nice person comes along with some nasty criticisms, who does not know the first thing in regard to training an athlete.

SAMUEL L. HUNTER

As Coach (Amateur) of the Pair-oared shell without coxswain and of the Four-oared shell without coxswain, which represented the United States in the Ninth Olympiad at Amsterdam, 1928, I submit the following report as to the training, competition and the results of competition of the two above mentioned crews.

The quarters and training facilities aboard the "President Roosevelt" were excellent. Every assistance was given to enable the men to keep in condition during the trip to Amsterdam.

At the Games, due to the Rowing course being located at Sloten (a small village on the outskirts of Amsterdam), it was necessary to transport the men from and to the ship each day. Of the gentlemen in charge of this transportation I can only have praise, I would like to express through you my thanks and appreciation of the courtesies shown by them.

The Dutch arrangements for Rowing were the finest I have ever seen; the officials in charge showed us every consideration.

On August 2, 1928, the first day of the Regatta, the Pair-oar defeated Belgium rather easily. On August 6th they defeated England after a hard race. In the semi-final on August 8th they were defeated by Germany, who eventually won the Pair-oar championship. Since England defeated Italy this same day, the Pair had to row Italy for third place on August 10th. This race they won. (An interesting feature arose—the crew which got second place was defeated by the crew which got third place.)

The Four-oared shell on August 3rd defeated Germany. On August 6th they were to have rowed France, but due to the illness of one of the French crew, France withdrew. America was then (about a half hour before the race) given the privilege of rowing over the course alone and winning from France by default or of racing Italy, who had drawn a "bye". As, however, under the repechage system used in the Regatta, a crew had to be beaten twice to be eliminated, defeating Italy would have served no purpose; we chose the "row-over." On August 8th the Four-oar rowed Italy and won, while England drew a "bye." On August 10th the Four-oar was defeated in the finals by England by one second, after a very hard race. (I have made no mention as to time, etc., because conditions, especially as to wind, on the Sloten course changed very suddenly and rapidly.)

While neither crew won, I feel that both made a very creditable showing of American rowing and sportsmanship while representing America in Holland.

In my opinion, the Rowing races lasted for too long a period. Rowing takes too great a toll in both physical and nervous energy to be prolonged over any great stretch of time. For this reason, no Regatta should last over three days; also "byes" should be prohibited.

I wish to take this opportunity of expressing the thanks of my crews and myself to Mr. Henry Penn Burke, Manager of Rowing, for the earnest and efficient manner in which he handled our interests. Mr. Burke did not spare himself in any way, and his efforts on behalf of the rowing men were untiring. What we did accomplish, I feel should be in no small measure attributed to him.

I have also to thank the American Olympic Committee for their hearty support and cooperation, both direct and through our Manager, Mr. Burke.

RULES GOVERNING ROWING COMPETITION
DEFINITION OF AMATEUR OF THE INTERNATIONAL FEDERATION OF ROWING SOCIETIES

An amateur is he who because of taste and for distraction participates in rowing without receiving any pecuniary profit whatsoever from it, either directly or indirectly and who is a recognized amateur by the Federation of his country.

In consequence, those are absolutely not recognized as amateur rowers who are or have been:

1. Professional rowers, seamen (with the exception of officers, student officers, employees of the Navy Department, recognized as officers by their Federation), boatmen, ferrymen, state fishermen, dock-watchmen, salaried teachers of rowing, constructors and artisans of boats, and rowers who compete or have competed for prizes. An instructor paid especially to teach rowing, jointly with and over and above scholastic instructions, to his pupils does not lose the standing of amateur.

2. Rowers who have taken part in an open race with the persons mentioned in the above paragraph.

3. And anyone who is a professional in another sport.

And besides, all rowers are considered amateurs who outside of their travelling expenses resulting from their participation in regattas are provided for their daily needs through the proper channels. In this regard, the President of the Federation under whose standard the rower has entered in International regattas is personally responsible for this entry.

Trainers, monitors, instructors, or coaches teaching the sports for gain or for any pecuniary profit direct or indirect, may not compete, or be judges, members of a committee or of a jury.

ROWING—AUGUST 2ND TO 10TH, 1928

On The Sloten Canal Near Amsterdam

Each nation must send a list of events in which they intend to compete by June 21st, 1928.

All individual and team entries must be received by July 12th, 1928.

Any alteration in the entries must be received by July 23rd, 1928.

ROWERS AND TEAMS

Each boat team has the right to replace its rowers to the extent of half and the coxswain, if the substitutes satisfy the entry requirements and the declaration of their names and positions is made at least a half an hour before the race, at the office of the organizing Committee of the Regatta, to the jury, or to the Umpire who must officially report the substitution to the Jury.

While there are elimination races there may not be a change made in the team which runs in the finals.

If there is only one team, it must race just the same.

Article II
DEFINITION OF AMATEUR
(See Definition Above)

Article III

The coxswain and the rower at the bow of each team (bowman) shall carry on their backs the number corresponding to that given them in the programme.

Article IV

The organizing Committee of the Regatta (Art. 12 of the General Regulations) shall appoint the Umpire. His function may include that of starter or of Course Judge. The Umpire alone shall judge whether or not a boat stays in its own course, if a boat should be taken out of the race for breaking a rule, if a race should or should not be recommenced in case of abnormal conditions. In the case where the Umpire considers it necessary to confer the function of Starter to another person, the latter shall always be under the direction and control of the former.

Article V

The Umpire judges the regularity of the course of the boats. He may warn rowers on the point of committing an error of a nature such as might injure a competitor or cause an accident.

In the exercise of their functions, the Jury or the Umpire may take disciplinary measures which they think just towards teams who break the rules or who refuse obedience or deference to instructions given them. Disciplinary measures may consist of the following: in being taken out of the race for infractions of the rules or for not following the orders of the Jury, and, for grave cases, disqualification, and consequently, temporary or definite exclusion of the team (or of the Nation to which the team belongs).

The decisions of the Umpire or of the Jury are without appeal concerning the events of the race.

Appeals may only be made against decisions contradicting stipulations of the International Code; these appeals shall be judged by the Central Committee of the F. I. S. A.

Article VI

Competitors must be at their places before the hour of starting fixed by the program. The starting signal shall be given without waiting for late arrivals.

After being assured that the teams are ready by the question "Are you ready?" the starter orders the start by the command "Go!", at the same time lowering his flag.

If the starter thinks the start irregular, he may, within twenty seconds following the start, call the boats back to their starting point.

All stops in the race, either by the Umpire or by the Starter, is made by waving the flag and ringing a bell.

The Umpire has a white flag, and the starter a red one.

Number one is always beside the Jury stand.

Article VII

During the race the boats must stay in their own respective courses; they must not cut the route of competing boats to inconvenience them or to hinder them from following their own route.

The boat that goes out of its course does so at its own risk and peril.

The route or course of a boat consists of the most direct line to be run by the whole group, taking into consideration the course of each boat, allotted to that boat and occupied at the start, and the place which it must leave free for the other boats.

Article VIII

The competitors may not, in any fashion, let themselves be followed during the race, by other boats in order to receive council or encouragement. The Umpire may take out of the race any team, any member of which conducts himself in an improper manner.

Article IX

In case of a disagreement on the interpretation of the text, the French text alone is authoritative.

TIME TABLE

The first day, if the number of competitors in the race is even, all will start. If the number is uneven there will be a bye.

The second day, all the losers of the first day will start.

The third day, all the winners of the first day, the bye of the first day, and all the winners of the second day will start.

The fourth day, all those who have only lost once will start whereas those who have lost twice or only once in a race for reclassification are definitely eliminated. After the third day no races for reclassification will be held.

The fifth day, the winner of the third and fourth days will start.

The sixth day, the winners of the fifth day will start.

The seventh day is the day of the finals and of the race for third place for the winners of the sixth day.

Lots will be drawn the evening before each day.

The course is two thousand meters straightway on the Sloten canal near Amsterdam.

Two boats will enter in each race.

There will be elimination races if the number of entries is more than two. Lots will be drawn for the elimination races on the 31st of July and further in the evening before each following race.

The boathouse is situated near the finish and will be open about the tenth of July.

To facilitate the transportation of boats, the Committees are requested to ship them to the following address:

NEDERLANDSCH OLYMPISCH COMITE, Amsterdam

PAUL V. COSTELLO and CHARLES McILVAINE

Being crowned with the laurel wreath Olympic Double Sculls Champions. Costello has the distinct honor of being the victor of this event in three successive Olympiads, a feat surpassed by only one athlete.

REPORT OF MANAGER, SOCCER TEAMELMER A. SCHROEDER

I beg to submit to you the report of the Manager of the United States Olympic Soccer Team:

Prior to the departure for Europe, the United States Olympic Soccer Team was assembled in the Prince George Hotel, New York City, on May 9th. On the evening of the same day, the American Olympic Committee tendered a farewell banquet to the team and its officials. The team sailed from New York on May 10th aboard the S. S. De Grasse and after a calm pleasant voyage and adherence to a definite schedule of training, arrived at Havre, France on May 19th. The team travelled immediately by rail to Paris and was quartered in the Hotel Terminus. The afternoon of the 19th was taken for sightseeing by bus. The players saw Paris from the Eiffel Tower, and in the evening the team attended the theatre. On Sunday, May 20th, players of Catholic faith attended Mass in the world famed Cathedral, Notre Dame. The delegation proceeded to Amsterdam at noon of the same day on the "North Star Limited" passed through the northern part of France, crossed Belgium through the district of the famous battlefield of the World War, and arrived at the Hotel de Haas, Amsterdam, in the early evening of the 19th. At Antwerp, Belgium, the team was met by Mr. Hoover, American attache and son of the American Consul General in Amsterdam. Mr. Hoover accompanied the team to Amsterdam and on a number of occasions thereafter.

In Amsterdam, the field and other facilities of the Ajax Club, were placed at the disposal of the American delegation. Daily morning practices were held there in preparation for the game with Argentine, and a schedule of training was religiously adhered to by all players.

On May 21st, the team was the guests of the Carre Theatre, where the players were given seats of honor draped with the flags of United States and Holland. As a further courtesy, the American National Anthem was played immediately after the team arrived in the theatre.

On May 23rd, a trip was made by automobile to Marken and Vollandam, two old fishing villages about twenty miles from Amsterdam, where the quaint and picturesque old Dutch costumes are still worn, including the wooden shoes.

On May 24th, the team played its first practice game against one of Holland's best combinations, the Ajax Club, the game ending by the score 1 goal to 1.

The famous diamond factory of Amsterdam was visited in the afternoon of the 25th, and in the evening, at the request of the Dutch hosts, a baseball game was played with the Ajax Club which resulted in the score 29 to 4 in favor of the Americans. The game was well attended and accompanied by much enthusiasm.

The second practice game was played with the Ajax Club on May 26th, and the result was 6 goals to 6.

On Sunday the 27th, the players attended Church, those of Protestant faith, attending an old famous English-American Church which is interesting historically.

The Olympic Game with Argentine was played in the New Stadium on the evening of May 29th, at seven o'clock, before an audience of possibly 15,000. The American team, led by the Captain, Robert Aitkens, entered the field amid an enthusiastic and welcome ovation. The team wore white jerseys bearing the American colors and the American Olympic emblem, white pants, and red, white and blue stockings. The team appeared before the officials' section, gave the American Olympic call, exchanged greetings with the opponents, and took positions for the game. Argentine scored first after fourteen minutes of play, and again ten minutes later. It was at this point, that Cooper, the American goal keeper, was injured and suffered a slight concussion of the brain. He was revived and only spirit and courage enabled him to continue in a dazed condition. Half time score stood 4 to 0 in favor of Argentine, and the final score 11 to 2.

It was unfortunate that the American team was drawn to play Argentine in the first round. The Argentine team had recently defeated Uruguay for the South American Championship, had traveled for a long period in Europe, playing games prior to the Olympiad, and consisted of an almost perfect combination, believed to be professional, but of which each man was a finished artist. The team possessed the finest forward line of the Olympic teams, a defense slightly less effective than that of Uruguay but in the writer's opinion, despite that of Uruguay but in the writer's opinion, despite Olympic tournament. It can be stated candidly that America could have produced no combination, amateur or professional that could have carried the colors into the second round with Argentine as an opponent in the first.

Had the American team been fortunate enough to have drawn any one of the aspirants with the exception of Uruguay, Argentine or Germany, there would have been a happier story to relate. Of these, America could have defeated one-half, and of the other, the results would have been very close and the winner questionable. The score 11 to 2 affords a wide margin, but it should not be forgotten that in other games the scores stood 7-1, 11-3, 6-0, and the like, and that America was but one of ten teams which were eliminated before the opening of the second round.

The American players lost gracefully and as true sportsmen. The players fought consistently for the full time of the game and despite their realization in the closing minutes that defeat by a large score was inevitable, they continued to give their very best efforts and to play in a manner which was an honor to the country they were chosen to represent. It took courage and no man fell short. If ever my heart and sympathies went out to another, it was then—to a team which gave its best to its Country's cause for world good will—to a team which fought so honorably but which was beaten by superior ability and longer experience—to a team which was conscious of the disappointment back home—to a team which feared unjust criticism from those at home, who would not understand because they cared not to understand. The daily question was: "Will we be received as friendly, as willingly, as sympathetically at home after defeat as we are now received in Holland?" That is a question for America to decide, but Europe has decided that America should be proud of its team.

Immediately following the game, the American players attended a reception given by the Netherlands Football Association in the "Y" Pavilion. On the 31st, a trip was taken by automobile to Zandvort, a seaside resort, and to numerous places outside of Amsterdam.

On June 1st, the Holland Olympic team defeated the American team 3 goals to 2, in a game in which the play was equal. The team officially visited the American Consul on June 3rd, and left Amsterdam by rail on June 5th, for Bremen.

On arrival in Bremen, the team was greeted by the American Vice Consul, Mr. Black, and a German delegation who presented the manager with a bouquet of flowers, a mark of German courtesy and friendliness. After being quartered in the Park Hotel, places of historical interest were visited, and an elaborate dinner was served in the Rathskeller of the famous old Rathshous of Bremen. Silver pencils were presented to the players by the North German Lloyd. On the morning and afternoon of the 6th, the team went sightseeing by automobile, and visited the Kaffe Hag, and Goldina Chocolate factories. The game in Bremen with the Werder Club was scheduled at 7 o'clock. After an effective ceremony, during which the Manager was presented with a banner of the Werder Club, the teams gave their calls and marched around the field behind the American colors which received a great ovation. The game was won by the American team 3 goals to 2, and was followed by a banquet in Jacobie Hall, which was attended by the Vice Consul and the President of the Bremen Senate.

On June 7th, the team flew by aeroplane to Hamburg, a distance of approximately ninety miles, in forty-two minutes, and arrived in Hamburg safely where the delegation was cordially received. The team was quartered in the Kaiserhof Hotel and on arrival the players were greeted by thirty or more boys, members of a junior team, dressed in soccer suits, who stood rigidly at attention and formed a lane of honor in front of the hotel entrance through which the American delegation passed. On the 10th, the team was received by the American Consul and again the program consisted of sightseeing and elaborate dinners. The American team lost to Altona 4 to 3, in a game in which the majority of play was credited to the visitors. Following the game, a remarkable banquet was given to the United States Team, and the manager was presented with the banner of the Altona Club.

The team left Hamburg on the 10th, went to Berlin, and there boarded the Transcontinental Express for Warsaw. On June 11th, the team was greeted in Warsaw by the officials of the Polish Football Association and members of the Military Staff of the President of the Republic. The team was escorted to the Bristol Hotel, had dinner, and at five o'clock played the Polish National team a 3-3 game which was attended by the President and members of his official staff. The American team, following the American colors, appeared before the President's Box, saluted and gave the Olympic call followed by "Niech Zyje Polask!" (Long live Poland). The thousands of Polish spectators cheered wildly, and the manager of the American team was presented with a silver cup by the Vice-President of the Polish Football Association, the leading lawyer of Poland. It may be added that the President of the Association is a general in the Polish Army. The President of Poland, Prof. Dr. Mosciski then requested that the Manager and Captain of the American team be presented to him, which was done, and the honor and pleasure were theirs to engage in a short conversation and exchange of greetings with him. Newspaper reports of a riot or exhibition of hostility to the referee in this game are unfounded. The game turned from a victory into a draw in the last half minute of play, when a penalty was called against the American team which was scored. The team was honored by a banquet in the evening. Two games were lost 6-0 and 7-0 in Lodz on the 12th and in Poznan on the 13th. These defeats to inferior clubs can be attributed to the fact that the team was tired and sustained injuries in Warsaw. The schedule was burdensome in Poland, but the only condition under which the team could travel to Poland was that three games be played there. Banners were again presented ceremoniously in Lodz and Poznan. The team was quartered in the Grand Hotel in Lodz and in the Continental Hotel in Poznan.

After leaving Poznan on the 13th, the team arrived in London via the Hook of Holland on the 14th, and were quartered in the Victoria Hotel. Four players proceeded to Scotland and the remainder enjoyed the many interesting sights of London. The team sailed for the United States from Southampton on Board the S, S. America on June 17th, stopped for a short period at Cobh, Ireland, and after a stormy trip arrived in New York on June 26th. Enroute to America, the ship was circled by the trans-atlantic plane "Friendship" which endeavored to drop messages on board. On arrival in New York, the team was greeted by President Brown, Secretary Cahill and Asst. Secretary Sansom. The players immediately left for their homes.

By those who look upon the sport from a strictly competitive standpoint the Olympic mission may be termed a failure, for at first blush 11 to 2 appears to be an humiliating score. For these, the writer holds a deep sympathy for their short vision. But those who know the whole truth, who appreciate that an Olympic mission is a mission of good will to foreign neighbors, who place above victory or defeat, the significance of creating a favorable, friendly and sportsmanlike impression, the American Olympic team was an unusual success. The sixteen players who composed the American contingent returned home better than they went. They returned with a greater sympathy for foreign people and their customs, with a broader vision of the world, enriched educationally by travel and helped tremendously by association with foreign people of culture, who are courteous, polite and sympathetic. The American players were truly ambassadors of good will for they left behind them a better understanding of American sportsmanship. These sixteen crusaders were loyal, clean living, earnest and gave all they had to the purpose for which they were sent. There was no single instance of discredit, no misbehavior, not a word of discontent or discord. A finer group of men could not have been chosen to represent America, and America should be proud of them. What more could any one ask?

Dr. Manning well expressed the purpose of sending the American team abroad at the meeting of the Federation Internationale de Football Congress, when in substance he remarked, that although America fully realized that the team was young, comparatively inexperienced and stood no chance to win an Olympic Championship, nevertheless America chose to bear the burden of expense of sending a team, to show American good will and to support the Olympic movement, and that America chose to lose, rather than to sacrifice her honor in not conforming strictly to the amateur regulation imposed upon the contestants. Dr. Manning's address was received most favorably by the Congress, created a deep lasting impression, and was repeated by football men, who appreciated its significance in every city which the American team visited.

It is recommended that the advisability of sending twenty-two players to Olympic Games to facilitate training, to permit exhibition games to be played frequently and to guard against weakening the team by injuries, be considered in the future by the Olympic Committee. It is recommended that lighter weight shoes be provided for the players since those provided for in the present equipment were unusually heavy and were a handicap.

RULES GOVERNING SOCCER FOOTBALL

AMATEUR DEFINITION OF THE "FEDERATION INTERNATIONALE DE FOOTBALL ASSOCIATION"

Art. 1. The Federation fosters and governs amateur sport and controls professional football.

Art. 2. The players are either amateurs or professionals.

Art. 3. Each player registered by an affiliated Association as a professional is recognized as such by the Federation and by all the affiliated Associations.

Art. 4. Each player receiving money or taking any advantage above the reimbursement or payment for his account of expenses for dress, travelling or hotel duly justified, shall be declared a professional.

Under travelling- and hotel-expenses are to be understood those, necessary for the taking part in matches, training or the fact of being a reserve to a team.

It is not allowed to pay to amateurs compensation for broken time excepted in some well circumscribed cases to be fixed by each National Association.

However full compensation for broken time shall never be reimbursed and it shall not be given in such a way that the player will be tempted to put sport before his work.

The regulations of National Associations concerning this matter shall be previously approved by the Executive Committee who will take account—in fixing the number of days for which the compensation may be given—with the idea mentioned here above and the geographical conditions of each country.

The National Associations are at liberty to allow the above mentioned limited compensation for broken time or not.

Art. 5. A player may receive at the expense of his club the advices of a coach or trainer, the cares of masseurs or specialists for his training or when he is injured.

In case of accident, he may benefit of insurances, the premiums of which have been paid by his Association or Club. If injured, he may also when he is not insured or when the insurance might not cover the expenses, receive from his club a pecuniary assistance upon condition of having obtained previously the authorization from his National Association.

Art. 6. Amateur-players must deliver for each sum received a specified receipt and these receipts shall always be at the disposal of the National Association and the Federation.

Art. 7. If an amateur is a paid employee of a club or an Association, he has to prove at each demand that the services he can render as a player are of no influence upon the estimation of wages, paid to him in quality of employee.

Art. 8. Each player, taking part in a competition for money prizes, is a professional.

Art. 9. An amateur loses his qualification as such, when a decision of his Association declares him a professional.

If declaring his wish to become a professional, he shall be a professional when his request has been agreed to by his National Association.

Art. 10. Whatever might be the status of its players, a club shall, for being affiliated to one of the Associations of the Federation, exclusively be governed by amateurs and cannot be a source of income for its leaders or for those having advanced capital or money in any form.

The money advanced, or the subscribed capital, however, may not claim for more interest than 4/3 of the official discount of the country per annum.

Schroeder, manager; John Duffy, William Findlay, Joseph Murphy, John Rudge, George Burford, trainer.

Art. 11. The fact of a player being dealer in sporting-articles, does not make him a professional.

Before being allowed to play in matches such a player ought to be in possession of an authorization from his National Association. This authorization may only be given when the National Association is convinced that the rules on amateurism have been observed.

Art. 12. It is strictly prohibited to an amateur to advertise or to authorize advertisement by means of his name or by his qualities as a football-player.

Art. 13. It is prohibited to an amateur to authorize a commercial firm to advertise by means of his photo.

13a. A professional cannot be reinstated by his National Association as an amateur within a period of one year after the date he has requested to be recognized as an amateur and after having proved that he gives up his status of professional.

A player who has become twice a professional cannot be reinstated as an amateur.

RULES ON THE ALLOWANCE OF COMPENSATION FOR BROKEN TIME

(See the "Official Communications" of the Federation Internationale de Football Association" 4th Year No. 29, September 16th, 1927)

Art. 4. (Regulations) says:

It is not allowed to pay compensation for broken time excepted in some well circumscribed cases to be fixed by each National Association.

However full compensation for broken time shall never be reimbursed and it shall not be given in such a way that the player will be tempted to put sport before his work.

The regulations of National Associations concerning this matter shall be previously approved by the Executive Committee, who will take account, in fixing the number of days for which the compensation may be given, the idea mentioned here above and the geographical conditions of each country.

The National Associations are at liberty to allow the above mentioned limited compensation for broken time or not.

The Executive Committee decided to be prepared to consider the regulations of the National Associations on this subject if the following rules were observed:

1. The demands must be made to the National Associations by the players personally and be accompanied by all the necessary proofs and documents.

2. The National Associations must keep records of the full names and residences of the players allowed to receive partial compensation for broken-time, the amounts which they have received and on which dates. These records must be put at the disposal of the Executive Committee at once after its request.

3. Maximum indemnity. Unmarried players supporting their family and married players shall receive 90 per cent of their wages at the maximum; the limit for unmarried players is fixed at 75 per cent of their wages.

4. The indemnity may be given exceptionally for playing International Matches and final competitions for a National championship or a National trophy (for instance final and semi-finals of National cup competitions).

The Executive Committee will decide in each case, what is to be considered as the final competition of a National championship or a National trophy.

Excluded will be international interclub matches and district league championships.

5. Maximum number of days: The Executive Committee will fix for each country the maximum number of days, which shall not exceed 20 days in each year.

(When overseas associations, who are permitted to allow limited compensation for loss of salary send a team to the Olympic Games, 1928, at Amsterdam the number of days of the duration of the voyage to and from Europe may be added to the allowed number of days).

6. The indemnity must be paid directly to the employer.

Second Prize: Diploma to the second team; silver Olympic medal and diploma to each member of the team.

Third Prize: Diploma to the third team; bronze Olympic medal and diploma to each member of the team.

Note.—The rules of this sport for Olympic competitions are those of the Federation Internationale de Football Association. In case of disagreement on the interpretation of these rules, the English text will prevail.

RULES AND DISPOSITIONSRules of the TournamentSection 1*

The technical organization of the Football Tournament will be entrusted to the Federation Internationale de Football Association.

Laws of The Game*Section 2*

The laws of the game will be those of the International Board for 1927/28. In case of disagreement on the interpretation of those laws the English text will prevail.

Entries and Quality of the Players*Section 3*

Each nation Invited by the Organizing Committee can enter only one team. The National entry form must be received by the Organizing Committee by April 15th, 1928. Each nation may send the names of 22 players. Lists of individual and team entries must be received by the Organizing Committee by May 6th, 1928. Alterations in the entries must be received by May 17th, 1928.

Official Delegate*Section 4*

Each country has to state the name and title of its official delegate. That delegate will alone be qualified to represent his country, and must have full powers by his Olympic Committee.

System of The Tournament*Section 5*

The tournament will take place in eliminating rounds; the opposition in matches will be obtained by the drawing of lots. The system of this drawing of lots will be fixed by the F. I. F. A.

The winners of the first eliminating round will be opposed to one another by the same principle, also by the drawing of lots and so forth. The team, winning the last match by the successive elimination of the other competitors, will be given the first place, the losing team in the final having the second place. An additional match will oppose the losers of the two semi-finals, the winner being placed third.

If the number of competitors happens to be 8, 16 or 32, there will be no exemption to the first eliminating round. If there must be exemptions, these will be drawn by lots. Their number will be such that, added to that of the winners of the first eliminating round, a total of 8, 16 or 32 competitors is obtained for the second eliminating round. The Delegates of the Nations participating, as mentioned in section 4, will be called to witness each drawing of lots.

Duration of Matches and Matches to be Replayed*Section 6*

Each match will last 90 minutes (two half times of 45 minutes), with a rest as provided for by the rules of the game.

Section 7

In case of a draw at the end of the full time, the game will be prolonged by 30 minutes, with a 5 minutes rest at half time, that is after 15 minutes of play.

If this extension has not brought about the desired result of splitting the teams, then the match will have to be replayed at a later date fixed by the F. I. F. A. If this second match gives no result after the full time, it will also be prolonged by 30 minutes. In case the tie should persist after this second extended match, the F. I. F. A. will decide eventually for a third match if the calendar permits it. In case of a material impossibility, the F. I. F. A. may resort to the drawing of lots to decide which team will be considered qualified for the next eliminating round.

Calendar of Matches and Grounds*Section 8*

The sequence and the dates of matches will be determined by the P. I. F. A., having the right to bring about any alteration it sees fit in the interest of the tournament, until the last moment.

Section 9

The grounds, with dimensions as mentioned in the rules of the game, upon which the matches will take place, will be designated by the organizing Committee.

Referees, Protests, Jury of Appeal*Section 10*

The F. I. F. A. will designate the referees and linesmen who will be charged with the leading of the matches. As a matter of principle, no referee or linesman will officiate in a match of his own country.

Section 11

Protests concerning the amateur status of a player and concerning all other facts will be judged according to the articles 15 and 16 of the General Regulations.

Section 12

The Jury of Appeal will be composed of 5 members designated by the F. I. F. A. Its decisions will be Irrevocable.

Composition and Colors of the Teams*Section 13*

Each National Association may alter its teams composition from one match to another, even in the case of a replay, on condition that the substitute's name figure on the list of entries.

Section 14

Each team will wear its national colors to be stated on the list of entry. In case that after the opinion of the F. I. F. A. the colors of two opposing teams are sufficiently alike to cause confusion, one of the teams shall have to change its colors. This team will be designated by the drawing of lots.

Cases Unforeseen*Section 15*

Any cases not provided for by the present rules will be dealt with by the F. I. F. A.

REPORT OF MANAGER, SWIMMING TEAM
JOHN T. TAYLOR

American swimmers, both men and women, retained Olympic Championships by decisive margins and fully lived up to the high standards established by their predecessors. Ten of the fifteen swimming and diving events at the Ninth Olympiad in Amsterdam were won by the United States.

The 1928 team was the strongest that has ever represented America and accounted for no less than six new records. It was selected entirely from the final tryouts—the fairest method possible and the most free from criticism—and contained every out-standing performer in the country. I recommend the continuation of this means of selection for future Olympic teams.

Living quarters on the S. S. President Roosevelt were ideal and the food throughout was of the very best. Members of the team are loud in their praise of conditions. Transportation for practice was also of high order. I might state that arrangements in general were decidedly superior to Paris in 1924.

All members of the swimming team conducted themselves at all times and places as representative American men and women and no complaints have been brought to my attention.

My chief constructive criticism for the future is that the practice pool should be chosen at least six months in advance by an experienced swimming official who understands exactly what is needed for swimmers and divers. This same suggestion was made by me in 1924 but apparently passed unnoticed as no swimming authorities were consulted about arrangements at Amsterdam with the result that two practice pools were provided that were totally unfitted. It was necessary for Miss O'Mara, Mr. Reilly and myself to spend two entire days in locating a satisfactory place. The only desirable pool was at Haarlem, a distance of sixteen miles, which required too much travel each day. This same condition prevailed at Paris in 1924 and immediate steps should be taken to guard against recurrence.

In water polo America had the misfortune to draw Hungary, which had won the European championship, for our first match and we were defeated decisively. Two outstanding faults are evident in American water polo; first, there is very little competition in this country and secondly our National Championships and Olympic Tryouts are held in small, indoor pools. Consequently our players are handicapped when placed in a large outdoor pool. Unless leading athletic clubs foster out-door water polo and provide more competition, it would be useless for us to enter another water polo team in the Olympics.

Swimmers throughout the world have shown great improvement and from now on we will face even closer competition. It is gratifying to note that those who furnished our chief opposition at Amsterdam had received the benefits of American coaching and competition.

I desire to commend publicly Coaches Bachrach, McGilivray, Kiphuth and Brandsten for their efficient and untiring services, also Assistant Managers Dr. M. F. D'Eliscu and Miss Doris O'Mara and the chaperones, Mrs. Alice Lord Landon and Mrs. Ada Taylor Sackett.

The splendid cooperation of your committee was of great assistance to the swimming team for which I express thanks on behalf of the entire squad, especially to President Mac Arthur whose interest, advice and presence at competition and practice helped to maintain the high morale that stands out as one of the bright features of our 1928 swimming team.

REPORT OF ASSISTANT MANAGER, SWIMMING TEAM
DR. FRANCOIS D'ELISCU

The success and experience gained from the recent Olympic trip to Amsterdam, Holland, has convinced educators interested in the progressive development of athletics, to many important changes, results and observations noticed for future teachings.

The tremendous organization necessary to move any army from one place to another, and the success of the plans being completed, does not depend alone on those heads guiding and directing, as much as the individuals who are expected to do the actual work. This evident result was clearly shown on board the athletic ship. In many instances there was an abundance of super-organization that sent those subordinates under orders to many directions, causing a great deal of personal discomfort. This no doubt was understood and excusable. There were so many heads expected to do something, in order to maintain the dignity and position allotted or voted or given to them, by the organizing body, that it had to be done. It was also in keeping necessary to give orders, whether it was right or not. To those accustomed to routine, office organization, business methods, and gentlemanly treatment, one cannot help but personally appreciate the fortunate position we held as subordinates, having as its head, one of the finest, best cultured, fair and world famous men, in our own great athlete and leader, Major General Douglas Mac Arthur. He alone, can be set aside, as an inspiration for other athletes to follow. Just sit with him as a spectator! Quiet and reserved; firm and forceful, friendly and sympathetic, and a born leader! Major William C. Rose, proved a wonderful assistant and the man who in his "iron mask" accomplished the great bulk of work that many attempted, tried, gave up and could not understand. He had a definite organization, as Mr. Rubien had. These two men produced and there were no titles or speeches necessary. It was order and then action! Many attempted title holders, tried but failed. This however, is to be expected with such a tremendous problem, to fulfill daily for the press and the public. Then folks back home were interested in their own athletes and their doings, and not, the official visits to other countries or petty misunderstandings, that made it very embarrassing to men and women who made the trip to serve and work. But this too, is to be expected as routine becomes monotonous to those disinterested. Ambition has caused many a man to be misunderstood, criticized, and crucified, yet at times, this evident ambition for publicity and notoriety has been found to be both cheap and uncalled for, where men are more educated, ideals higher, environment finer, than that class of individuals whose limitations are evident. However, this must also be overlooked as it was only a mixed group in charge of athletes.

The many evident weaknesses in the super-organization calls for suggestive changes that can be considered, if they will, for the next Games. Although these suggestions are only from one individual, yet it is only fair to say, that practical experience makes this possible. Too many teachers and not enough pupils in the school would make an overbalanced system. However, the organization of the swimming team, that actually functioned, was ideal and perfect. With Mr. William Bachrach, one of the greatest coaches living to-day, and supposedly the head man, together with his assistants, the program as outlined was definite, accurate and good. A man of his experiences, practical business ability, and keen knowledge of swimming, was far more capable of controlling and directing meetings, suggesting officials, or at least his counsel asked, and attending to details necessary for both athlete and manager. This would have been more practical from every viewpoint rather than individuals that had no identification with swimming but assumed the position, authority, title which made it both embarrassing for coaches and managers. Again, this may be overlooked as ambition and over anxiety to be seen, makes some men very forgetful.

Mr. Robert Kiphuth of Yale University, who coached the women swimmers, was not only effective, efficient but very capable in his handling of the women swimmers. He had the full respect of all swimmers and officials. A leader with personality, ability and whose sole interest was to make a good showing at the Games. Always in the background and not interested in himself. Mr. Kiphuth, personified in my estimation the finer things that makes sports and athletics as it is to-day. A gentleman with everybody, a good coach, a real American and one, whose extensive travels around the world has made him the outstanding educator both in physical education and his hobby, swimming. The committee is to be commended in securing the volunteer services of so good a man who was responsible for such a wonderful showing of the girl's team. Every member of the American Olympic Swimming Team, including coaches, managers and chaperones felt the same way. He is an inspiration to youth and Yale University is fortunate in having such a capable educator guide the athletic program of its students.

The two coaches did remarkably well considering the facilities and difficulties that awaited them in arriving in Amsterdam. At this point it might be seriously emphasized that each nation, have their pools both for swimming and diving, READY months before the expected contests and an organization arranged to permit all the visiting teams to use the same both for practice and time trials. This is very important and serious. The time wasted, the money expended, patience and long unnecessary riding and transportation, irregularity of meals, due to this makeshift program; lack of interest, etc. all tend to spoil the morale and make the work seem drudgery and disheartening. The writer has had the personal experience of supervising under orders, all these changes and it would be best that these changes be considered, if practical. It might be said at this time that the clothing of the swimmers were perfect and practical. From a physician's viewpoint everything was done for the safety, care and physical supervision of every athlete. At times, where extra clothing, suits, food or other necessities were needed, the good congenial Major Rose or reliable Rubien's counsel was sought, and in every instance, both men showed a keen sympathetic interest in helping and assisting with the definite problem. Both men were real organizers and effective workers.

The treatment of the athlete could not have been better. The sleeping accommodations, the cabins, and the general comfort of the swimming team was the best. It can be honestly said that no criticism can be made of the accommodations as the committee were very considerate. They were more than satisfactory.

The question of food and a training table would have been more advisable, but not with mixed groups, of athletes and non-athletes. This suggests another thought, for the future. Experience has found that the mixing of two or more organizations, inside of one, entirely different in makeup, viewpoint, purpose, or interest, tends towards a general misunderstanding, disorganization, and the loss of individual team morale. This was true of this trip. It would be better to have each organization function by itself, away from other teams, and hold a certain man responsible for his organization to the super man, in charge. For example, when we arrived in Amsterdam, and were shocked at the place selected for us to practice, and when a suitable place was finally found, it would have been better to have moved the entire team to that place and live there. Surely it would have been more practical from every angle. There would have been better organization, more work, less travel, and less interference and more accomplished. Supervision would have been more practical and away from other interests and other sports, there would have been less opportunity for things other than swimming and diving. Mental diversion plus a keener interest in the work and winning would have been seen. Better morale of officials as well. Because of participating in Olympic Games does not signify that we must live different lives. This was very hard for the girls. Many so called chaperones and officials took trips for changes, which was fortunate, as a boat does become monotonous at times. There is no doubt but that the morale of the group would have been higher. This was shown with the California crew. It is not supposition, it is a reality proven!

Never in the history of athletics have a finer group of men and women ever been selected as this special team that represented the finest and best in the United States. It can only be said by the writer who had the extreme honor and privilege to be on the starting line and take care of the personal wants of each swimmer and watch their positions; that the comments of distinguished people, athletes and officials, were so pleasant and inspiring, that it made one proud not only to be an American but happy to be with such a team.

Every swimmer was considered a gentleman or a perfect lady, respectively. They all won a place in the hearts' of officials and spectators, and it is sincerely hoped that some day when they return to these United States, that we can demonstrate, prove and express, the same appreciation as they have manifested throughout our entire meetings.

It is furthermore hoped that a very careful group of disinterested men and women, who have no personal gain or ax to grind personally; no desire for spreading publicity, be selected to act as representative Americans when the time comes for selection. Let us agree that the next team will be free from petty politics. At times it seems almost impossible, in these days of commercial athletics, but there are many, many nations, and personages, that still carry on the honest, real and approved amateur ideals, with the inner hope of giving to the younger generation, an opportunity for self expression, honest endeavor and determination for a better physical goal.

The Olympic Games are not only contests, but provides all those identified with the stupendous sports program of a further opportunity for study and education. The experiences and friendships formed can only be secured through travel and hard work. The greatest reaction of the Games, in reality, is the unique and interesting attitude, the Games have internationally. The writer visited the Orient and just returned with four prominent swimmers. Our reception, treatment, hospitality, courtesies, were that of diplomats. Whenever we appeared in competition or exhibition, thousands of appreciative men and women with cheering children, unable to speak our language yet capable of expressing their feelings, interest and appreciation in the waving of the American flag. The athlete to-day is the real international diplomat. The athletes to-day should be the real inspiration for the youth of America!

"Come experience, show me the way,
Teach me righteousness, fair play!
Show me the place where I should go,
To learn the truth, where friendship glows,
Make me strong, religious, clean,
Obedient, respectful, firm, serene,
Help me make good, so I can plan,
An ideal life, a real true MAN."

REPORT OF ASSISTANT MANAGER, SWIMMING TEAM
MISS DORIS O'MARA

America's girl swimmers performed in a manner to satisfy the most critical, winning five out of seven first places. Before the Olympics, aquatic experts predicted that we should capture both free style swims, the two dives and the relay; that we were outclassed in the breast stroke and unlikely to place in the back stroke. Such proved the case and United States mermaids still rule the water by a wide margin. While the general result was as expected, we faced far stiffer competition than had been anticipated. European countries, particularly Holland, have made almost unbelievable progress in women's swimming and every American victory came after unprecedented opposition.

As far as the girl swimmers were concerned, the Olympic trip was in every way successful. Accommodations aboard the S. S. President Roosevelt were excellent. The girls were allotted comfortable, secluded quarters on "A" deck where it was always possible to obtain adequate rest. Food was satisfactory throughout the trip. Officials were at all times courteous and considerate. As a member of the 1924 team, I can state positively that 1928 conditions were much better than on the Paris Trip. Members of the 1920 team to whom I have talked rate 1928 the best of all. With such arrangements it is only natural that the morale should have been excellent. From the women's standpoint, I cannot recall a single incident of the entire invasion open to criticism.

For the future I recommend the same method of selecting our team as prevailed in 1924 and 1928—the leading place winners of final tryouts held as close to the date of the Olympic games as travel and the closing time of entries permit. No fairer, more democratic system can be evolved. Alternates should always be avoided as they are certain to cause discord.

Coaches, managers and chaperones should be appointed six months or more in advance, so that they may familiarize themselves with, and advise, the prospective candidates, and also complete all details for the tour at their leisure and thereby avoid last minute confusion and oversights. Practice sites should be approved long in advance by experienced swimming officials and whenever possible the Olympic pool or one with like facilities should be obtained. Living quarters should be close to practice and long travel for training must always be eliminated.

Rigid training rules for girl swimmers are not advocated. An athlete proficient enough to make the Olympic team with the present high grade competition must know how to care for herself. There should be no compulsory retiring or rising hour. Every girl should be placed on her honor and given an opportunity to lead her normal existence. I doubt that this trust would be misplaced. This suggestion is offered as a means of ensuring a happy frame of mind for the girls and is not intended as criticism, for there was no quarrel with the 1928 procedure. However, it might prove helpful to have the girl athlete's point of view as a matter of record.

Some simple entertainment should be provided nightly during the entire training period with dancing in moderation unless prohibited in particular cases by the coach. It is no easy task to keep a girl at her peak for a considerable period. There must be wholesome diversion.

Our girl swimming teams of the future and, in fact every team, should travel separately on fast steamers, each under its own distinctive management. First class passage should be provided. Living and training arrangements for each sport should be completed by an experienced official, thoroughly cognizant with every need of his or her branch. As a general rule, you cannot bring every sport to a common level. What is beneficial to one may handicap another. Travel by the entire team as a unit is desirable—excluding the economic angle—only in the case of a city like Amsterdam with its peculiar climatic conditions and limited hotel space.

All Europe is profiting from America's swimming methods. The opposition will become stronger with each Olympics and American supremacy may be threatened seriously in 1932. We must build for the future. My suggestion is to specialize. Keen rivalry no longer will permit a girl to take part in two or three events of different styles or distances. Let us inaugurate our Olympic campaign now by the development of more back stroke and breast stroke swimmers, without, of course, neglecting the free style or dives. Entry in national championships and major meets should be encouraged.

This report would not be complete if I failed to thank publicly in the name of the team the Olympic Committee for its foresight and kindness in providing the training period at the Paris Olympic pool where three days of practice under ideal conditions did more than anything else to fit the squad for the Olympics.

In conclusion I thank the committee for honoring me with the first Olympic managerial position ever held by a woman.

REPORT OF DIVING COACH
ERNEST BRANDSTEN

In the 1928 Olympic Games the American divers were as overwhelmingly victorious as they were in the two previous Olympics of 1920 and 1924. However, it is significant that the latest American victory is more than a mere duplication of the other two. In addition to redefeating their competitors of previous Olympic Games, the Americans, by decisively defeating the Germans, once and for all disposed of the claim of German superiority. This claim, originating in the German spring board victories of 1908 and 1912, had been able to persist through German failure to participate in the Olympics of 1920 and 1924.

A summary of the results of the last Olympic contest shows that the United States' divers won nine out of a possible twelve places in the combined two men's and two women's diving events. Even this does not show the true extent of the triumph of American diving. Simaika, of Egypt, who placed second in high fancy diving, and third in springboard diving, though Egyptian by nationality, is purely a product of American diving. He received all of his training and competitive experience in the United States. Therefore the only purely foreign achievement was the third place in women's plain high diving won by a Swedish contestant.

The outstanding American diver was Pete Desjardins, who, by having won both the springboard and the high diving, a remarkable feat, shares with Williams of Canada the distinction of being one of the only two double winners of the 1928 Olympic Games.

Unfortunately a mere summary of results fails to show the quality of the American performance in diving. It was the sensation of the aquatic program of the Olympic Games.

So outstanding was the work of the American contestants that the diving authorities of the other competing nations were unanimous in saying that the standard of performance shown by the U. S. divers was actually above what they had regarded as perfect.

The result of this is that the Europeans have at last recognized the necessity for the same thoroughness as we use, in training their divers.

For this reason we must not feel that we can relax our efforts. On the contrary I earnestly urge that we start even earlier and train even more rationally for the Olympic Games diving at Los Angeles in 1932.

In planning the preparation for the next Olympic Games we should remember that the good condition and consistent performance of our divers was largely due to the group training that the candidates for the team received at Stanford University in the favorable climate of California, beginning two months previous to the national Olympic Games tryouts.

REPORT OF COACH, WOMEN'S SWIMMING TEAM

R. J. H. KIPHUTH

In any comment I may make on the 1928 American Olympic organization, please allow me first of all to express my appreciation of the privilege accorded me by my appointment as a member of the coaching staff in swimming.

I was extremely satisfied with the competitive results gained by the women's swimming team, I am sure that these results are listed in detail elsewhere. In addition to these figures it was a source of great gratification to me to have so many of the girls better their try-out time. Of the thirteen team members, nine bettered their Olympic try-out time, one equalled, and but three failed to come up to their best.

In the main, I feel the general organization and administration of the Olympic party was excellent. There are but a few comments I should like to make. It would seem that the arrangements and facilities for workouts during the pre-game period might have been better. From the experience of the swimming team evidently nothing had been arranged for. In the matter of food and medical supervision there was an evident lack of organization or rather cooperation between the units concerned. This last comment does not refer to the quality in anyway, which was excellent.

In closing I wish to say again what a great pleasure it was to me to be associated with the 1928 Olympic Group and especially with the swimming.

REPORT OF CHAPERONE, WOMEN'S SWIMMING TEAM

MRS. ADA TAYLOR SACKETT

The United States might well take pride in the young women it sent to the Olympic Games at Amsterdam to represent it aquatically.

While they were chosen primarily as athletes, and in that capacity they fully justified their being picked, the selection included young women whose behavior, in public and in private, gave no cause for criticism by the most critical observer.

The young women swimmers, half of them from thirteen to eighteen years of age, were found to be obedient to rules of training and conduct and added proof, if it were needed, has been given of the fine qualities developed in young women through athletic training.

REPORT OF CHAPERONE, WOMEN'S SWIMMING TEAM
MRS. ALICE LORD LANDON

The trip of the Women Swimmers to the 1928 Olympics at Amsterdam was a successful one from all standpoints. The girls themselves were all seriously interested in being in the best condition possible for the Games and for this reason they co-operated with all orders from their chaperones and coaches and what is more—stayed cheerful about it.

The trip over was delightful and when we arrived at Amsterdam everyone was eager to begin hard training. It was a matter of a few days before a pool which fitted the needs of the swimmers was found but from then on practice went on with regularity. The divers met a situation far more serious but Mr. Brandsten has covered that in his report.

Shortly after our arrival at Amsterdam a trip to Paris was planned for the girls and all but three of the divers went. These three had an opportunity to go after their events. During our stay there training was continued as usual but there were several interesting sight seeing tours arranged and also some time for shopping. This trip was a great help, I believe, in keeping the girls contented when, later on, they watched all the others go through their competition and then leave on trips of their own. Of necessity, the days, and particularly the evenings on board boat grew monotonous but all that was possible was done to relieve this.

The eighteen members of the girls swimming team were indeed a credit to their country and I have enjoyed my relations with each one personally.

Note.—The rules of this Sport for Olympic Competitions are those of the Federation Internationale de Natation Amateur. In case of disagreement on the interpretation of these rules, the English text shall be considered as the only official one.

RULES AND CONDITIONS

The swimming events at the Olympic Games are organized under the sporting control of the Federation Internationale de Natation Amateur in a bath 50 Metres long, 18 Metres wide, with a depth of 5 metres under the diving boards.

The Federation Internationale de Natation Amateur will draw all heats and positions in races or diving—draw each round for water polo—appoint all officials, and these officials shall act in the same office when possible throughout the Games.

The secretary of the International Federation will immediately call a meeting of the Organizing Committee for the swimming events of the Olympic Games—such Committee shall draw by lots the composition of groups and will publish the results at least four days before the first contest.

The maximum number of participants per event will be three per nation without substitutes.

For the team events (relays & water polo) each country may enter only one team for each event with four substitutes for water polo and two substitutes for the relays. However, in cases of vacancy through illness of a competitor or a substitute, any competitor entered for a swimming event at the Olympic Games (racing or diving) may with the approval of the Organizing Committee of the F.I.N.A. complete the representative team of his country in water polo or in relay races.

The programme of events fixed by the F.I.N.A. will take place as follows, but the Organizing Committee shall have power to make any change circumstances might make necessary, but such alteration must be made known to the interested swimmers at least 24 hours before the contest takes place:

For the Olympic Games the competitors (ladies or men) must wear the regulation swimming costume or bathing suit as provided for in the rules of the Federation Internationale de Natation Amateur.

POWERS OF THE COMMITTEE

The duties of the Committee appointed by the International Swimming Federation to ensure the sporting control of the swimming events at the Olympic Games are:—

- (a) To draw all heats and rounds of water polo.
 - (b) To make up the programme of events.
 - (c) To appoint the officials.
 - (d) To pass judgment on all protests or complaints which might be made during the Games.
- The Committee comprises 8 members of different nationality:
 Erik Bergvall, (Sweden); F. van der Heyden, (Belgium); E. G. Drigny, (France); Leo Donath, (Hungary); George W. Hearn, (Great Britain); one representative from Holland; one representative from the United States) one representative from Australia
 A minimum of 6 members will be necessary for a decision to be taken.
 In case of the absence from the Games of any of the appointed members—the members of the Committee present shall have full power to complete their number.

RULES GOVERNING WEIGHT LIFTING
AMATEUR DEFINITION OF THE "FEDERATION INTERNATIONALE
HALTEROPHILE

Art. 1. An amateur is he who has never competed for any monetary prize or for any monetary consideration, or for any wager or bet whatsoever, with or against a professional without the express authorization of the Federation to which he belongs, and who has never taught or engaged in or aided in the practice of any athletic exercise to make his living or for any pecuniary benefit at all.

Art. 2. The definition of amateurism, as set forth above, shall be respected by every affiliated federation. It includes the members of clubs affiliated to the Federation as much in their own countries as in foreign.

Art. 3. When an athlete intentionally infringes on the regulations defining amateurism, he shall be classed as a professional and he shall not be able to qualify as an amateur again.

WEIGHT LIFTING—JULY 28TH AND 29TH, 1928

PROGRAMME

Maximum number of entrants for each category: 2 per nation.

Maximum number of competitors in each category: 2 per nation.

Prizes For Each Category

First Prize: Silver gilt Olympic medal and diploma. Second Prize: Silver Olympic medal and diploma. Third Prize: Bronze Olympic medal and diploma.

Categories of Weights.—Feather weights up to 60 kilos, 132 lbs.; light weights up to 67 kilos 500, 148 lbs.; middle weights up to 75 kilos, 165 lbs.; light-heavy weights up to 82 kilos 500, 181 lbs.; heavy weights over 82 kilos 500, any weight.

Exercises Prescribed.—Spreading with both arms (two hands Military Press); wrenching with two arms (two hands Snatch); shouldering and uplifting with both arms (two hands clean and jerk).

Note.—The rules of this sport for Olympic Competitions are those of the Federation Internationale Halterophile. In case of disagreement on the interpretation of these rules, the French text will prevail.

GENERAL REGULATIONS

DESCRIPTION OF THE EXERCISES

Spreading With Both Arms (Two Hands Military Press)

First Motion.—The bar is laid horizontally in front of the athlete's feet, gripped with both hands, and brought with a single distinct motion up to the shoulder while either lunging or springing on bent legs. The bar is then rested on the chest or on the arms closely flexed, the feet brought back on the same line not more than 40 centimeters apart.

Second Motion.—When in this position, hold a two second stop, standing still. The bar is then lifted up vertically until the arms are completely raised, without any jerk or sudden start. When the motion is completed, another stop of at least two seconds is required, the arms and legs stiffened. During this whole performance, that is, the uplifting proper, the athlete's body must constantly stand in the vertical position.

Important Remarks.—As a rule, the bar must touch the chest before performing the second motion, which must not commence until the judge gives the signal by clapping his hands. Those athletes who are unable to rest the bar on their chests must inform the jury of this fact before commencing the test. For this class of competitors, the starting point of the bar, as far as the uplifting proper is concerned, shall be indicated by the meeting point of the collarbone with the sternum.

Incorrect Motion.—Any departure of the body from the vertical position; any foot work (heel lift, etc.) and any bending, however little, of the legs; uneven raising of the arms during the uplifting.

Wrenching With Both Arms (Two Hand Snatch)

The bar is laid horizontally in front of the athlete's feet, gripped with both hands, pulled with one motion from the ground to the end of the arms raised vertically above the head while either lunging or springing on bent legs.

The bar is passed with a continuous non-stop motion along the body, of which no other part than the feet must touch or graze the ground while the drill is being performed.

The up lifted weight is held for two seconds motionless in the final position, the arms and legs stiffened, and the feet on the same line not more than 40 centimeters apart. This motion must be done while the hands are extended direct from the shoulders; the hands may in no case be displaced along the bar during the drill.

Important Remarks.—In this drill, the fundamental principle is a single motion, no slowing of movement shall be at all admitted until the wrists turn over, which shall not take place until the bar has quite plainly reached higher than the top of the performer's head. Suspension wrenching is unlawful.

Shouldering and Uplifting with Both Arms (Two Hands Clean and Jerk)

The bar is laid horizontally in front of the athlete's feet, gripped with both hands and brought with a single distinct motion from the ground to the shoulders while either lunging or springing on bent legs.

The bar must not touch the chest before reaching its final position of the shouldering, there to rest on the chest or on the closely flexed arms.

The feet are brought back to the original position, that is, on the same line. Then the legs are bent and both legs and arms are then stiffened suddenly so as to lift the bar to the end of the vertically raised arms.

The weight is held motionless in this final position for two seconds, the feet on the same line and not more than 40 centimeters apart.

It is forbidden to repeat the uplifting.

Incorrect Motions.—Leaning with a knee on the ground or any shouldering in the course of which the bar should touch any part of the body before finally reaching the shoulders.

General Particulars

1. In all shouldering, wrenchings, and upliftings the leg work may, at will, consist of an unlimited lunging or springing, the extent of which is not defined.

2. Hooking. The trick called "Hooking," shall be lawful. (In drills, closing the fingers over the last joint of the thumb of the same hand when gripping the bar.)

Number of Trials

Each participant has the privilege of three trials for each scheduled event (and not for each weight).

The increase of weights between each trial must not be less than 5 kilograms, except the last one when it may be 2 kilograms and one-half only.

A premature increase of two and one-half kilos denotes the last try. In no case may the participant carry out a trial with a weight less than that employed in the preceding trial. The trials must be correctly performed in accordance with the rules of the Federation Internationale Halterophile, the participant holding the bar at the end of the arms raised vertically above the head, the feet on the same line, until the judge says "bon."

A repeated lift is forbidden; only one lift is authorized after a correct shouldering.

Weight

The weighing in for each category is determined at the time of the event. A participant who, at the issue of this weight, finds himself in a category other than the one in which his engagement was made, may not participate in this new category unless there is a free place.

Material

The only authorized material in International Competitions and at Olympic Games shall consist exclusively of bars which must be so built as to have a maximum of 0 m. 211 clearance between the bar proper and the ground; w.o.w. that the diameter of the greatest disk is 45 cm. and of the bar 28 m.m.

Effort

In all drills, the judge shall register as a trial any attempt not completed in which strain was evidently exerted especially attempts in which the implement reached the height of the knees.

TIME TABLE

Saturday July 28th, 9, weighing in and demonstrations of the exercises prescribed; 18-24, competitions. Sunday July 29th, 13-17, competitions; 19=24, competitions.

REPORT OF MANAGER, WRESTLING TEAM

C. W. STREIT

The Olympic Try-Outs and the National A. A. U. Wrestling Championships were held together at Grand Rapids, Michigan on July 4th, 5th and 6th under the auspices of the American Legion, Furniture City Post No. 258.

The United States was divided into Twenty-Six Sections in which Try-Outs were held, in all over 2,500 men competing. Only winners and second place men from the Sectional Try-Outs were eligible to take part in the Finals. For the Finals we had 188 men competing, representing practically every state in the union.

The American Legion Furniture Post No. 258 and their General Chairman, Mr. Ted Booth, and their Chairman, Mr. Roscoe D. Bennett, deserve a great deal of credit for the many details and the wonderful manner in which they handled the Olympic Try-Outs,

The 1928 Olympic Wrestling Team was considered by many to be far superior to any other team which has represented this country in the Olympic Games, but due to incompetent officials and a misunderstanding as to the interpretation of the rules regarding what constituted a fall caused us to lose many decisions. In the United States we use a Pin-Fall, and in the Olympic Games they insisted on interpreting the rules to permit Rolling-Falls.

We are very much in hopes that before the Olympic Games in 1932 that the International Wrestling Federation will clarify the rule regarding what constitutes a Fall.

Due to business, the writer as Manager was unable to accompany the Team to Amsterdam. However, his duties were handled by Mr. Charles H. Brennan of Detroit, whose report is also included,

As Chairman of your Wrestling Committee, I wish to express to General Douglas MacArthur and his committee our appreciation of the consideration given the members of the Wrestling Team. If the writer has been of any service to you as Chairman and Manager, it has been a pleasure.

REPORT OF ACTING MANAGER, WRESTLING TEAM

CHARLES H. BRENNAN

The American Olympic Wrestling team consisting of fourteen contestants—two representing each class weight—the winners and runners-up—as determined at the final try-outs conducted in the States, accompanied with Trainer, Coach and Manager, departed from New York, July 11th, 1928 aboard the S. S. President Roosevelt with the other teams representing the United States to compete in the Ninth Olympic Games at Amsterdam, Holland.

The second day at sea our team resumed its training aboard ship with drill exercises and wrestling bouts both morning and afternoon. This work continued until we entered competition at Amsterdam.

The selection of one entry from each class was determined from performances in action on an agreed date to which team members were advised, the selection resulting in accepting on performance the original first place winners in the final tryouts conducted at Grand Rapids, Michigan.

With the opening of competition at Amsterdam our team won all preliminary classes, survived semi-finals with loss of one class, and reached the finals in six classes.

The competition encountered in the final was too great for our boys and the results place one first and one second winning to our credit.

The failure of our team in not recording greater results in the finals is largely due to the rules governing free style wrestling in foreign countries. In our country we regard the pin fall with both shoulders placed down and held at same time. However, in Europe they regard a rolling fall as out.

Our team was in excellent condition when entering competition at Amsterdam.

The accommodations afforded us aboard the S. S. President Roosevelt for our training throughout the trip were ideal in every way. The comforts placed at our disposal during the voyage receive our highest praises. Our living accommodations and meals provided afford each and everyone of us every necessity available throughout the trip.

We extend words of congratulation to the American Olympic Committee for the excellent manner in which they planned our comfort.

My suggestion is as follows:

Appeal should be made to the International Amateur Wrestling Federation for a greater distinction between free style and Greco Roman wrestling and avoid the rolling fall ruling in support of Catch-as-Catch-Can development.

S.S. PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT
At Sea,

August 16th, 1928.

From: American Olympic Wrestling Team.

To: President American Olympic Committee.

Subject: Expression of appreciation for co-operation of and courtesies shown by American Olympic Committee.

—1— The American Olympic Wrestling Team wishes to take this opportunity to thank the American Olympic Committee for the extremely satisfactory training conditions provided on board the S. S. "President Roosevelt." Nothing conducive to training and conditioning was neglected.

—2— The whole hearted co-operation of the entire American Olympic Committee was a most helpful morale factor and is greatly appreciated by the coach, members and those connected with the American Olympic Wrestling Team.

REPORT OF COACH, WRESTLING TEAM

GEO. M. PINNEO

Catch-as-catch-can wrestling is the newest form of the oldest combative sport. In some form it has existed from the dawn of Civilization as proved by holds now in use demonstrated in bass relief murals far antedating the Christian era.

Catch-as-catch-can wrestling in modern times has been fostered as a sport by Switzerland, America, England, Canada, France, South Africa, Australia, Sweden, Finland, Germany, and roughly developed in the order named. Switzerland has probably held it as a National sport in its present day form for the greatest length of time. They more than any foreign nation have learned the use of the legs as well as the body. The South Africans and Australians wrestle orthodox Catch-as-catch-can style. The English practice the game extensively, but are neither strong nor aggressive, and have won but one second and one third place in the last three Olympics. The Scandinavians by their native strength are worthy opponents always because of the sheer strength of their arms and chest. They make practically no use of their legs but use chanceries and body holds with telling effect. The Canadians are coming fast in this sport, and may be expected to enter the winning column strongly in future Games.

The present day development of Catch-as-catch-can wrestling is undeniably American. Every phase of the game has been perfected to a point that is a revelation to all Nations. The use of the legs has reached a point in finesse which is absolutely baffling to the wrestlers of every other Nation.

Of the holds developed by the wrestlers of the New World, the body and head scissors are the outstanding feature. These holds, perfectly legitimate in every sense of this type of wrestling, have been barred from the holds allowed in the Olympic Games, and this for no other reason except that it is a decided advantage to the American team. From the beginning of the modern form of wrestling there has been one mooted question that perennially appears, the rolling fall. In Greco-Roman wrestling where only the arms are employed, athletes may remain in a position so that fast falls may be allowed. With the lower body and limbs always free one may usually prevent a roll, and if not, can very easily bridge. When the legs are tied up as they are much of the time on the offensive used by a number of nations in the modern development of the game, the high bridge is impossible and rolling falls for this reason must work a great unfairness to them. Flying falls should probably be allowed. By flying fall is meant that while on their feet an opponent picks his man up bodily, throws him squarely on his shoulders, and although the touch may be only momentary, it is a fall. When the men are on the mat with one man on the offensive, or behind his man as it is called, then the pin fall should be required and the shoulders held to the mat for a perceptible length of time.

In the last Olympic Games this was the agreement as to the governing of the rules, but the interpretation in every case save one, when American athletes were eliminated, was that any roll however fast, meant a fall. Unfortunately, as appeared later, the United States wrestlers in the preliminary rounds with two exceptions met men who were more or less our own style. Berryman met Kapp of Esthonia, the final winner in the class. Berryman took his opponent to the mat immediately and in the fastest possible rolling fall was called down. To the protest made, the answer was that it may have been a mistake and that while the decision could not be reversed that it would not occur again. The other six men on the team won their ways to the finals by work that was most remarkable. The work done by these men can only be understood by the record of their performance in these matches. Up to and including the finals, twenty-six bouts were contested and but four men went behind them or put an American athlete on the defensive. And of these four men not one remained there for a period of one minute. Every man without exception outwrestled and took his man to the mat in the finals only to be eliminated by decisions that had never been allowed in Olympic competition before and which all admitted should never be allowed again. With rules interpreted as they have been in former Olympic Games the Wrestling Team should have had at least six championships. In the face of such conditions the wonder is that anyone won, Allie Morrison was so superior that no man could go behind him and no man could roll him. He simply could not be denied and greater glory is deserved for it.

A committee was appointed to meet next year, composed of the six Nations most interested in Catch-as-catch-can wrestling. It is promised that rules will be passed which will for all time preclude the possibility of a repetition of the injustice of past games. This can in no way undo the wrong done the men of the 1928, the best balanced and most talented team that ever represented any Nation in the Olympic Games, but it is hoped that it may safeguard the future.

One thing came out of the Olympic Games which is of value to all those interested in this sport. Great numbers of the followers of Catch-as-catch-can wrestling, and the writer was one of them, have felt that the double wristlock was one of our greatest weapons both offensively and defensively. It was clearly proved in these Games that it is of very doubtful value. Men of the remarkable physical strength to be met are absolutely impervious to this hold. This was demonstrated several times and in the future it seems we may expect little help in the use of a hold that has won many National Championships in our own country.

The lesson to be learned from these games is that the strong, aggressive and "tight" wrestlers are most effective in Olympic competition. The opponent must be taken to the mat and either pinned or kept there. All then that must be asked, and all that was to be desired for an overwhelming victory in the present Games, is the elimination of rolling falls.

REPORT OF TRAINER, WRESTLING TEAM

W. E. CANN

Fourteen college men representing the pick of the Catch-as-catch-can wrestlers of the United States, were selected at the National Championships which were held at Grand Rapids, Michigan, to represent the United States Olympic Wrestling Team.

We sailed on the President Roosevelt with the other athletes on July 11, for Amsterdam, Training conditions on the boat were exceptionally good and we soon adapted ourselves to conditions. The men trained faithfully under my supervision, and I can report that the team selected, and which represented us in the Olympic Games were in as good a condition as is possible to get a team. I also believe that the personnel of the team was equally as good as the team which I had the honor to coach in the 1924 Olympics.

Our defeat was caused by the foreign Olympic Committee permitting fly falls to count. We wrestled under the same rules as we did in 1924, but Mr. Streit, who managed the team at that time, insisted that a demonstration of a fall take place and made them adhere to a stop before a fall was counted. We believe that had Mr. Streit been with us the same conditions would have existed in 1928. It is regrettable that a team such as represented us in the past Games had to work under the rules which they used.

Mr. Brennan acted as acting manager, but, owing to the fact that he was only selected for that position while we were on board ship, he was not in a position to take any active part in the meetings which should have been held, or demonstrations of falls which should have been shown. We believe Mr. Brennan did a very excellent piece of work under the circumstances in which he was placed, not being familiar with wrestling conditions.

After finishing our bouts at Amsterdam, the team competed against the Swiss team in Geneva, Switzerland, and where pin falls were counted only, and we won over the Swiss team decisively.

I would suggest, in the future Olympics, that all teams should be placed on a training table diet while conditioning themselves, and that each coach and trainer sit at and select the diet for their athletes.

Mr. George M. Pinneo acted as coach of the team and we worked harmoniously together.

REPORT OF CHAIRMAN, YACHTING COMMITTEE

CLIFFORD D. MALLORY

As Chairman of the American Olympic Yachting Committee, I desire to report to you the results of our trials in the selection of a Six Meter Yacht to represent this country in the Olympic Games to be held in Amsterdam, commencing August 2nd. Also our recommendations as to an Eight Meter Yacht to represent this country during the same races, and a Helmsman to represent the United States in the International 12-foot Dinghy Class.

The sport of yacht racing is in a very healthy condition, and since the Great War has developed rapidly, particularly along International Lines. In 1920, the Seawanhaka Corinthian Yacht Club arranged a series of contests with Great Britain, and for this purpose adopted the International Six Meter Class for a series of five races. The first contest was held in the waters of the Solent, England—1921, and the following year on Long Island Sound, off Oyster Bay. Thereafter the races alternated in the two countries each succeeding year. The series ended with Great Britain the winner. These contests stimulated an interest in the International Rule of Measurement, whereas this country has been racing under a rule known as the Universal Rule of Measurement. Thirty odd Six Meters were built in the United States.

In 1927 an American Six Meter Committee was formed and a new series of contests arranged with Great Britain. During the summer of 1927 races were held off Oyster Bay on Long Island Sound for the Scandinavian Gold Cup, which had been brought to this country by Herman F. Whiton with the Yacht "Lanai." Seven foreign nations were represented, in addition to the United States, and this cup was won by the Swedish Yacht "May be." During the same season, races were held for the Seawanhaka Corinthian Cup, which was won by the Norwegian Yacht "Noreg."

The American Six Meter Committee also arranged to send yachts in 1928 to contest in Sweden for the Scandinavian Gold Cup, and to Norway for the Seawanhaka Cup, and in view of the yachting events of the Olympic Games to be held in Amsterdam, it was decided to appoint a Selection Committee for the purpose of choosing from the available Six Meter Yachts those to represent this country in the various events enumerated above. The American Six Meter Committee therefore appointed: Clifford D. Mallory, E. Townsend Irvin, Butler Whiting as members of this Selection Committee.

The series of races were held, commencing the 5th of May and continued through the month. The committee which I represented followed these events personally and after a long series of contests selected four Six Meters, viz: AKABAR, LANAI, REDHEAD, HERON. The yacht FRIEDA, owned by Mr. Herman F. Whiton, and designed by Clinton H. Crane, was selected to represent this country at the Olympic Games.

The Eight Meter Class is a new one to this country and is the first time this country will have representatives racing in these waters in 1928. Owen B. Churchill of Los Angeles has placed an order with Starling W. Burgess, yacht designer, for an Eight Meter Yacht to be built in Germany and delivered in time to contest in the yachting events of the Olympics, and our Committee has designated this yacht to represent the United States in these contests. The rules covering "yachting" specifically provide that the yacht representing a nation does not have to be built within the confines of that nation; therefore, there can be no question as to this yacht conforming with the rules.

As there were no other entries in the Eight Meter Class, it is impossible to hold elimination contests, and our Committee feel fully justified in making this selection.

The other yachting event scheduled in the Olympic Races is that of the International 12-foot Dinghy Class. The rules for this class provide one amateur only. Our Committee have been giving careful consideration to the applicants for representation in this class and have selected Dr. Manfred Curry, an American citizen, and a member of the Beverly Yacht Club of Marion, Mass., and an amateur, to sail and represent this country in the International 12-foot Dinghy Class. In this class the boats are provided by the Olympic Committee, and do not have to be owned by the nation contesting.

In closing we wish to draw your attention to the fact that this is the first time in history, so far as we can discover, that the United States has been represented at the Olympic Games in any of the yachting contests, and we trust that our selections may be acceptable to your Committee and make a good showing in the events in which they are entered.

ROYAL NETHERLANDS YACHTING UNION GENERAL REGULATIONS*For The Yachting Events of the Olympic Games 1928

The Yachting events of the Olympic Games, 1928, will take place in yachts of the Int. 8-Meter-Class, the Int. 6-Meter-Class and the Int. Twelve-foot Dinghy Class.

The following rules are valid for these events:

A. GENERAL RULES (Valid for THREE Classes)I

The races will be sailed under the rules of the International Yacht Racing Union, in so far as these "General Rules" do not deviate from them. In case of disagreement on the interpretation of these rules, the English text and footnotes of the Yacht Racing Association shall be the only official text used. No appeal shall be made from the decisions of the Jury. Appeals from decisions on non-technical matters, however, can be decided by the Appeal-Judges, when asked for by one of the competitors or their representatives.

II

The National Authority of the Netherlands, being the Royal Netherlands Yachting Union (Koninklijke Verbonden Nederlandsche Watersportverenigingen), reserves itself the right of altering or adding to the "General Regulations for the Yachting Events of the Olympic Games 1928." In case of disagreement on the interpretation of these "General Rules," the Dutch text shall be the only official text used.

III

(a) If after a certain time, nearer to be appointed for each class according to the length of the course, none of the yachts of her class should have reached the finish, this fact only shall be reason to shorten the course.

(b) If after a certain number of hours, nearer to be indicated for each class, none of the yachts of her class should have reached the finish (eventually of the shortened course), the race shall be cancelled.

IV

An amateur is one, who fulfills the minimum requirements, stated by the International Olympic Committee.

The competitors must be members of a recognized Yacht Club.

The naval officers from the battlefleets or the merchant marine are considered amateurs.

V

All competitors are supposed to be thoroughly acquainted with the racing rules. The competencies, which article 50 of the Racing Rules awards to the National Authority, is given to the Jury.

B. RACES IN THE INT. 8-METER-CLASS(a) General Rules

1. One challenge only will be accepted of each country and with one yacht only, with a national crew of 6 Amateurs maximum. No restrictions are made as to the nationality of the designer or the builder of the entered yacht, the sailmaker nor as to the place where the yacht was built.

2. The National Authority of each challenging country takes the responsibility for the validity of the certificate of rating of the yacht entered.

3. The yachts, entered for this class must be placed at the disposal of the Jury at Amsterdam for control before or during the races, from 3 days before the date, fixed for the first race.

4. If the Jury should state that a Yacht proves not to satisfy the International Regulations or the measurements of the Certificate of Rating, this yacht will be irrevocably excluded from participation in the Olympic races.

SIX METER YACHT "FRIEDA"

(b) Racing Rules

1. Seven races will be sailed.
 2. After four races a crew, who has not been placed once first, second or third, shall compete no further.
 3. After seven races the crew will be declared the winner, who has won the most races.
 4. In the case of the same number of wins, the greatest number of times that the crews concerned have been placed second, decides. In case this also may be the same, the number of times, that the crews Concerned have been placed third, will decide and so on.
 5. The second prize shall go to the crew, who has been placed most times first after the Olympic winner. In the case of the same number of seconds occurring, the system above defined, will decide.
 6. The third prize shall go to the crew, who has been placed highest after the winner of the second prize, according to the system, above defined.
 7. Other participating crews will be placed according to the same system.
 8. Should it be impossible for the Jury to decide according to the above system, an extra race will be sailed between those competitors, about which no decision could be given.
 9. Should the number of crews, entered in this class, be less than four, in variation of Art. 1, the participating crews will race until the same crew has won three times.
 10. Should only one crew be entered for this class, she will have to properly sail over the course once.
 11. If a crew gives up a race or has been excluded, her number of placing will be the figure, equal to the number of starting crews.
- If a crew does not start, her number of placing will be the figure, equal to the number of crews, entered for her class.

C. CERTIFICATE OF RATING AND ENTRANCE-FORM

A complete certificate of rating of the yacht concerned must be added to the entrance-form.

The entrance-form must contain:

1. The name of the yacht.
2. The place and date of her building, as well as the name and address of the designer.
3. The name, Christian names and address of the owner.
4. The names, Christian names and professions, etc., and addresses of the members, composing the crew and their substitutes. The names of the yacht clubs of which they are members.
5. A statement, delivered by or certified by the National Olympic Committee concerned, that all the persons, stated in 4 are Amateurs in the sense, decided for these races.
6. An undertaking by the crew concerned and their substitutes, that they agree to be bound by these General Regulations.

C. RACES IN THE INT. 6-METER-CLASS

General Rules

1. One challenge only will be accepted of each country and with one yacht only, with a national crew of 5 Amateurs maximum. No restrictions are made as to the nationality of the designer nor the builder of the entered yacht, the sailmaker, nor as to the place where the yacht was built.
2. Moreover all the rules, mentioned from a-2 as far as c-6 inclusive, of the Int. 8-Meter Class, are valid for this Class.

D. RACES IN THE INTERNATIONAL TWELVE FOOT DINGHY CLASS

(a) General Rules

To facilitate the participation of all nations, including even the most distant, in competition for craft in this class, these events will take place in Int. 12-foot dinghies and with rigging, supplied by the Organizing Committee. To ensure absolutely equal conditions for all competitors, all the dinghies will be equivalent; the new sail will be of the same origin and quality; the dinghies and the sails will be drawn lots among the competitors. The drawing of lots for the sails with additional yard and rigging will take place a fortnight before the first race; they will each then be marked in a special way and will be entrusted to the competitors till the end of their participation in the races under conditions, to be indicated later.

Before each race lots will be drawn for the dinghies,

(b) Racing Rules

1. The crew of each 12-foot dinghy consists of one amateur only. The Jury are able to allow a helmsman to be replaced by his substitute. The latter remains the representative of his country during all the following races, unless the Jury should approve of a new substitution.

2. If the number of competitors is ten or less, the procedure will be the same as for the Int. 8-Meter-Class and the Int. 6-Meter-Class.

3a. If the number of competitors is more than ten, each competitor will be allotted a number by drawing lots. Then they will be grouped so, that the different groups have the same number of competitors as far as possible, but ten at most.

If the number is more than ten, but less than twenty-one, i.e., twenty, four groups will be made as follows:

Group A: 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, etc.

Group C: 1, 3, 5, 7, 9, 11, 13, etc.

Group B: 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, etc.

Group D: 2, 4, 6, 8, 10, 12, 14, etc.

If the number is more than twenty, but less than thirty one, i.e. thirty, six groups will be composed as follows:

Group A: 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, etc.

Group D: 1, 4, 7, 10, 13, 16, 19, 22, etc.

Group B: 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, etc.

Group E: 2, 5, 8, 11, 14, 17, 20, 23, etc.

Group C: 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, etc.

Group F: 3, 6, 9, 12, 15, 18, 21, 24, etc.

(b) Each group will race two trial races, each competitor will thus take part in four trial races and be allotted each time a number of points, equal to the number of his place of arrival among the competitors.

EIGHT METER YACHT "BABE"

(c) A competitor, giving up a race, or being excluded during a race, will be allotted a number of points, equal to the number of starters.

A competitor, who does not start in a race, will be allotted a number of points, equal to the number of grouped competitors in his group.

(d) The Jury have the right to annul a trial race for a competitor and to allot him for that trial race the average of the points, which have been and will be won by him in the previous and following trial races. The Jury will only make use of this right, if in their opinion such competitor has been severely damaged in the annulled trial race without his fault, i.e., by another competitor, or by average.

(e) The ten competitors, who have received the lowest number of points in the trial races, will compete in the final races. In the case of two or more competitors, receiving the same number of points, the list of acquired points will decide according the system, defined for the Int. 8-Meter-Class; and the Int. 6-Meter-Class.

The ten competitors, mentioned in 3e, will compete in four final races according to the system, defined for the races in the Int. 8-Meter-Class and the Int. 6-Meter-Class.

4. Should it be impossible for the Jury to decide according to the above system, an extra race will be sailed between those competitors, about which no decision could be given.

(c) Entrance-form

The entrance-form must contain:

1. The name of the National Authority, who has chosen the representative and his substitute.

2. The name, Christian names, professions, etc, and complete address of the representative and his substitute.

The names of the Yacht Clubs, of which they are members.

3. A statement, delivered by or certified by the National Olympic Committee concerned, that both the persons, named under 2, are Amateurs in the sense, decided for these races.

4. An undertaking by the competitor concerned and his substitute that they agree to be bound by these "General Regulations."

REPORT OF GUSTAVUS T. KIRBY

Representing the American Olympic Committee at the Winter Sports
Saint Moritz from 11th to 19th of February, 1928

Figure Skating

It was generally considered that the greatest figure skaters of the world were gathered together at Saint Moritz. Mr. Meyer, one of the greatest of the professional skaters and an instructor of world renown, joined with Salchow, the President of the International Skating Federation, in stating that those present were not only the best of the amateurs but also far excelled the professionals.

In none of the events did the Americans place better than third, this honor going to Miss Beatrix Loughran in the women's singles. In this event Miss M. Vinson was a close fourth but a few points behind Miss Loughran; Mrs. Blanchard performed most creditably also. It can be stated without fear of contradiction, that the chances are that the world has never seen a more finished, graceful and dexterous skater than little Miss Sonia Henie of Norway, who was the universal choice for first place.

In the men's singles, Mr. Grafston of Norway, while closely pressed for first honors, also excelled. In this event, Mr.

GUSTAVUS T. KIRBY
Representative of the American
Olympic Committee at the II
Olympic Winter Sports.

SKELETON RACE

Badger and Mr. Turner finished high on the list, but not within the points.

In the mixed couples, a remarkable performance was given by Miss Joly and Mr. Brunet of France, Miss Loughran and Mr. Badger finishing a close fourth to the two Austrian couples, Miss Brunner and Mr. Wrede; Miss Schulz and Mr. Kaiser.

Mr. Henry W. Howe as President of the U. S. Figure Skating Association and Mr. Joel Liberman, its designated judge, were given every facility to officiate and every demand or suggestion of the United States representative was graciously received.

Speed Skating

As with the figure skaters, so with the speed skaters. The best in the world were present and competed.

In addition to this, in the 10,000 meters race, Jaflee was drawn against Evenson of Norway, the champion, and after a great race, won from him by not less than 10 meters and made the fastest time of any of the time trials which had been held. One more trial was skated after that of the Jaflee and Evenson's trial and then it was officially announced through the loud speaker that the race had been postponed. This was between one and two o'clock. Later in the afternoon, newspapermen informed the writer that they had heard that the race had been or was to be declared off and that Mr. Jaffee's time would not stand. Acting upon this information and at the suggestion of Mr. Hanson, the Manager of the skating team, a protest was lodged. Dr. Messerli, the Secretary of the Swiss Olympic Committee, the Marquis de Polignac of the International Olympic Committee and many others all stated to the writer that his protest was well taken and his suggestions timely.

It happens that the Jury on the ground and the Jury of Appeal consisted of one man, a situation to which the Swiss Olympic Committee had taken objection on the ground that all of the other International Federations had appointed three men for its Jury of Appeal. Mr. Salchow, the President of the International Skating Union, informed me that the matter could be appealed to the Council of the Federation, which will meet somewhere on the Continent in May. I strongly advise that the United States Skating Association make such an appeal and am personally of the opinion that it may reverse the one man's decision and Mr. Jaffee be awarded first place in the 10,000 meters.

It is suggested that careful consideration be given to some possible modifications of the American method of skating races to meet the continental demand for races against time.

We should endeavor to convince European skaters that their method of only two men in lanes in time trials, is not the only fair method, their main point being that the lane needed by a skater is so wide that one cannot go by him fairly without swinging very wide and that with a field of several, much unfairness and risk would thereby be added.

Skiing

America has no need to be ashamed of the results of the efforts of its three skiers at Saint Moritz. A detailed report to be presented by Doctor Dewey will be both critical and constructive. Perhaps in time, we can with our skiers and our fencers develop those to match our skill and stamina against the many generations of European development, but today, except for grit and perseverance, we are outclassed. At every Olympic Games, we learn much and grow better.

Certainly the example of Ralph Mosen, outjumping Haugen and being within the first ten of the real best, was an inspiring performance, especially when it is considered that he had a badly wrenched knee and had been warned by the doctors that another injury might incapacitate him for life. Young Charles Proctor gave his best, displayed fine form and will certainly take back to Dartmouth and New England many valuable suggestions for the improvement of ski racing and ski jumping in that locality.

Bobsleigh and Skeleton

Here Americans triumphed in the Cresta run. The two Heatons, J. and J. R., finished first and second with the Earl of Northesk of Great Britain, third, greatly to the surprise of all, for Northesk holds the Cresta record and up to the Olympic Championship and covering a period of many years, had never been defeated. The Heatons, whose family comes from New Haven, Connecticut, are fine sportsmen, who took their victory modestly, though be it, that in achieving the same, they had accomplished well nigh the impossible.

The skeleton is really a single bob all metal in construction, weighing from 75 to 100 pounds, with no steering device and a sliding seat which is laid upon by the rider and used by him to shift his weight forward and back so as to better steer and balance himself on the many steep, sharp and abrupt curves, which are a hazard of this steep run. The rider has securely fastened to the toes of his shoes rakes which are steel spikes with which to check his speed and assist in steering. Except on the curves where the course widens, the Cresta run is about five feet wide. One skeleton goes down at a time and is electrically timed by broken contacts made at the start and finish. The United States had two bobsleigh teams, each of five and also entered five substitutes. One of these bobsleighs was captained and piloted by Mr. Fiske and the other by Mr. J. Heaton. Mr. Fiske's bob ran first and Mr. Heaton's second, the results of which were not surprising nor gratifying as these two teams had been winning in most of the other bobsleigh events. It was unfortunate that a strong protest against the method of drawing for position had to be made, which however, prevails and brought forth the method suggested.

REPORT OF MANAGER, FIGURE SKATING TEAM

JOEL B. LIBERMAN

On behalf of the United States Figure Skating Association, I beg to report that the United States Figure Skating Team was rated as follows:

Men's Singles

Rating	Name
10th	Roger F. Turner (Boston)
11th	Sherwin C. Badger (New York)
15th	Nathaniel W. Niles (Boston)

There were sixteen final entries in this event.

Ladies' Singles

Rating	Name
3rd	Miss Beatrix Loughran (New York) (4 points earned)
4th"	Miss Maribel Vinson (Boston) (3 points earned)
10th	Mrs. Theresa W. Blanchard (Boston)

There were twenty final entries in this event.

Pair Skating

Rating	Name
4th	Miss Beatrix Loughran Mr. Sherwin C. Badger (3 points earned.)
9th	Mrs. Theresa Weld Blanchard Nathaniel W. Niles

There were thirteen final entries in this event.

The figure skaters therefore earned a total of ten points for the United States in the Olympic Games.

The April, 1928 edition of "Skating", the official magazine of our association, contains a detailed article on the Games, with a full record of the scores.

The contribution of the figure skaters to the Olympic fund was $7000 gross, which was derived principally through receipts from two carnivals, one held in New York at the Madison Square Garden and the other in Boston at the Arena, both under the auspices of the United States Figure Skating Association. This sum was entirely dispersed to the six skaters named above and to the writer who was nominated as judge, representing the United States in figure skating at the Olympic Games.

Our association entered into a financial campaign immediately after the entries had been approved by the committee and upon the assurance that one-half of the expenses would be contributed by the Olympic Committee, provided our association raised the remaining necessary funds.

REPORT OF MANAGER, SKI TEAM DR. GODFREY DEWEY

The first Olympic winter Games were held at Chamonix in 1924 as a part of the Eighth Olympiad at Paris. Their success was immediate and established them firmly as a part of the Olympic program. As Holland could not offer in connection with the Ninth Olympiad at Amsterdam a suitable climate or terrain for winter sports, the Second Olympic winter Games were awarded to Switzerland and after keen competition between the leading Swiss winter resorts, particularly Engelberg, Davos and St. Moritz, were awarded to St. Moritz.

In response to semi-official inquiries from members of the American Olympic Committee as to whether Lake Placid Club would be prepared to receive the 1932 winter Olympics if they should be awarded to the United States in connection with the Tenth Olympiad at Los Angeles; I arranged to visit Chamonix and a dozen of the leading Swiss winter resorts culminating at St. Moritz, for an intensive study of the problem. At the same time I consented to act as manager of the proposed United States Olympic Ski Team which, even at the date of my sailing, January 14, was not yet assured in spite of the most active efforts on the part of the Eastern Ski Association and of Lake Placid Club and the American Olympic Committee.

At the last possible moment we succeeded in sending an accredited team of 3 skiers: Rolf Mosen of Brattleboro Outing Club, Charles Proctor of Dartmouth, president of the Intercollegiate Winter Sports Union, and Anders Haugen of the Ogden Dunes Ski Club of Chicago, the latter selected by the National Ski Association. For the Skiing events the rules permitted a maximum of 40 entries or 20 actual competitors, including the military patrol demonstration, and counting the 18 kilometer race, and the 18 kilometer race and jump combined as separate events. To supply these 20 competitors we had 3 entries. Norway had 22, each man a specialist picked and trained for a single event,

In the military patrol race, scheduled as a demonstration, not as a part of the Olympic competition proper, we were, of course, not represented. This is a cross-country ski race of 25 to 30 kilometers for squads of 4 men in full military equipment, who are allowed to help each other, time being taken only when the last man of the squad crosses the finish line. Nine teams were entered.

For the 50 kilometer race none of our men entered. This was an entirely wise and sportsmanlike decision as with their brief training period they had not the slightest chance of placing and the attempt could have served only to reduce greatly their effectiveness in the remaining events. One of the surprises of the whole meet was the decisive victory of Sweden over Norway in this event, due chiefly to better judgment in waxing for the thawing conditions which prevailed throughout the greater part of the race.

In the 18 kilometer race our 3 men finished last of the 44 who qualified out of a field of 80. Haugen finished quite fresh with little effort. Proctor did his best though realizing that he had no chance to place in such a picked field. A fall paralyzed his elbow so that he had to throw away one pole but he finished gamely within the time limit. Monsen had sprained his knee badly in a practice jump on almost the first day of his arrival at St. Moritz, a week before the Games and nearly two weeks before the jump. He had been going daily to the best specialist in the region, at Celerina, doing his utmost to get in condition for the jump, although deprived of practically all his training on the grounds. In such a condition he had, of course, no chance in the 18 kilometer race, but felt, aside from the sportsmanship of entering to do his best that to qualify and jump in the morning competition of the combined event might help him for the principal competition in the afternoon. He therefore went through the 18 kilometer race gamely although he had to side step down the more dangerous slopes to save his knee and finished last of those to qualify; in fact the judges had left the finish line when he arrived and I was able to qualify him only because the last checking post had checked him and sent their list in to the judges by him.

The jump for the combined event took place Saturday morning, February 18, the independent jump Saturday afternoon. Both morning and afternoon competitions were delayed 20 to 30 minutes by arguments between the jumpers and the judges, the Norwegian jumpers particularly refusing to start from the top, fearing lest their best jumpers might overjump the hill. As a compromise, both morning jumps and the first afternoon jump were started from a rope 6 meters down the runway, and the second afternoon jump about 3 meters down the runway. It is only fair to the Norwegians to say that their contention was largely justified by the outcome. The Olympic jump at St. Moritz is a modern carefully engineered hill specially built at large expense for the Olympics, with a landing slope of 37 degrees 30 minutes which changes at about 71 meters to an outrun curve of 80 meters radius. Such a hill, of course, would be excellent for jumps of 60 meters and practicable for jumps of 65 meters but dangerous for more. In the actual competitions only 18 jumps out of about 160 exceeded 60 meters, and only one exceeded 66 meters, but when Jacob Tullin Thams, the Norwegian who won the 1924 Olympic jump at Ghafnorix, made his final jump he reached 73 meters and received a terrific fall impossible to escape, which might easily have been fatal. It is interesting to note that with the pushing of the internationally accepted world's record above 70 meters (on the Bernina jump at Pontresina the youthful Swiss jumper, Bruno Trojani, jumped 71 meters on Jan. 1, and later 72 meters or 236 feet, on Jan. 15) there is growing in the F. I. S. (International Ski Federation) a definite movement to restrict championship jumps to a range around 50 meters, for the best interests of the sport.

The morning jump in the combined event meant nothing of course except practise to our American team, in view of their low position in the 18 kilometer race. Their jumps were all about 50 meters, as compared with an average for the 6 winners of about 55 meters.

In the main jump in the afternoon Monsen, Proctor, and Haugen placed 6, 14, and 18 respectively out of 49 entries, and 40 contestants actually jumping. Haugen although twice holder of the world's record and maker of the longest jump at Chamonix in 1924 was out jumped both by Proctor and Monsen. Proctor jumped very creditably both as to form and distance, finishing in the first third of a picked field. Monsen's efforts were superb. The thaws earlier in the week had made the outrun at the bottom hard and slippery and difficult to stop on, in spite of the best efforts of the authorities. Monsen made one beautiful jump in the morning but in order to stop without wrenching his knee chose to take a straight fall at the end of the horseshoe, which knocked him cold for a minute, but saved his knee from further injury. In the afternoon in spite of his crippled condition he made two beautiful jumps which placed him on the table of honor as number 6, the only point won by our ski team this year. He did this although his knee was so bad that he had to hobble uphill sidewise to reach the start. An Englishman whom I had seen several times during the Games remarked in my hearing that he considered Monsen's superb jumping when he had to limp uphill sidewise to reach the start the gamest exhibition in the whole meet. Certainly his sportsmanship throughout the whole period was beyond praise.

The most striking feature of European ski hills as contrasted with the American is the increasing tendency to build the best hills with little or no tangent immediately preceding the take-off. The Olympic jump at Chamonix, and the world's record Bernina jump at Pontresina, have no such tangents, and the latest improvements to the Olympic jump at St. Moritz shortened the preceding tangent considerably. Speaking as an engineer rather than as a jumper I regard the design with no tangent as superior to the prevailing American practice for the tangent represents an unquestioned loss of speed, and a uniform curve of a large radius (80 meters to 100 meters) from the upper hill to the take-off is equally as good as a tangent in avoiding the slightest disturbance to the jumper's poise. Our jumpers all expressed themselves as well pleased with the ease of the Olympic hill, and Proctor jumping in a post-Olympic event on the Bernina hill reported that while he failed to find the take-off in his first jumps, in his last jump of 59 meters he found the hill entirely easy and satisfactory.

It was interesting to note that in nearly every community which I visited they had recently lengthened or were planning to lengthen their local hill from 35, 40, or 45 meters to 5 or 10 meters longer, by moving the take-off up and back and lengthening the upper hill, at the same time that the international authorities are becoming increasingly insistent on limiting the length of championship jumps.

In cross-country skiing the most striking contrast is, of course, that due to the ready accessibility and consequent emphasis on the high open slopes of the Alps, as compared with the eastern United States, winter sports conditions are regarded more as a matter of altitude and less of latitude. Downhill races are still relatively infrequent, but the British skiers under the leadership of Arnold Lunn are seeking to establish them as an integral part of the ski championship program. The consensus of opinion among skiers of several nationalities seemed to be that our cross-country skiing conditions resembled much more nearly those of the Scandinavian countries, particularly Sweden. Much emphasis is laid on the importance of correct waxing in which the Norwegians are generally regarded as past masters, although the Swedish victory in the 50 kilometer race was due directly to their better judgment in waxing for the event.

All in all, the second Olympic winter games at St. Moritz in 1928 represent a notable contribution to international good-sportsmanship. There were inevitably, various minor untoward incidents to be regretted, but these trivialities so often overemphasized by the cynical or prejudiced observer, were far outweighed by the major constructive contribution to international goodfellowship and winter sports.

Looking forward to the 1932 Olympic winter games and summarizing my study of the whole situation, I may say that with respect to those indispensable features which money cannot buy, such as climate and terrain, and with respect to those equally important features which are the product of time and money and long experience, such as skating rinks, cross-country ski courses, and ski jumps, we need offer no apologies to the best European resorts, except in the one field of coasting runs, and in that field there is ample opportunity to construct a bob sled run fully equalling the best European standards. There is at least one ski hill in the eastern United States which is as perfect for jumps of from 40 to 60 meters as any that present engineering and skiing knowledge have yet produced anywhere in the world. If the established precedent brings the Olympic winter games to the United States in 1932, they can be held here in a manner fully equalling or surpassing the high standards which have been set abroad.

REPORT OF MANAGER, BOBSLEIGH & SKELETON TEAMS
JAY O'BRIEN

It is with great pleasure that I forward my complete report of the activities of the Bobsleigh and Skeleton Teams which participated in the Second Winter Olympic Games held in St. Moritz on February 11th, 1928.

The two events which were put in my hands to organize, I am happy to say, scored a complete success as my teams with two entries in each event finished first and second in both.

The men whom I selected were fine types of pure amateur sportsmen brought together by me throughout Europe.

They also gave to the training, etc., for these games their full and undivided support, I cannot speak too highly of them and even the results achieved do not tell the full story of their sincere efforts.

I think it is only justified that I call attention to the fact that the training and participation of these teams did not cost the Olympic Committee one penny in the way of expenses.

REPORT OF ACTING CHAIRMAN OF FINANCE COMMITTEE, MURRAY HULBERT

Owing to the protracted illness of the late Major Prout, the Committee were necessarily delayed in organizing the campaign for the solicitation of funds and there were many who felt that this delay would imperil its success.

The provisions of our Constitution makes the Treasurer the Chairman of our Finance Committee and requires each organization member to nominate its representative thereof.

The Preliminary Committee consisting of yourself, Dr. Manning and the writer, after a survey of the situation, recommended that $400,000.00 be set as the goal and that each city having a population in excess of $25,000.00 be assigned a quota equal to one cent for each person of population, in order to raise this amount.

An effort was made to induce the Mayors of each of these 275 cities to act as the Chairman or to designate a prominent public spirited citizen to do so but within the limited time available, it did not prove to be practicable to organize effectively along these lines. Consequently the Preliminary Committee suggested the appointment of a Chairman to organize a committee in the centers of population. Mr. William F. Humphrey, First Vice-President of the American Olympic Committee took charge in San Francisco. Mr. Robert S. Weaver, Second Vice-President, did likewise in Los Angeles. Federal Judge Rufus E. Foster, Fourth Vice President, performed a similar service in New Orleans and George W. Wightman, Third Vice President, accepted the Chairmanship for all of New England.

When the nominations from each organization member had been received, Mr. Raskob was in Europe and you requested me to act as the Chairman of the Finance Committee.

For the first time in the history of the American Olympic Committee a separate committee was appointed to solicit the co-operation of the colleges, and Mr. Gustavus T. Kirby, former President of the American Olympic Committee accepted the Chairmanship. Judge Frank Smith was appointed Chairman for Philadelphia. Edward J. Kelly, President of the South Park Board, was appointed Chairman for Chicago; Charles H. Brennan for Detroit; J. Rodgers Flannery for Pittsburgh; Major General Anton Stephan for Washington, D. C.; Harold D. Jacobs for Baltimore; C. W. Streit for Birmingham; Al Doonan for Atlanta; Reginald H. Parsons for Seattle, Washington; C. N. Churchill for Memphis; Judge Fred L. Hoffman for Cincinnati; M. F. Hilfinger for Syracuse; Joe Utay for Dallas, Texas; and T. K. Seiberling for Akron, Ohio.

Mayor James J. Walker appointed a committee in New York City with Grover A. Whalen as Chairman and Joseph A. Reilly, President of the Metropolitan Association of the

REPORT OF THE AUDITOR OF THE AMERICAN OLYMPIC ASSOCIATION TO THE EXECU- TIVE COMMITTEE OF THE AMERICAN OLYMPIC COMMITTEE

Before going into the terms of the various accounts and financial committees, I respectfully make the following observations and suggestions for whatever use they may be to future Olympic Committees:

There has been much talk of a permanent fund from which might be derived the expenses of American athletes to every Olympic competition in the future. In my opinion, this policy has certain fallacies at the base thereof. It is true that it has certain advantages, such as relieving future Olympic Committees and Sub-Committees from the severe strain of raising these funds, but there would be such a lack of popular appeal and spontaneous fervor. If such a permanent fund were established that the Olympic Games themselves, in my opinion, would fail to arouse the same enthusiasm as heretofore. It must be borne in mind that at a time of this kind, there is a certain spontaneous enthusiasm which is ever present when funds are urgently needed and a patriotic appeal is made. Another most important result would be the great lack of free publicity and advertising by reason of the non-necessity of getting funds together. Even the smallest contributor is interested when he sees and hears these appeals made to his spirit of sportmanship and patriotism when the funds are needed.

It might be pointed out that sufficient funds have always heretofore been raised to cover the needs of the teams so much so that there was a balance remaining over and above the expenses of the 1920 expedition and over and above the 1924 expedition, $25,447.29 and over and above the 1928 expedition, $79,693.54 including accounts receivable of $4,796.99, very few of which are deemed uncollectible.

With this in mind it has become, in my opinion, a very important thing, and I hereby lay stress upon the necessity of the final report distributed by the American Olympic Association or Committee, as the case may be, containing an exact list of the individual contributions, be they from an individual as such, a partnership, a corporation or an association, with the amount contributed set forth alongside the name of the contributor. This has sometimes been done in the past and should be done in future reports for two reasons. First: It gives a better opportunity for outsiders to check up the amounts of money which are received by the Olympic Association for a specific purpose whether these outsiders have contributed or not, for the reason that they are all interested as citizens of the United States. There is no doubt but that many persons wonder how this money is raised, how much is raised and whether all the money that is raised goes into the treasury. They are not so much interested in what is done with it after it reaches the treasury because once it is there it cannot, or should not get out without a complete record of what it is used for. I think the more publicity the finances are given the better, as the public has become more or less suspicious of all money raising operations in the United States owing to the enormous quantity of organizations that raise money at the present time. Second: It gives due credit to the person who pays for the expenses of those taking part in the expedition in the Olympic Games. The most important part of an Olympic program is the raising of funds. It is easy to get a team together and to have officials to do the work if the funds are available, and too much stress cannot be placed upon the acknowledgment to the individual donors of the payments received from them, and less upon the various personal and unnecessary advertising at the public's expense of a lot of officials.

With reference to the Financial Report of the Intercollegiate Finance Committee of the American Olympic Committee, I have to say that I have examined the report as presented, consisting of "Part One-Report"—and "Part Two—Financial Summary together with Appendixes from A to G inclusive and from 1 to 4 inclusive Subsequent Thereto," and find the same to be correct according to the figures attached, and have, therefore, attested to the correctness of the same by signing the Report as Auditor of the American Olympic Association.

The Report was splendidly prepared with sub-reports, copies of letters and other data which makes it a valuable record.

I find by the Report that the total amount actually collected by the Intercollegiate Finance Committee was the sum of $28,909.16, this amount having been turned into its treasury, but the total amount reflected as received by or through the influence of the Intercollegiate Finance Committee amounts to $33,843.61, the difference being represented by amounts received by other organizations and turned over directly to the treasurer of the American Olympic Association, which amounts were credited directly to the districts from which the amounts were received by the treasurer.

The amount turned into the treasury of the American Olympic Committee up to the time of my auditing the report was the sum of $25,390.22. The percentages, therefore, paid into the treasury from the amount actually collected and received in the treasury of the Intercollegiate Finance Committee is 87.68% of the total actual receipts.

The disbursements, as shown by the report, amount to the sum of $6,264.03, but owing to the contribution of $1,745.09 by Mr. Gustavus T. Kirby and $1,000 by Mr. A. C. Gilbert, making a total of $2,745.09, this disbursed amount was reduced to a net expense to the Intercollegiate Finance Committee of $3,518.94, representing 12.32% of the actual amount received. These special contributions just referred to are set forth under Columbia University and Yale University under Appendix E, marked by an asterisk, and have not been included in the total of such contributions as having been received by the Intercollegiate Finance Committee.

There was raised by contributions for the 1928 Olympic expedition, the sum of $371,597.05 and there was an additional amount from the sale of transportation of $44,099.94, making a total of $415,696.99. The funds were raised in various parts of the country, from individuals, organizations and institutions; some of them reflect a tremendous amount of credit in the raising of funds and others more or less of a disappointment, and while the report which is printed in full below, speaks for itself, it might only be fair to point out some of the fine work done by many of the associations and institutions in their work of raising funds.

San Francisco is entitled to credit for its enviable showing as reflected in the report of Mr. William F. Humphrey, Chairman of that committee in sending to the Olympic Committee $31,721.50 without any expense whatsoever to the Committee. This was unique with reference to the big cities as being the only big city to turn in a fund without any expense charged against it.

The report of the New England Division through its Chairman, Mr. George W. Wightman, was very gratifying. They used various methods for collecting their funds, such as accepting contributions along the marathon race, holding golf and boxing exhibitions, printing and distributing program, which alone netted the sum of $10,000.00 and most important of all, held the Olympic Tryouts in Boston at a total expense of only $4,677.80 whereas they turned over to the American Olympic Committee the splendid sum of $45,509.10, for which they have been given full credit. The New England Division is also entitled to an additional $5,000.00 by reason of funds turned over to the Intercollegiate Finance Committee by colleges and college men. This makes a total for New England in excess of its quota of $50,000.00.

Exceptional credit is also due to the State of Illinois, which raised through its Chairman, Mr. Edward J. Kelly, the fine sum of $41,300.02, the net amount after deducting the very small and reasonable amount of expenses in the sum of $1,523.15.

Credit for the largest individual amount received from any organization, individual or corporation, is due to the Metropolitan Association of the Amateur Athletic Union of the United States, through its President, Mr. Joseph A. Reilly. In various ways and by holding various meets, it has contributed to the American Olympic Committee the net sum of $55,784.22, having expended the sum of $4,254.72 in order to obtain this net sum. Thus there has been a splendid target for future local fund raising districts to shoot at.

It was also very pleasing to realize how well his Honor James J. Walker, Mayor; Commissioner Grover Whalen and the committee appointed by the Mayor, took hold of the raising of funds for the district of Manhattan. So well and efficiently did he work with his committee that the sum of $23,308.63 was turned in to the American Olympic Committee at a cost for this sum of only $2,105.53.

Philadelphia, through its Chairman, Honorable Frank Smith, sprang a surprise, turning into the American Olympic Committee far more than was expected, in delivering the Committee the sum of $18,053.95 at an expense for raising] this net fund of $2,487.40.

From past experience, about one-half the sum that was received from Michigan, was expected. This State, through its able and efficient Chairman, Charles H. Brennan, turned in the enviable amount of $18,022.00, which was almost one-third more than the amount received in 1924. This money was practically all realized from the Olympic Tryouts held in that section under the chairmanship of Mr. Brennan.

Credit should be given to the Olympic Lacrosse Committee for its efforts in holding successful Lacrosse Tryouts in the cities of Washington and Baltimore with the result that the sum of $18,937.37 was turned in to the American Olympic Committee as a contribution to the fund.

Great credit should be given to Al. Doonan of the Atlanta Athletic Club for his efforts in successfully arranging to have Bobby Jones and Watts Gunn play in exhibitions in various parts of the South as a result of which, the American Olympic Committee received the total of $7,776.18.

Probably to John J. Flaherty belongs the credit of turning in the result of the most popular subscriptions of all. In the State of New Jersey, through his efforts, there was raised the sum of $8,420.85 and this came from practically every town in the State of New Jersey, the people in the various localities contributing anything from a dollar upwards.

To little Maryland, through the efforts of Harold Jacobs, its chairman, the very fair return to the American Olympic Committee of $5,488.03 was made.

It is gratifying to note that some of the Middle States who have not yet heretofore been interested in the Olympic movement, came forward with substantial amounts; for example, Missouri raised $943.05 and Nebraska and Iowa combined, the sum of $2,084.48.

Among the localities sending in smaller amounts, might be mentioned the State of Florida which turned in the sum of $1,022.00 through its Chairman, Colonel Robert M. Thompson; the City of Seattle, Washington, which turned in $2,796 with special mention of the name of Mr. Reginald H. Parsons, who himself contributed of this amount, $2,000.00; the City of Pittsburgh, Pa., which turned in the amount of $4,080.00, to which the Chairman, Mr. J. Rodgers Flannery, made a very generous contribution; New Orleans, Louisiana through Judge Rufus E. Foster and L. di Benedetto, raised the sum of $2,210.00.

California seems to be a lucrative district for the raising of funds, except that the expenses of raising these funds seem to have been inordinately high; for example, to Los Angeles goes the credit for raising the largest gross amount of any district, organization or otherwise, having raised the sum of $77,884.39 but when there has been from this sum deducted the amount of $48,583.39 for expenses, only leaving the net amount of $29,301.00, which was received by the Committee, the result is an extreme disappointment.

REPORT OF THE INTERCOLLEGIATE FINANCE COMMITTEE

The Intercollegiate Finance Committee was formed in November, 1927, by vote of the American Olympic Committee for the purpose of raising funds from and solidifying interest in the Olympic movement at the colleges and universities of the country. The open break of certain college groups with the administrative forces controlling American participation in the Olympic Games gave rise to the necessity of enlisting college men who would be able to convince their college friends of the real value of the Olympic games. To the end that this might be accomplished a committee was formed under the active leadership of Stanley deJ. Osborne, recently graduated from Harvard, and with the writer as chairman. This Committee consisted of graduates of various large universities who were interested in the movement and also of five undergraduates, G. Norman Scott of Cornell; Willard J. Slagle of M. I. T.; John J. Tucker of Princeton; Richard L. Kennedy of Princeton, and Lee O. Combs of Southern California, who gave full or part of their time to this effort.

The work was carried out by various methods. First and foremost by personal interviews with the heads of the larger institutions. To this end a member of the Intercollegiate Finance Committee interviewed representatives of every large college in the East, West and Middle West. It is fair to say that every large college of any importance was approached personally by some member of the Committee. The general disaffection with the administration of American participation in the Olympic Games was halted in part and at least until the end of the games, and almost every large college contributed something.

Secondly, printed or personal letters were sent by the chairman and vice-chairman to more than 100 women's colleges and preparatory schools, and over 600 to colleges not interviewed. Also, appeals were sent out to about 65,000 graduates of our leading universities from the graduate lists, from the graduate club lists and from the various lists on the files of the Intercollegiate Association in New York.

Thirdly, a small bulletin, the "Intercollegiate Olympic Journal," was published to the end of acquainting a large number of people with the work being done in the colleges and the final issue of which contains this article.

Fourthly, the vice-chairman, Mr. Osborne, traveled to several parts of the country for the purpose of speaking at meetings of various college conferences and in large measure succeeded in bringing many of these back into line despite their previous open break with the Olympic Association.

Without expense to the committee, several of its members were, sent to Amsterdam and there worked in various capacities, especially in the carrying out of office and other detailed work which seemed necessary to the Committee.

As for results, the accompanying financial statement will show that over $34,000 was raised, with a net return of over $29,000 to the American Olympic Committee. The expenses seem large for the net return, especially when it is considered that all services were donated and disbursements for general office space and similar purposes specifically contributed, and also that the cost of the Olympic Journal was a special contribution of the I.C.A.A. A.A.; but by word of explanation it may be stated that in this work where many personal interviews were necessary a member of the Committee well acquainted with all angles of the Olympic movement had to be on hand, and this necessitated many miles of travel. By suggestion of General MacArthur, it was not so much the amount of money to be turned in but the moral support of the colleges which was of primary importance, and to this end attempts were made to have every college in the land know and understand the Olympic idea and to squelch the suspicion in the Middle West and elsewhere of underhanded politics in the Olympic management. As an aid to accomplish this, over seventy thousand letters and circulars were distributed, and such methods are necessarily costly. A going concern should operate at far less cost than one built over-night, and if the campaign is to be repeated in 1932 and voluntary service can be again secured, the disbursements will be materially lessened.

Gustavus T. Kirby, Chairman.

November, 1928.

REPORT OF A. JOCELYN H. MAGRATH

Acting Treasurer at Amsterdam, Holland

Owing to the impossibility of your Treasurer, Mr. John J. Raskob, being able to be in Amsterdam, I was appointed by General MacArthur to act as Acting Treasurer during the journey of the team from New York to Amsterdam and return. I received from the Treasurer a sum slightly in excess of $50,000.00, of which the receipts and disbursements are most specifically set forth below. I think it only fair to say at this time, that had it not been for the loyal and whole-hearted backing of General MacArthur and the splendid assistance given me by Mr. Frederick W. Rubien and Mr. James Simms and at times the purser on the ship, it would have been absolutely impossible for me to have handled the situation.

While the same conditions will not obtain for the Olympic Games of 1932 by reason of the fact that they will be held in the United States, I would sincerely urge upon any future Olympic Committee, where the Games are to be held abroad, to have a fully paid assistant to the person who acts as Treasurer, who should give his entire time to assist the Treasurer in the carrying out of the very arduous duties that are absolutely necessary. It so happened that the accounts had to be carried on as in this instance, often in five different kinds of money; dollars, guilders, pounds and French and Belgian francs, and this condition might easily obtain again, no matter where the Games are held, so long as the country is a foreign one.

Another plan that all future Olympic Committees, including that of 1932 should take in hand, is the payment of athletes' expenses to and from their homes, so that if possible one responsible department should take care of these expenses, and some uniform method of athletes' expenses be adopted. In the present instance, many athletes coming from far distant points, were paid varying sums of money, although the points were the same. A college or an athletic club would pay in many instances sums far in excess of the amount allowed by the American Olympic Committee, and this does not seem altogether fair and created a great deal of ill feeling. Furthermore, in many instances, these institutions paid the athletes their return expenses, and when the matter was brought to the attention of the Olympic Committee and it was pointed out that the requested reimbursements exceeded the limit allowed by the American Olympic Committee, there was further ill feeling. The following is the report of the amounts received and disbursed by me as Acting Treasurer:

Respectfully yours,

A. Jocelyn H. Magrath.
